Black Lung Payments To Increase In November

Black Lung payments to coal miners and their families will increase beginning with checks mailed in early November, according to James E. Robertson, Social Security Manager in Cumberland.

Black Lung benefits are pegged to the pay of Federal Government employees, who received a 1.77 percent raise in October.

The monthly payment in November to a coal miner disabled by black lung, or to his survivor, will be $177.60—up from $169.80, Robertson said. The maximum black lung benefit payable when there are three or more dependents will be $355.20 a month, increased from $339.50. A miner or survivor with one dependent will get $266.40 a month beginning November—with two dependents, $310.80 monthly.

Payment of most black lung benefits under the Federal Coal Mine Health and Safety Act, is administered by the Social Security Administration. The U. S. Department of Labor, however, began on July 1 to administer new claims filed by miners.

Reasons Given For Creamery Closing

Some of the reasons for difficulties which led Country Belle Creamery to close were contained in a letter to the editor this week. As a result of the closing nineteen employes were left jobless.

The letter was signed by the employes who had length of service from 26 years down to two months. The letter asks, "Has Country Belle been given a fair deal?"

Country Belle had paid taxes for at least thirty years. Here are the facts as revealed by the letter:

"At a meeting in August the employes were informed by the Mayor of Grantsville that legal fees and engineering fees for a sewage survey had cost the town $11,000. The money was spent not knowing if Country Belle would commit itself to paying $9,000 for 30 years for their share of a new sewage system. The town would not assure Country Belle that this system would work. This would have cost Country Belle $270,000.

The Creamery was using around one and one-half million gallons of water monthly. It paid Grantsville around $720 a month for water and sewage. This payment plus $2,043.09 in taxes amounts to over $10,000 yearly. Country Belle has paid the county over $5,000 in taxes yearly. The employes are wondering where the town and the county are going to make up this amount.

On July 3 Grantsville received a letter from the Environmental Health administration saying the sewage plant had overloaded. The town was told it must adopt measures to correct this condition immediately. The town was to eliminate all industrial waste commercial wastes other than domestic sewage from the sewage system and the treatment plant. The employes asked if other commercial and industrial establishments in Grantsville had removed their waste from the system.

Country Belle was notified that it would be fined $50 per day as of October 1 for every day they put industrial and commercial waste into the system. Employes again asked if other establishments had been fined or notified and if they weren't why was Country Belle treated in this way.

The plant closed October 19. Editorial comment was included in last Thursday's edition.

Health Planning Unit Rates Top

An evaluation team from the Maryland Comprehensive Health Planning Agency (CHP) has completed its evaluation of the Health Planning Council of Appalachia Maryland, Inc. (HPC), here and found the Western Maryland Agency has one of the top programs in the state.

The HPC, which covers Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties, will, upon acceptance of the evaluation team's report, continue to be eligible for state funding.

Dr. Edward Phoebus, CHP representative, who accompanied the evaluation team to Cumberland, said the inspection has shown the HPC to be well-managed, productive and able to have a helpful impact on the area for which they are planning.

In addition to continuing to be eligible for state funding, the HPC will also continue to receive technical assistance as a state agency.

In the area of conforming with the state's Certification of Conformance Program, the local agency was rated among the best in the state. This is a program which assesses the needs and priorities of each community and helps to assure that services will not be duplicated and that a full range of health care programs are available for the community.

Somerset Electric Coop. Lists Power Adjustment Clause

Earl Miller, manager, Somerset Rural Electric Cooperative, Inc., Somerset, Pa., announced that his Board of Directors has approved the addition of a Purchased Power Adjustment Clause to Somerset's current electric tariff. This adjustment will affect all rate schedules in the tariff except for yard light service where the energy is not metered.

Miller said that this adjustment clause will be necessary to help the Cooperative meet the increasing cost of purchased power. In the face of an impending rise in purchased power costs, this clause will protect the present basic rate structure of the Cooperative.

The effective date of this clause is December 1, with the first charge or credit being applied to the consumer's account when the entire period of use is after the effective date and the average power cost is 5.7 percent above the average power cost for the last 12 months.

Civic Center Loan Will Be Sought

An agreement signed by the Commissioners with the Mt. Top Civic Center was among the transactions of the week for the Board of County Commissioners. The agreement was a statement of conditions by which a loan is being applied for by the Civic Center from the Farmers Home Administration, secured by the Commissioners.

The Civic center is planned to be constructed in the Broadford lake area near Mt. Lake Park.

The commissioners also discussed the proposed central communications system for the county with George Conn, civil defense director and W. W. Wright.

The commissioners decided to employ Mr. Wright to formulate a plan to include all agencies in a system to provide a more feasible and progressive service in regards to fire departments, ambulance services, hospital and the county roads department.

After bids were reviewed for the new garage for the Roads department at Accident a metal building was decided on and the bid was awarded to William A Shuer, contractor. There were other competitive bids.

The Commissioners talked with Chad Riley and Ed Heath of the Tri-County Council. The two related proposals for future meetings with the public to inform them as to the functions of the council.

Urges Moderation In Electricity Use

Moderation should be the key word in holiday lighting this year, according to a Monongahela Power Company official.

The fast approaching winter usually results in a heavier electrical load than any other time of the year. The traditional abundance of Christmas lighting and ornamentation is an additional contributing factor in this increased demand for electricity.

"While Monongahela Power expects to supply all the electricity our customers need," according to H. P. Lang, manager, Morgantown Division, he pointed out that it was "appropriate this year in view of the nation-wide campaign to conserve energy, that Monongahela customers exercise moderation in their lighted holiday decorations."

Lang pointed out a number of steps that not only residential and commercial customers, but also those groups in charge of decorative street lighting can take to conserve electricity during the holidays:

1. Don't over decorate—install fewer lighting displays.
2. Restrict the number of "burning" hours
3. Delay installation or "start-up" time of lighted displays
4. Install time clocks to control "burning" hours.
5. Reduce other lighting to compensate for the added holiday lighting.
6. Remove lighted displays promptly at the end of the holidays

"By following these few simple procedures" Lang said, "electric customers can conserve valuable energy and still enjoy a decorative holiday season."

Schools Plan For Fuel Oil Needs

The State Superintendent of Schools and the local school superintendents of the State last week expressed determination to cooperate fully with State and Federal regulations and policies dealing with the use of fuel. More specifically, the educators indicated that in the event of a fuel oil crisis the daytime instructional program would be the last affected activity.

Non-instructional activities, such as evening and weekend programs involving athletics, adult education classes, etc. would be the first activities rescheduled to daytime hours or otherwise curtailed.

Garrett County currently heats eight of its seventeen schools by fuel oil. The anticipated fuel oil needs for these schools this year is approximately 400,000 gallons. Since the county has no firm contracts with fuel oil dealers it was recently reported in the media that a shortage of approximately 400,000 gallons of fuel oil existed for Garrett County. At this point, it is difficult to estimate what the fuel shortage may be although the Board of Education monitors fuel supplies in the schools on a bi-weekly basis. Currently, all schools requiring fuel oil are at or near capacity.

Dr. William Buser Superintendent of Schools, has asked that all building principals begin considering the problems involved in accommodating non-instructional activities in the late afternoon directly after normal instructional programs have been completed. Though it is hoped that such action will not be necessary, only by considering these problems at this time will the schools of Garrett County be ready for any eventuality, he stated.

Speaker Change For Pig Roast Is Announced

Erle Cocke, Jr., Former National Commander, American Legion, Will Be Here

For the second time in three years, the scheduled speaker for the annual dinner of Proctor Kildow Post No. 71, American Legion, has had to be replaced.

This time James V. Day, member of the Federal Maritime Commission in Washington, who was scheduled to appear found his scheduling was in conflict. In his place will be Erle Cocke, Jr., elected as National Commander of the Legion in 1950 at Los Angeles, it was announced last Thursday evening by Lonnie Marsh, alternate national executive committeeman, and member of the local post.

Cocke, native of Georgia now devotes most of his time to being business management consultant, with principal offices in Washington.

Military service in World War II followed his graduation from the University of Georgia and was climaxed April 25, 1945 when he was "executed" with other escaped U. S. POWs by a firing squad by a retreating German army and his body stacked with others as the troops pulled out of the city of Ulm.

German civilians found he was alive, gave him emergency treatment and took him to newly arrived allied troops.

He earned the degree of M. B. A. from Harvard university graduate school of Business Administration in 1947. He became industrial agent of the Central of Georgia railway and assistant to the president, Delta Air lines. He resigned in 1961 to accept an appointment by President Kennedy as U. S. Alternate executive director of the World Bank. He also served important roles as consultant to Defense Secretaries George C. Marshall and Robert A. Lovett. He was a delegate to the 14th general assembly of the United Nations.

The 42nd annual pig roast will be held tomorrow, November 9 at the Legion home with three hundred or more expected to attend. Maurice Brookhart will be master of ceremonies. Preparing and serving the dinner will be women of the Legion auxiliary.

Two years ago the club secured Brig. Gen. Daniel James, Jr., U. S. Air Force and assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, but he discovered he had a prior commitment and the speaker ended up being Daniel H. Burkhardt Department adjutant and columnist for the Legion newspaper. Last year Fred Warder, retired Navy Admiral, submarine division was the speaker.

Countians Awake To Find Ground Snowcovered Mon.

Garrett countians awoke Monday morning to find the ground covered with that "white stuff," with four inches of it before it stopped later in the day. The temperature dipped into the mid-teens yesterday morning.

The first snowstorm of the season deposited four inches of snow early Monday. It began about 6 a. m. and continued as flurries through most of the day. There were more flurries Tuesday morning. Other than the snow clouds, skies during the past week have been mostly clear. More light snow flurries began to fall yesterday afternoon. County Roads Dept. Ready To Battle Winter Weather

No matter what old man winter has up his sleeve this season, the 170-man crew at the County Roads Department are going to be well prepared.

Some 30,000 additional feet of snow fence has been ordered, about the same amount as last year. The new fence is more to replace that stolen each year than to protect additional areas however.

The county's three snow blowers are strategically placed at Grantsville, Oakland, and Accident. Eight graders with V-plows, six front-end loaders and 33 trucks with tailgate spreaders complete the machinery picture.

The county still maintains four garages one at Oakland, Grantsville, Accident, and Sang Run. The department is in the process of building a new garage near Accident, in the vicinity of Northern High School. Bids on the new building will be let soon.

Some of the 15,000 tons of cinders used by the county are being hauled now, with supplies to be replenished during the fall and winter months. Some 400 tons of salt, about the same amount as last year have been ordered.

Exceptionally Good

According to Paul DeWitt, county roads administrative engineer, the 1973 summer season was an exceptionally good year, work-wise. Good weather permitted employes to rebuild portions of several roads.

Chief among these roads was the Oakland-Sang Run Road. Others were the Brethren Church Road; Piney Run Road, Beall School Road, where the rebuilding work is 90 percent completed; New Germany Road, where the grading is 90 percent done and the base is 50 percent done; Gemenell Avenue, Bloomington; Walnut Bottom Road; Pig's Ear Road, Bray School Road; Yacht Club Road, Leo Friend Road.

A good deal of major maintenance work on various roads in the county was also completed this summer, according to Mr. DeWitt.

Status Report Is Given On Freeway

The time schedule for placing in use additional sections of the National Freeway were outlined by John D. Bushby, district engineer for the State Highway administration.

At this time next year the Freeway section between Keyser Ridge and the West Virginia state line in Garrett county will be opened, he said.

In October of next year the opening of the Freeway to connect with West Virginia's portion of the Freeway will leave only 13 miles unfinished. That is the section just west of the Finzel road interchange to Keyser Ridge.

The section between Frostburg and Finzel road is expected to be opened sometime in the middle of next summer. Completion of the road from Cumberland to the West Virginia line will be realized in late fall of 1975. Cost for the completed sections from Vocke road to West Virginia line, totals more than $33 fillion. Total cost for the Freeway between Vocke road and the West Virginia line, including paving, grading drainage, bridges and property purchases, etc. will run in excess of $110 million.

Between Vocke road and West Virginia state line there are seven bridge projects and one underpass. The bridges actually number 11 as they will carry both east and west sections of the dual lane Freeway.

Huskies-Rams Tilt Scheduled At Accident Friday

Both Northern and Southern High schools will close their football seasons this Friday night at Accident when these two teams meet under the lights.

The season's results up to this point have no bearing on the outcome of the upcoming game. On the surface Southern Rams have the better record, with a 4-4 record as compared to 1-8 for the Huskies.

It was announced that the Northern-Southern football game, scheduled for Friday night at Accident, would be postponed until Saturday afternoon because of a short in Northern's lighting system at the football field.

Southern won victories over Parsons High, Terra Alta High, Bruce High and Lingapore high. The Huskies have won over Mountaineer high of Davis.

The Rams lost to Valley of Lonaconing, Beall of Frostburg, Bishop Walsh of Cumberland, and Kingwood high. The Huskies lost games to Shade High, Perlan, Valley, Meyersdale, Bruce, Bishop Walsh, Beall and Turkeyfoot.

Three Escapees Nabbed Monday Near Confluence

Trio Escapes Sunday After Overpowering Deputy; Stolen Car Demolished

Three young men who fled from Garrett County jail in Oakland Sunday were recaptured Monday morning in Somerset county, Pa. after they fled from a stolen car they abandoned near Confluence.

The three are Barry Ball 20, Oakland, AWOL from the U. S. Navy; Don Allen Warren, 17, Oakland, and Thomas Bowman also 17, Crellin. The latter two now have escaped from jail here three times, as well as from the Maryland Correctional Institution at Hagerstown and from Springfield State Hospital.

Bowman and Warren had been found guilty of larceny of two motor vehicles and firearms, breaking and entering, as well as escaping from jail and conspiracy just last Tuesday in Circuit Court here. They were being held pending outcome of a pre-sentence investigation by authorities.

The trio had knocked down and overpowered deputy James Riggs when he was locking the jail Sunday about 11 p. m. The three then allegedly fled from Oakland in a pick-up stolen from Harold Bittinger, Moote Vista Road. The truck had not been found by Tuesday, according to police.

After leaving the truck, they took a 1972 Nova from Freeport Addition, near Terra Alta. The car was driven onto a crossing near Confluence and had become wedged on the rails when the driver apparently tried to turn around.

The young men left the car, which was later demolished by a B and O Eastern Steel freight about 7:50 a. m. The train did not derail.

The three were arrested about 10 a. m. near a cabin a few miles from the scene of the railroad accident.

By that time, the boys were "too cold" to put up much resistance, and made no attempt to elude Pennsylvania police. None of the youths had a coat, and one had no shoes having run right out of his loafers while fleeing the jail. His shoes were found later in front of the Methodist Church.

The young men were resisting extradition, but it was pointed out that since the two were juveniles it was not necessary to follow the regular legal proceedings in case an individual would not waive extradition. They were scheduled to be brought back to Oakland from the Somerset county jail.

The three young men were brought back to the Garrett County jail Wednesday, and a trial was scheduled this morning at 10 a. m. in Circuit Court here on the escape charges.

Authorities here also apprehended Junior Savage, 20, of near Uniontown, who is wanted by military authorities for being AWOL.

Savage is being held at the county jail while awaiting military personnel.

Missing Plane Is Found; Two Dead

The wreckage of a missing twin-engine plane owned by the Nicholson Air Services firm in Cumberland was found by a hiker near the top of West Virginia's Spruce Knob mountain late Saturday afternoon. The pilot and passenger were dead.

It crashed about 300 yards from the top of the mountain, some 30 miles northwest of Franklin.

The pilot, J. T. Watson, 24, Keyser, and Jonathan R. Johnson, 17, route 4 Oldtown road, apparently were both killed instantly.

Missing since last Wednesday the plane had been on a return cargo trip from Flint, Mich. Search had been conducted over Garrett county.

Plant Fire Destroys Chlorinator Monday

The chlorinator building operated by Sterling Processing company for the discharge of water into the Little Youghiogheny river, was destroyed by fire about 10:45 Monday morning at its plant just west of Oakland. Loss was estimated at approximately $2,000.

Destroyed was the small plywood building, in the middle of the pool, the pump, motor, and the chlorinator. The fire caused no interruption to the production schedule at the plant itself.

Oakland firemen were called and they responded with two trucks and the tauker.

Oakland firemen were called for two grass fires also during the week. Sunday morning at 12:10 they responded to a call from G street in Mt. Lake Park, for a grass fire that was out on arrival.

On November 2 at 6:30 p. m., a grass fire also was reported from route 135, east of Mt. Lake Park but the firemen did not find any fire. A fire was spotted in the Bethlehem settlement but this fire was taken care of by the Forestry department.

Injuries Reported In Recent Wrecks

Three persons were slightly injured in recent accidents in the northern part of the county.

Ralph G. Frazee, 40, Friendsville, was slightly injured in a two-car mishap on U. S. Route 40 near Piney Run road October 23. Philip M. Jenkins, Frostburg, headed east on Route 40, said an unidentified vehicle in front of him attempted to pass a slow moving vehicle but had to get back into the right lane due to Ralph Frazee coming west. This caused Jenkins to apply his brakes, slide across the center of the road and collide with the Frazee car. Trooper Ronald C. Georg charged Jenkins with not giving a motor vehicle passing in the opposite direction sufficient space to pass.

Eight Flags Stolen During Autumn Glory

At a meeting of the Merchants' and Businessmen's association of the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce held on Tuesday, October 16, at Fireside, John Kurilla informed the group that eight flags had been stolen during Autumn Glory festival.

Ben Ridder suggested that during next year's festival each merchant may want to have some sort of craft demonstration in his window to attract attention of visitors to the downtown area similar to the practice at the Forest Festival in Elkins.

Mr. Kurilla also said the concert given by the Golden Hawks during the festival was well received with the group being pleased with response and courtesy shown. The Merchants' association provided breakfast for the boys and girls Saturday morning.

A bill has been signed giving Amtrak more money.

Man has a hunger for knowledge. It first shows itself in childhood and prompts incessant questions and exasperating experiments.

But it continues all through life. Recently, on discovering something you didn't know, you murmured to yourself, "Gotta look that up . . ."

Upon this basic hunger for knowledge, the Church's program of religious education is planned. That's why we urge parents to foster a Christian atmosphere in the home. It is also why the Church provides religious instruction long before secular education begins. And it accounts for continuing emphasis on youth and young adult activities in most congregations.

We adults haven't outgrown the hunger for knowledge. Most of us recognize that our scientific and material progress points up the crucial need for spiritual standards to believe in. God has vital truth to impart to men. The place to look it up is your church.

YOU CANNOT EVALUATE A MEDICINE BY ITS LOOKS

This is why so many doctors still prefer to prescribe products made by manufacturers whose reputation they are closely familiar with rather than those made by a company that has copied a formula after it has proven successful.

Like copies of anything, from medicines to famous art, some reproductions are very faithful to the original. But also like art, with medicines you often can't tell which is which just by looking. Your doctor insures you getting what he wants you to have by exactly specifying a product in which he has confidence.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Our competitors (the people who sell Ford, Chevy, and the rest) don't have a Club Cab. Ours is the only one around to give you 34 extra cubic feet of storage space, inside the cab, behind the front seat. It keeps valuables out of the weather, under lock and key. Horsemen's Annual Banquet Held At McHenry Saturday

Members and guests of the Garrett County Horsemen's Association met Saturday evening at McHenry fire hall for the annual banquet.

Approximately 115 were present for the ham and turkey supper. John C. Beachy, president, welcomed the group and introduced James McHenry, guest speaker, who presented some little-known facts about the horse racing industry.

Some $163,000,000 is spent on Maryland race tracks each year, $11,030,000 of which is paid in Maryland taxes. This is enough to pay 91 percent of school busing in the state.

Mr. McHenry also noted that a percentage of the state's take from racing goes to the Maryland State Fair Board, which supports 21 fairs and shows in Maryland. Locally, the fair and the Black and White show, receive funds from the state. During the last 17 years, Mr. McHenry estimated that the state fair board had paid nearly $60,000 from racing taxes into premiums at the Garrett County Fair.

Mr. McHenry also urged that those opposed to human consumption of horsemeat write their Senators or congressmen.

Entertainment was provided by the Stoner Family, Route 1, Gormania. Raymond Yoder, club vice president, gave the invocation and spoke briefly. Mrs. Ralph Miller, secretary, presented door prizes.

Vows Exchanged September 23

Wedding vows were exchanged September 23rd by Miss Rebecca Ann Schlosnagle and Frank James Vitez.

Rev. William E. Carlson performed the double ring ceremony in the Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, Friendsville. Traditional wedding music was provided by Mrs. Lucile Sines, organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Schlosnagle, Friendsville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Vitez, near Friendsville.

Escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white cotton re-embroidered lace and angelskin. The bodice of lace featured a scoop neckline and shepherdess sleeves. The bell skirt fell to a deep ruffle at the bottom and was enhanced with scattered floral appliques. A floor-length double mantilla of bridal illusion was affixed to a headband trimmed with lace to match the gown bodice. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses, white daisy pompons, stephanotis and baby's breath with white streamers.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Sandra McGraw, Lanham. Bridesmaids were Miss Linda King, Mt. Lake Park, and Miss Paula Spear, Friendsville, cousin of the bride. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Pamela Metheny, Friendsville, niece of the bride. Flower girl was Miss Dianna Vitez, Accident, cousin of the groom. They wore gowns of sheer chiffon over taffeta in colors of peppermint, shrimp, aqua, and yellow. The gowns featured an empire waistline of velvet ribbon with a bow in the back. The bodice was designed with cotton re-embroidered lace trim around and from the high neckline and shoulders to a V at waistline. The sleeves of sheer chiffon were full with wide tight cuffs trimmed with lace. The skirts were slightly flared. They wore wide brimmed hats in colors matching their gowns. Each carried nosegays of bronze yellow and white daisy pompons and baby's breath with white streamers. The flower girl wore a gown similar to that of the attendants, fashioned by the groom's mother. She carried a basket of yellow roses petals.

Serving as best man was Gary Guard, Friendsville. Ushers were Lloyd Oester, Accident, Harry Chipman, Jr., Hyattsville, cousin of the groom, and David Vitez, Friendsville, brother of the groom. Ring bearer was Gregory McGraw, Lanham, nephew of the bride.

Mother of the bride wore a mint green polyester long sleeve gown with brown accessories and a yellow and white daisy pompon corsage. Mother of the groom wore a shrimp polyester long sleeve gown with brown accessories and a bronze and white daisy pompon corsage.

A reception followed at the Friendsville Fire Hall. Mrs. Eleanor Fearer, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Marie Eberth, and Mrs. Louise Biastro of Youngstown, Ohio, catered the reception. Mrs. Dorothy Spear, Mrs. Bessie Rush, Mrs. Bernadine Friend, and Mrs. Sandra Guard assisted with the reception. Mrs. Alice Sines, sister of the groom, registered guests.

For travel to Washington, D. C., Mrs. Vitez chose a two piece multicolored double knit dress with matching accessories and corsage lifted from her bouquet.

The couple resides at Route 1, Addison, Pa.

Governor Proposes Emergency Steps

Gov. Marvin Mandel proposed legislation giving the Maryland chief executive broad emergency powers to handle an energy crisis.

The bill, being sent to members of the General Assembly for their reaction would give the governor the same authority to deal with an acute fuel shortage that he now has for civil disorders and natural disasters.

Mandel will ask the legislator to approve the legislation at a special session Friday. The session was originally scheduled for election of a successor to former Speaker of the House, Thomas H. Lowe.

The measure would allow the governor to exercise emergency powers "where the health, safety or welfare of the citizens of the state are or may become threatened by reason of an actual or impending acute shortage in the usable energy resources of the state."

It would authorize Mandel to set standards, priorities and quotas for allocation of fuel in an emergency and would allow him to suspend air quality control provisions regulating the kinds of fuel which can be burned and would give him power to set hours and days during which public buildings and commercial establishments could remain open.

Trash Disposal . . .

The indifference of persons as to where they dispose of trash or garbage is endangering a spot where hundreds of citizens go for pure water. Up the Rock Lodge road, near the former Bloch property there is an outlet from a mountain spring, along the roadside where there is always a plentiful flow of water. Many feel the source provides as pure and as good tasting water as that found coming from the Deer Park boiling spring.

In recent months some very thoughtless citizens have been scattering their trash in the area. The spot near where the pipe overflows is full of litter, and it's a rotten shame. If such a practice continues it is sure to pollute the water.

It is thoroughly unnecessary and those who do it most certainly should be reprimanded and punished. There is always the difficulty of catching these persons in the act of dumping the trash. A jail sentence probably would do no good. But there could be an effective way. Persons caught could be sentenced to gathering up the trash and forced to police a stretch of highway that would keep them busy for a long time.

Litter bags help to educate people but apparently that custom is not enough. A little thinking about neatness and responsibility of citizenship might help. A command "Don't do that," apparently would have little effect. Maybe a person can appeal to their pride — if they have any.

Or perhaps just a plain appeal to keep the area clean and the water pure could do the trick. Consider the appeal made. The cure is up to individuals who have been so thoughtless.

Hunters Await Deer Season

Hunters were preparing this week for the annual deer hunting season for Saturday, November 24. The season is set to continue until Saturday, December 1, skipping Sunday, November 25.

During the season it will be lawful to kill a male deer with two or more points to one antler, or male deer with one antler three or more inches long.

The small game season will continue as usual during the buck season. The limit is one buck per hunter and those being successful are to report the kill within 24 hours.

There are five deer checking stations. They include Johnny's Bait House on Deep Creek Lake; Paul's Mt. Top Tire Oakland; Walt's General store, McHenry; Hetz American station Grantsville, and Savage River Inn, Bloomington.

There is no antlerless season this year in Garrett county. The bow and arrow season will conclude temporarily the evening of November 23, and will resume again on Monday, December 3, continuing to the evening of January 1.

Fall turkey season will end today, November 15, after having opened November 1.

It is unlawful to hunt at any time while under the influence of alcohol or narcotics. It is also unlawful to hunt deer with shot or buckshot or with full metal jacketed, incendiary or tracer bullets, or with fully automatic firearms.

Divers Recover Body In Reservoir

The body of a 65-year old man was recovered last Friday afternoon from the water of Youghiogheny Dam where he had gone fishing the day previous.

He was Vernon B. Cost whose body was recovered at 1:15 p.m. Authorities said the man's body was located by scuba divers in about 15 feet of water some 25 feet west of the east bank.

A stepson Charles B. Krumm of LaVale, began search when he failed to return home and after some difficulty found Mr. Cost's boat on the west bank of the reservoir about one-half mile south of the bridge.

Deceased was a veteran of World War II and had retired a year ago from the distribution department of the Kelly-Springfield Tire company.

Asks Customers To Conserve All Forms Of Energy

In support of the growing need to conserve all forms of energy, Monongahela Power Company today announced that all customers of the company are being requested to drastically curtail or omit Christmas lighting and initiate other electricity conservation measures. Company personnel have been calling municipal officials and others responsible for community Christmas lighting and in many towns decisions have already been made to omit lighted community decorations this year.

L. S. Singley, Executive Vice President and general manager of Monongahela said that Monongahela has adequate electric generating capacity and that no immediate problems are anticipated. He said, however, that the rapidly worsening gas and oil supply situation may ultimately affect power generating capabilities throughout the nation, regardless of the type of fuel used to generate electricity. While Monongahela's stations are coal-fired, as other fuels become more limited the resulting greater demands on coal may cause it to be in short supply. He pointed out that should demands for coal increase substantially, considerable time would likely be required to fulfill such increased demands.

On a second larceny case he was given eight years each on the first and second counts, to run concurrently. At trials some days ago Warren and Bowman had pleaded not guilty of larceny of a Datsun truck of Ray O. Smith, valued at $2,000 and a Honda motorcycle valued at $1,100, owned by Percy W. Thayer. They were found guilty on both charges. Warren and Bowman were also found guilty of three counts each of mutual conspiracy.

Both pleaded not guilty on three other counts of breaking and entering the dwelling of Arthur H. Eugene D. Straub Is Named Conservation Farmer Of Year

Supervisors of the Garrett Soil Conservation District recently honored Eugene Straub as Outstanding Conservation Farmer of the year. The award was made at a dinner meeting of the supervisors on November 1.

Gene and Mrs. Straub are relative newcomers to the county. They bought a farm of 116 acres in Pleasant Valley soon after Mr. Straub accepted a position as professor of political science at Garrett Community College.

With technical help from the district, Gene developed a conservation plan for the farm early in 1972. Since then he has established contour strips on the cropland, rearranged pasture boundaries to fit the contour layout of crop fields, developed a spring to supply water to the house and to pasture troughs, built a farm pond, installed drainage in some wet spots and limed and fertilized pastures. His corn crop this year was grown by the no-till method and yields were excellent.

Two other awards, given by the Old Line Chapter, Soil Conservation Society of America, were presented at the meeting. One was to William F. DeBerry, conservation technician with the district, for an original and innovative work improvement suggestion. Mr. DeBerry, and others, had been concerned because settling ponds being installed at surface mines allowed a quantity of fine floating material to pass through the spillways and into streams below. His suggestion was to install a self-priming siphon to draw water from below the pond surface, giving the floating debris time to settle. A number of siphons have been installed in Garrett and Allegany counties and are doing a good job. The second Society award was to William W. Nace, district manager, for sustained leadership in soil conservation.

John T. Reckner, Jr., District Conservationist, reviewed district accomplishments during the past year, including conservation work done by farmers and other landowners with district assistance, work with surface mine operators and the Land Reclamation Committee, further planning in the Casselman Watershed, near completion of the Little Youghiogheny Watershed, sediment control, and information and assistance furnished to planning groups and other agencies.

Other guests at the meeting included the Garrett County Commissioners, local personnel of the Soil Conservation Service, Wilbert Paul, Mt. Savage Chairman of the Maryland Soil Convation Committee, Kendrick Y. Hodgdon, Chairman of the Allegany District, Graham T. Munkittrick, State Conservationist and John H. Gibson, Assistant State Conservationist, Soil Conservation Service College Park, and Arnold C. Hawkins, Executive Secretary of the State Soil Conservation Committee.

Employment Unit Affected By Cut

Because of a shortage in federal funds, the Maryland Employment Security Administration has planned the removal of 57 employees throughout the state from its payroll and the Oakland office will be affected by the loss of one man, it was learned this week.

Charles L. Briner, manager of the Oakland office, said the reduction would affect Herbert Wildesen, who has been farm placement man in the office for the past three years. Mr. Wildesen's last day will be November 20.

Of the 57 persons affected statewide, 30 have been offered transfers to vacancies within other agencies of the department with the other 27 to be terminated. The latest staff reduction follows a previous one last Jan., when more than 200 were cut from ESA staff. The January cut was necessitated by a reduction of some $3 million in Department of Labor funds from the ESA budget. The latest cut has resulted in a Federal reduction of some $400,000 in the fiscal budget for 1974.

The local employment office will still have five persons, Mr. Briner, manager; Verna Harvey, claims associate; Mrs. Mary Browning and Robert J. Stanton, interviewers; and Gladys Anderson, claims examiner.

Pig Roast Guests Hear Erle Cocke

Some 250 or more American Legion members and guests attended the forty-second annual membership dinner and pig roast at the Legion Home last Friday evening and heard Erle Cocke, Jr., former National Commander, speak to the group, emphasizing dissappointment at moving the date for celebrating Armistice Day.

Armistice Day for years was observed on November 11, and legislation in recent years has moved the national observance to October.

The speaker pointed out that 32 states had taken action against a bill enacted in 1968 to designate certain holidays to fall on specified Mondays. In addition eight other states have prooosals pending to return observance of Veterans' day to November 11, and Maryland is in this category.

Mr. Cocke declared this had been a mandated position of the American Legion, reaffirmed by the 1973 national convention to urge restoration of the patriotic holiday dates being observed in the United States.

The speaker also asked for substantial improvements in the education program for Vietnam war veterans.

State Highways To Omit Snow Fences

The State Highway administration will not be erecting snow fences in Garrett County this year according to William Goldsborough resident engineer in Oakland.

The order to stop putting up snow fence protection came from the district office at Cumberland. No reason for omitting the protection was given, according to Mr. Goldsborough.

Last year the State Highway administration erected over 5,000 feet of snow fences along state roads here.

In other ways, however, state preparations for winter are nearly complete. The 50 state employees have readied all machinery, and are stockpiling the necessary amounts of sand and chemicals at six county locations.

Equipment to fight snowy battles includes two ten-ton trucks with V-plows and wings; fifteen three-ton trucks with regular plows and spreaders; two graders with V-plows, one large blower, and two snow blowers which attach to front end loaders.

The county may also call upon reinforcements from Cumberland or Hagerstown, for additional snow blowers.

The county's six to eight tons of chemicals and 12 to 15 tons of abrasives are stockpiled at Route 50 at Table Rock; Route 135 near Swanton; Route 219 south of Accident; Route 40 at Keyser's Ridge; and Route 40 at Little Meadows.

Parade To Open Christmas Season; No Tree Lighting

The ninth annual Christmas parade in Oakland which will officially open the Christmas season is scheduled for Friday, November 23, at 6:30 p.m., it was announced by John Kurilla, chairman of the Oakland Merchants' association which is sponsoring the event.

The parade will include the Southern High school band, and possibly other bands from nearby areas; the Harige Shrine clown unit from the local area, and Santa Claus.

At the Court House, the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club will have a brief ceremony. Formerly there was a tree lighting ceremony but this will be eliminated this year because of the energy crisis. The Southern Senior band will present a concert on the court house lawn, weather permitting.

The Christmas street decorations will be erected again this year in time for the official opening of the season, but will be lighted only on special occasions. The Merchants' committee has acquired additional lighting this year which will also be erected.

One thousand popcorn balls will be distributed to the children by the clowns and children receiving a popcorn ball with the name of some local business concern will receive a gift from that particular merchant. Popcorn balls will be distributed at the Garrett National Bank parking lot following the parade.

Assembly Gives Extra Powers To Governor

Emergency Power Granted Monday To Combat Fuel Shortage

Governor Marvin Mandel has said he will put into use "very quickly" the sweeping emergency powers given him in legislation enacted Monday in the General Assembly.

His first step will be to issue a proclamation declaring a state of emergency in Maryland because of the anticipated fuel shortage this winter.

In an informal meeting following the Assembly session, Mandel said he would begin to take an inventory of oil supplies held by oil companies and major industrial users in the state.

Next, he plans to order speed limits on all Maryland highways lowered to 50 m.p.h. On Tuesday, he ordered the Department of Transportation to begin preparing signs and making other steps to reduce the speed limit.

No other uses of his new emergency powers are planned for the immediate, foreseable future by the governor, who noted that his actions will be determined to a great extent by the results of the oil inventory and by what steps are planned by the federal government.

According to Gov. Mandel, top priority in heating will be given to residences, followed by hospitals and schools. However, he could not rule out the possibility that schools may have to be closed during the coldest part of the winter.

There is also the possibility that he might impose statewide closing hour for businesses. He did say that he has already rejected the idea of increasing gasoline taxes, and that there will be no state rationing of gasoline as that is a federal prerogative.

The measure, giving the governor the same powers available to him during natural disasters and civil disorders, including the right to make regulations and suspend laws passed by huge margins in both the Senate (38-11) and House (123-5).

The bill, passed by the Senate Friday night, was changed by the House only slightly before approval. The expiration date was changed from February 1 to March 15, and the House version also stipulated that regulations proposed by the governor must be reviewed by a legislative committee before taking effect, except in crisis situations.

Strong doubts had been raised on both the Senate and House floors about the constitutionality of the veto power given to the joint administrative executive and legislative review committee which will oversee the governor's regulations, but Mandel had promised by letter to give the committee veto power and did not object to the pledge being written into law.

Sen. Frederick C. Malkus, D., Lower Shore, opposed the bill in the Senate, saying that rural areas would suffer the most and that the only solution would be to make peace with the Arabs.

The emergency bill giving the governor the additional authority is the first of its kind adopted in the country.

Snowstorm Puts Fall Above Normal

The four-inch snowfall over the weekend has already put the November total over normal by .8 inch. Low thermometer readings set the week's temperatures at an average of 10.5 degrees below normal.

Snow showers and flurries Friday and Saturday dumped four inches of snow in the area. This puts the monthly total so far at 8 inches. Skies were mostly clear Sunday and Monday otherwise they have been mostly cloudy to overcast.

Daytime highs averaged 41.9 degrees, 7.7 degrees below the Effort Being Made To Register Voters Recently Cut Off

The members of the State Central Committees of the Republican and Democratic parties are making an effort to contact the 787 voters whose names were removed from the voting lists for not voting for five calendar years 1968-1973, it was learned this week.

A list of 318 names of Democrats went to Arthur S. Tichnell chairman, Democratic committee, and to James Matthews president, Democrat club of this county.

A list of 416 names of Republicans was sent to Homer E. Bennet, chairman Republican committee; and to Mrs. Brenda Butscher, president of the National Federation of Republican Women of Southern Garrett county, and to Mrs. Cora Bowser, president of the group for the northern end of the county.

A voter whose registration has been cancelled under the Annotated Code, is not eligible to vote except by re-registering.

The Board of Supervisors of Elections is making an effort to obtain addresses of voters whose cancellation notice has been returned marked "moved, not forwardable". These former voters, if they can meet the requirements, may register where they now reside.

Gas Company Asks Fuel Conservation

Lowering the thermostat as little as one degree this winter not only conserves critically needed heating fuels, but also will mean lower heating costs for gas company customers, according to William C. Deems, manager for Columbia Gas of Maryland, Inc.

Studies show that fuel consumption decreases by three percent for every degree the thermostat is lowered, he pointed out.

Only Injury In Several Accidents Is One Deer

The only injury in several accidents last week was that of one deer along U.S. Route 40.

John E. Lininger, of RD 1, Friendsville, was traveling west on U.S. Route 40 just east of Zaner road last Wednesday just before midnight when a deer came from the right. The deer struck the right side of the windshield, bounced off, and struck the rear quarter panel of the car. The deer then went to the eastbound shoulder. Trooper Dale K. Williams investigated.

Miss Clair L. Englander, Second Street, Oakland, was traveling south on U.S. Route 219 near the north end of Oakland last Friday afternoon. Ernest S. Friend, RD 1, Oakland, ahead of the Englander car, had slowed for traffic ahead. Miss Englander, unable to slow down, went off the right side of the road, came back onto the road and hit the Friend car. Trooper Dale K. Williams charged Miss Englander with operating at excessive speed.

Ferris R. Maule, RD 1, Oakland, was traveling west on the Crellin road near Old Crellin road last Friday afternoon. Maule, going into a sharp right turn, went across the center line of the road and collided with a car driven by Patrick G McBee, RD 2, Oakland, traveling east. McBee then went off the right side and hit an embankment. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged Maule with not giving a motor vehicle traveling in the opposite direction room to pass.

In another Friday mishap, Elmer B. Moreland, RD 1, Gormania, traveling north, and Eleanor Moon, RD 3, Deer Park, traveling south on the Bethlehem road near Potomac Camp road, met on a curve. Both applied their brakes, but due to an icy spot, skidded into each other. Tfc. Ronald Lewis made no charges.

Last Tuesday morning the car of Russell M. Lee, RD 1, Swanton, was legally parked on the shoulder of State Route 135 just west of the Kitzmiller road. Ferdinand H. Tri-County Area Has Federal Grant

The tri-county area of Garrett, Allegany and Washington counties has recently become eligible for $130,000 in additional federal funds for programs designed to serve the social, economic and educational needs of the area's senior citizens.

The availability of the new funds, under Title III of the Older Americans Act, was revealed this week in a statement by Edward I. Heath, executive director of Tri-County Council for Western Maryland.

Mr. Heath and representatives from various agencies in the three counties were made aware of the new funds at a recent meeting with representatives of the Maryland Commission on Aging.

At the meeting the state commission requested that the Tri-County Council act as the coordinating agency for the new funds. The council is to be asked to vote on whether it wishes to comply with the request.

According to Mr. Heath the state has been divided into eight regions for purposes of distributing and utilizing the new funds. The grant for the new programs would be supplied on a formula of 90 percent federal and 10 percent local funds.

A $20,000 planning and administrative grant is also available from the federal government under the new amendment to the Older Americans Act.

Among those taken to University hospital in Baltimore with multiple stab wounds was Emory W. Adams, Jr., one of the teachers. Adams is a former resident of Oakland. NOTICE TO GARRETT COUNTY CUSTOMERS OF MONONGAHELA POWER CO.

Earlier this year, application was filed with various government regulatory agencies to simplify the corporate structure of Allegheny Power System companies. That application includes the purchase of Monongahela Power Company properties in Garrett County by The Potomac Edison Company, both of which are part of Allegheny Power System.

Following a public hearing in Oakland on July 18, the Maryland Public Service Commission gave its consent to the application. Approval has also been granted by other appropriate commissions, and is pending before two other agencies.

We anticipate that these agencies will also approve the purchase and that it will take effect about January 1, 1974, at which time Potomac Edison will adopt existing Monongahela rate schedules for the affected customers.

Since we fully expect that the merger will be approved and consummated in the near future, the operations of Monongahela Power Company in Garrett County were included in Potomac Edison's November 1 request to the Maryland Public Service Commission for general retail rate increases. To provide uniform rates for our customers, we have requested that the approximately 5,500 customers presently served by Monongahela Power in Garrett County become subject to the new rates as finally determined by the Public Service Commission.

Publication of legal notices concerning the application for increased rates appear elsewhere in this paper. Additional information is available at Monongahela Power Company offices in Oakland, or Potomac Edison Company offices in Cumberland.

Maranatha Church Dedicated Sunday

The congregation of the Maranatha Assembly of God church moved into their new church Sunday morning, located on Springs Road near Grantsville. The dedication message was delivered by Rev. W. P. Odum, district superintendent.

The building contains 13,000 square feet of floor space with the main sanctuary of walnut paneling and pews seating 708 persons. There is a smaller auditorium for the junior church, 20 classrooms and other facilities. A carport is available for use in inclement weather.

There are a fleet of five buses running through the communities of Bertha, Rockwood, Meyersdale, Garrett and Salisbury, Pa.; and Bittinger, Swanton and Jennings. Pastor is Rev. William Ferguson, who graduated from Northeast Bible Institute in 1960, moving to Grantsville that same year.

When the church began July 1, 1961, there were 19 charter members. The sanctuary, seating 50, was built in 1960-1961. A Sunday School annex was added in 1963 and in 1967 the sanctuary was remodeled and a balcony added, increasing the capacity to 350 persons. In 1968 a parsonage was built.

Westvaco Completes Another Precipitator

Completion and startup of a $1,100,000 electrostatic precipitator on a power boiler at Westvaco's Luke mill has been announced by Arthur L. Noble, mill manager.

Installation of this precipitator means that all four power and recovery stacks at Westvaco's Luke mill now have major efficient equipment to control particulate emissions from stacks according to Mr. Noble. One other package power boiler burns low sulphur oil. The other four boilers are coal-fired or liquor burning units.

Sixteen Killed On State Highways

Alcohol was a contributing factor in one of the traffic fatalities this week, speed was involved in ten and "driver error" in fifteen.

Persons killed through November 11 totaled 727 compared to 697 for the same period a year ago.

Commissioners Hear Comments On Solid Waste Plan

The County Commissioners, sitting as the Health board, on Monday heard comments from members of the health department concerning the county's solid waste proposed plan.

Primary concern was equality in payment for solid waste disposal by all county residents, municipal and rural. The board said both groups would receive equal service from the county.

The Commissioners this week also wrote Governor Marvin Mandel, expressing concern over the energy crisis and endorsed the mining of coal as a viable alternative to the oil shortage. The commissioners also wrote representatives in Congress about the energy crisis.

The overrun in the Accident water and sewage project was further explained to William Pate, of the state department of community development. Mr. Pate is Gov. Mandel's representative on the Appalachian Regional commission, which is one of the funding agents for the project.

Marshall Rickert, planning director for the county, spoke to the commissioners in regard to funding for the Broadford Civic center.

Decreasing Acid Mine Drainage Is Topic Of Meeting

The Army Corps of Engineers explained how it would approach solving acid mine drainage problems in the North Branch of the Potomac river at a public meeting Monday night in Cumberland.

The discussion centered around the Bloomington dam now under construction. The program, approved by Congress in 1971, is to be carried out in three phases, gather data necessary and establish an abatement goal; develop alternative plans and costs; and to refine the plan selected.

Other meetings are planned as each watershed area is examined Col. Robert S. McGarry, Baltimore, who presided, said there are three methods of controlling acid mine drainage; keep air from reaching the mines, keep water away from the area, or, finally, by treating the water to offset the drainage.

Talking

Those family get-togethers! Hardly a space of air for hearing distinct words, as everyone talks simultaneously and understands half of the other person's words. Talking can be joyous, for when two people of like interests meet, it enables them to share events in a kind of conventional therapy. Sympathy comes from a few words well spoken. A good philosophical discussion whets a mental appetite, and we feel enlightened after talking of ideas. My neighbor conveys his notice of beautiful autumn foliage in poor English, but that does not lessen my regard for his appreciation.

But sometimes talking may be violated, our tongues becoming instruments of evil. Scripture says that a lying tongue is one of the seven things hated by the Lord, and surely we learn this soon in life. Think of the times you could hardly hold back a gossipy bit, true or untrue, about someone. Then when the bad words were kept hidden, how fine you felt when you saw this person and realized how you had spared him.

There was an old maxim in Grace Livingston Hill's writings, "Many a noisy tongue has filled a quiet grave," and more people need to think of that. James Hyatt uses three tests of good speech: it must be honest to establish confidence in the speaker; loving and aptly put, even when some words must be unpleasant; and prudent, indicating omitting speech when it would do harm.

The Chinese say that good words are like a string of pearls.

You know how often someone's words can lift you from depression or save embarassment when a speaker uses an opportunity to prevent your fall. Children often react quickly to a joke or kind words from an adult, revamping their plans to be agreeable.

Rudolf Flesch advocates writing just the way you would speak if a person faced you. This writer cannot endorse the elimination of powerful or lyrical language, the beauty of cultivated literature, to use ordinary speech on paper. However, Flesch says that a human touch should show through good writing; this rich communication is also the prerequisite of good talk. Talking is our human device for communication; the angels do not need it.

Bicentennial Trail Idea Is Supported

The idea for a national bicentennial trail through the state's three westernmost counties has received backing from the Maryland Bicentennial commission.

The trail is being planned by the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland. A matter still up in the air is how all of it would be funded. Three possibilities were listed for fund sources: the Maryland Bicentennial Commission (the money here is limited); the Federal American Revolution Bicentennial commission, and from private sources. Federal funds, require a matching grant from the state.

The national bicentennial trail is a project high on the priority list of the Maryland Bicentennial commission, according to Edward J. Heath, executive director of the Tri-County Council, and "the commission is working on the matter of fund-levels" he stated

Some said the extra evening hour of Daylight Savings Time would help to conserve fuel

Aerobic Tanks Are Being Installed In Demo. Here

The Environmental Health Administration of Maryland recently began a demonstration project in Mt. Lake Park and Swanton areas featuring new devices by six manufacturers that may replace the septic tank with all its problems.

All have one important principle in common-- they rely on aerobic digestion of sewage rather than the anaerobic action of a septic tank (Aerobic refers to bacteria that require oxygen to live

Thus these devices provide for injection or circulation of air in the underground tank that replaces the traditional septic tank Some of the units can be installed in existing septic tanks, converting them to aerobic action

The aerobic systems being tesied in Mt. Lake Park and Swanton do not build up sludge in the tanks and thus, future expense of pumping out is avoided

Some enthusiasts claim that a smaller drain field can be used, but the tests in this area are using full-sized fields to be on the safe side

Merrill R Glasser, head of the residential sanitation section of the MEHA, who directs the project reported that the high country of Garrett was chosen for the demonstration because of the heavy clay soil, cold winter climate and high ground water level which would provide a severe test for the new devices

The project will continue for two years. The units are being installed under lawns of typical homes. Edgar Harman, director of environmental health for this county, will supervise weekly sampling of the effluent from each unit and will watch the ecological effects. Doing the installation is the A. D. Naylor and Company, Oakland

Steps To Conserve Energy Taken By County Groups

Steps to conserve energy were taken this week by the County Commissioners office and the County Roads department, with directives being sent out to all concerned.

Paul W. DeWitt, administrative engineer for the road, department sent out a directive with ten steps to follow in order to conserve energy in compliance with the president's request

It included: thermostats to be turned down to 68 degrees, maximum, building areas not to be used for work areas to be heated to 50 degrees; no county owned vehicle to be driven in excess of 50 mph; no vehicles allowed to idle, but be shut off when not working. Thermostats down to 60 degrees during hours when no one is in a building with 50 degrees desirable; equipment usage cut to necessary levels; inventory taken of all gasoline, fuel oil, heating oil, motor oil, with every quart and every gallon to be strictly accounted for; lights to be turned off when not in use, except one night light; employees encouraged to form car pools for riding to work

The order from the commissioners went to all offices and employees at the court house. They ordered, heating plant to be adjusted to provide constant temperature of 68 degrees, thought to be given to wearing warmer clothing to provide additional warmth when needed They felt oil supplies must be conserved in order to insure full time operation of the courthouse.

Employment Figure Given

Total employment in Maryland stood at 1,556,400 during September, reflecting little change from August. Compared to September, 1972, employment was up by 49,000, of 3.3 percent Statewide unemployment was down 5,800 from August A year ago the jobless was 71,500. Unemployment rate was 4.0 in September.

For Garrett county the work force was listed at 8,970, with 8,350 employed, leaving 620 unemployed for a rate of 6.9 percent.

Southern Winner Over Huskies 13-6

The Southern High Rams overcame slippery fingers a slick turf and constant snow flurries to down Northern Huskies 13 to 6 last Saturday afternoon at Accident, and thus retired Garrett County Championship trophy with a third straight win over the Northern team

The Huskies were unable to capitalize on Ram mistakes, as Southern turned the ball over no less than five times on six fumbles. In addition the Rams also lost the ball on two interceptions

Southern, however dominated the statistics as well as the scoreboard in registering a third straight victory over Northern to keep the trophy it had held since the teams last tied in 1970. The Rams won last year 20-14 and 19 to 0 two years ago

Jim McHenry, Ram quarterback, gave Southern all the points it needed on the third play of the second quarter by capping a 70-yard drive with a 41-yard scoring pass to senior end, Denny Skeweris. McHenry then kicked the point after touchdown

The Rams lost four fumbles in the first period. The Huskies didn't allow Southern past its own 30 yard line in the entire first quarter.

Northern's Greg Humbertson took a second quarter Ram punt at about midfield and returned it to the 20, with Dave Bender going over from the two to bring the Huskies within one point at halftime.

Early in the third period Southern drove 60 yards and Rick Welch capped the drive with a 30-yard touchdown run off right tackle

The victory was the fifth against four losses for the Rams after a disastrous start of losing the first three games. The loss dropped Northern to 1-9 for the season, the only win being over Mountaineer 12 to 6

The game had been scheduled for Friday night but was postponed due to a power failure in the Northern lighting system.

Early Saturday Huskie Coach Jack Lear said that his Huskies had worked to sweep and shovel three inches of snow from the sideline and yardline stripes but by game's end a new covering of two to three inches covered the field.

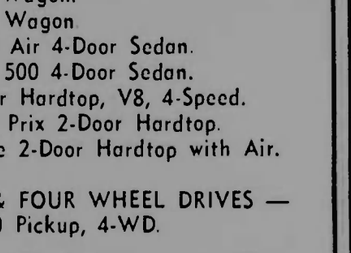
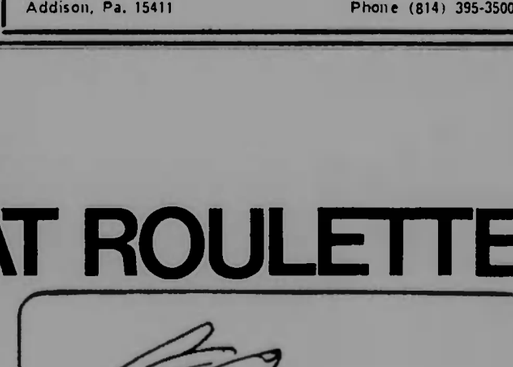
DON'T PLAY THERMOSTAT ROULETTE



The energy crisis is one of America's most serious problems. Columbia Gas is doing everything it can to develop new and additional sources of gas to help solve the problem.

Right now, you can help by conserving the natural gas you use in your home. Simply set your thermostat at the lowest comfortable temperature.

Remember, set your thermostat at the lowest comfortable temperature. Heating costs increase 3% for every degree your thermostat is moved above 70°. A few degrees will save a lot of gas.



And the gas you don't use, you don't have to pay for. That means even more, as prices rise.
COLUMBIA GAS
Gas is precious... pure energy... use it wisely.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

DEBATING GAME

Lesson for November 18, 1973

Background Scripture: Romans 14; I Corinthians 8:1 through 11:1. Devotional Reading: Romans 14:13-23.

Rev. Althouse

An elderly man was dying and the pastor was summoned. Bending low over the failing man, his daughter said quietly: "The minister is here to pray for you." For a minute returning to his cantankerous self, the old man exploded: "Confound it, daughter, I don't want him to pray for me, I want to argue with him!"

Believing rightly

Most pastors know people who would rather argue with them than pray with them. In fact, for many people organized religion is little more than a "debating game," a constant disputation on what people hold to be "the right way to believe." For them the key to being a Christian is knowing and subscribing to the right doctrines, creeds, or interpretations. Errors in belief is regarded as the worst of all sins. Christian unity is looked upon as doctrinal or creedal uniformity.

The saddest chapters in the history of the Church are those that deal with what has happened when churches have expelled those whose beliefs and practices seemed to lie outside the popular pattern. Sometimes we are amazed when we learn of what seemingly inconsequential matters were responsible for great rifts and divisions in Christendom.

I, as a pastor, am blessed with a congregation that maintains a free pulpit. Several years ago after a service in which I had preached a highly controversial sermon, one of my lay people stopped to shake my hand at the door: "Pastor, I didn't agree with what you said this morning, but I'm going to think about it." Because of attitudes like this on the part of my lay people, ours is a congregation where people of differing points of view and practices can comfortably worship and work together. There is Christian harmony, but not the false harmony of conformity in belief.

Doing rightly

The reason is that we place a higher premium on doing rightly, than on believing rightly. This does not mean beliefs are not important, but that the way we verbalize and declare our beliefs is not nearly so important as what we do about them. It is what we do about our beliefs that is usually the most persuasive.

In Romans 14 and I Corinthians 8 the issue seems silly to us: what is right for a Christian to eat? Yet many of the disputes over which Christians divide today are equally ridiculous. The problem, as Paul points out, is that too many of us think a Christian's primary calling is to "pass judgement" on the religion of others. Judging other people often becomes a substitute for real discipleship which involves doing our Lord's work and following his commands. Likewise, the church is intended to be a center for action, not an arena for playing the debating game.

100 YEAR LIFE EXPECTANCY NOT UNLIKELY

Experts on longevity predict a "youth pill" may be available within our lifetime. This could result in an average lifespan of 100 years.

Besides taking a "youth pill" various other factors can effect the rate of aging. These are said to include balanced nutrition, proper exercise and relaxation. The pattern of modern society which fosters overeating or depending on quick valueless snacks; lack of exercise, due to mechanical advancement; emotional strains and stresses contribute to how fast our bodies get old. If you want the machine, which your body actually is, to function efficiently give some thought to these facts and you may have discovered your own "youth pill".

A thermometer is indispensable in the home . . . even though it can't cure a thing. Its first function is to prove that someone is sick so that diagnosis and therapy can begin. Then it keeps tabs on the patient's progress. Ultimately it can suggest, though not absolutely, that the crucial stages of illness or infection are over.

You hear people call ours a "sick" society. Is anyone taking its temperature? Yes, the media is doing a thorough job reporting the fever of the times.

A more crucial question: Is anyone striving to heal society? The Church is! It has always been quick to diagnose men's spiritual ills and ready to make available the remedies God has prescribed.

Obviously, however, society isn't one person but many. Its cure will progress as we get the patients and the doctor together.

Saucy, Sassy Cranberries

The cranberry has the distinction of being a native American fruit. Long before arrival of the Pilgrims in 1620, the Indians were combining crushed cranberries with dried deer meat and melted fat to make pemmican—a convenience food which could be kept safely longer than most foods of the day. History credits the Pilgrims with giving the fruit its modern name. To them, pink cranberry blossoms resembled the heads of cranes, so they named the fruit "Crane berry" It was later shortened to cranberry. Cranberry sauce with the whole berries are very good added to Lamb or Beef Stew. Cranberry relish contributes colorful, zesty goodness to any entree be it chicken, turkey, meat or fish. Make your own by using apples, celery, little horseradish and whole cranberry sauce. Dice or use a coarse blade of food chopper for ingredients. Let stand in refrigerator for several hours for flavors to blend.

John Briscoe Is House Speaker

Democrats in the House of Delegates, voting by secret ballot for the first time in memory selected John H Briscoe last Friday as the new speaker of the House.

The 29-year old St. Mary's county Democrat was then unanimously elected speaker as the 21 Republicans joined to convene the special session

Briscoe had served as chairman of the Ways and Means committee for three years. He named Baltimore Democrat Benjamin Cardin to succeed him in the committee post.

Briscoe said he didn't expect to make any major changes in the operation of the House, although he acknowledged his style was somewhat different from his predecessor, Thomas H. Lowe, now a judge of the Court of Special Appeals

Disturbing The Peace, Violating Probation Heard

Violation of probation disturbing the peace and receiving stolen goods were among the cases heard in District Court during the week ending November 12. Two trials involved countercharges.

Cases last week were heard by Judge Lewis R Jones and those Monday by Judge Milton Gerson of Cumberland.

David L. McKenzie, Friendsville pleaded guilty of violation of probation by being intoxicated at his home September 26. At the trial October 23, his probation was extended to April 1975. He was originally found guilty of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated at a trial April 1972, and placed on probation for two years, or until April 1974

Donald Stanton, Star Route, Grantsville, pleaded not guilty of disturbing the peace by loud and obscene language on the property of Marvin Hoover near Grantsville on October 19. He was found guilty by Judge Gerson and fined $25 and $10 costs at a trial Monday. He was found not guilty for disorderly conduct at the same trial.

Wayne Jamison, RD 3 Deer Park, was charged with receiving stolen goods of Edward and Maxine Jamison at Silver Lake October 31. The case has been transferred to Circuit Court and Wayne Jamison has been released on $500 bond. No date has been set for the trial.

Lewis Tasker, Baltimore, has been charged with non-support of his wife, Helen Tasker, and four-year old child as of May 1, 1972. The case was stetted in court Monday pending outcome of divorce proceedings.

Marvin E. Wiley RD, Grantsville, had been charged with false pretense of obtaining money from Joseph A. Musgrove, Grantsville, September 4, in the amount of $55 to do a paint job and not returning to do it. Wiley was found not guilty at a trial Monday.

Richard D. Lytle, RD 1, Swanton, had been charged with passing a worthless check at the H-P Store, Oakland, for $19.45 on July 24 The case was stetted Monday as restitution had been made Harold McKenzie, Frostburg, had been charged with trespassing on the property of Howard S. Warnick near Barton. The case was dismissed Monday as Mr. Warnick failed to appear.

Second Best . . .

Nobody likes to be second best, but we're getting there all too fast. So reads a recent advertisement of the Warner and Swasey company, maker of precision tools.

The advertisement continues: "The United States used to make 76 percent of the world's automobiles. Now it's 33 percent. We produced 17 percent of the world's steel; now 19 percent. Following World War II we built most of the world's merchant ships; now only 2 percent. From first to third as builder of machine tools. The American sewing machine used to be the trademark of the American home. Now only one company makes ANY here. Forty percent of Americans walk in imported shoes.

Whose fault? It's everyone's fault who wants something for nothing, or takes something he doesn't earn. That is what is causing exorbitant prices, shoddy quality, disgusted customers. America was built by hard work, with everyone carrying his share. We'd better get back to it fast, while there's still time."

We can still be thankful for the many freedoms and beauties and results of free enterprise we enjoy, but we must think very seriously about what Warner and Swasey are saying during this Thanksgiving season.

"I DARE YOU" RECIPIENTS—These are the "I Dare You" recipients, Miss Linda Custer and Darl Kolb, as announced at the county 4-H Achievement program on Wednesday, November 14, at Garrett Community College at McHenry. The awards were presented by the American Youth Foundation through its "I Dare You" committee, to the outstanding girl and boy in the county 4-H program.

School Board Adopts Policies, Conserve Fuel

To support the energy-fuel problems prevalent throughout the nation the Garrett County Board of Education acted at its November 15 meeting. Robert Diehl moved, Mrs. Diane Thayer, seconded, and the board members present unanimously approved the following:

The Garrett County Board of Education supports the position of the county superintendents and the State Department of Education in cooperating with and suporting the actions of all appropriate agencies during our fuel shortage. We believe schools should be given a high priority for allocations as the responsible agencies develop necessary fuel allocations. Should allocations become insufficient to maintain day and evening programs, the Board authorizes the superintendent to transfer as much night activity as possible to the hours immediately following the closing of day school. Only after these modifications and other conservation measures have been exhausted will the Garrett County Board of Education consider changing the annual calendar to mandate closing schools on cold days and replacing them in warmer weather or Saturdays.

"We support the action of the superintendent in initiating plans to conserve fuel and call upon all teaching, custodial, clerical cafeteria, and administrative employees for their best efforts in implementing these plans."

Herbert Harmon stressed the importance of enforcing conservation efforts in the schools and William Goldsborough asked that good publicity be given to the school board's efforts.

Police Check Rash Of Entries, Thefts Tuesday

Three Places Broken Into And Ransacked; Another Attempt Foiled

Local law enforcement officers had a busy day Tuesday investigating three breakings and enterings of local businesses, and another attempted forcible entry at another spot.

A 3,000 pound safe was taken from the Coca-Cola Bottling plant, Oakland, on one of the company's trucks, which are stored indoors during the winter months.

After gaining entry by breaking a back window, the thieves lifted the safe onto a hand cart in the plant and loaded it onto the truck.

The truck was recovered Tuesday afternoon, out of gas, near the bridge at Swallow Falls. No trace of the safe has been found. A report of what was in the safe has not been released, pending an investigation by an insurance representative.

Grange Supply Center was also hit. Emerson Frazee arrived at work shortly before 7:30 and noted that the glass in the front door had been broken.

When he and another employe entered, they found blood on the door and spots of blood around the office area, where drawers around the counter and desk had been ransacked. The only item determined missing so far is a 6-foot carpenter's folding rule.

A little farther along Route 135, the 135 Drive-In Restaurant was entered. Glass in the front door was broken, and tracks indicated that an object was dragged across the floor and out through the door. Aluminum facings around the door were also dented. No items were determined missing as yet, but cupboards, drawers, and even refrigerators were ransacked.

An attempt was made to enter Montgomery Ward's catalog store in Mt. Lake Park but a special store lock on the door foiled the attempt. The culprits tried to break a bar between the glass on the front door, but evidently were frightened away before they could complete that task and crawl in. Mrs. Deb Bittinger, manager of the store, noted that she had the same type of lock installed at her home on Tuesday.

Abandoned Vehicle Survey Being Made

A program which will result in the removal of abandoned vehicles in Garrett and Allegany counties was started by the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland.

It has begun with an abandoned vehicle survey in both counties by students at Allegany Community college, Cumberland and Garrett Community college, McHenry.

Four students in each county are conducting the survey, expected to be finished by February 1.

Results of the survey will be used as a basis for developing a grant proposal to obtain federal funds to pay for removal of the vehicles. The survey costs are not to exceed $1,300 in each county.

A similar survey, completed in Washington, revealed that there are over 7,300 abandoned vehicles in that county.

Bayard Hunter Is Killed Monday

A 37-year old Bayard, W. Va., coal miner was killed Monday while deer hunting east of Germania.

Junior Sherlwood Huffman, father of three children, was pronounced dead on arrival at Grant Memorial hospital, Petersburg, at 1:55 p.m.

Trooper D. I. Pyle, of the West Virginia state police, who investigated the 11:45 a.m. accident, with an assist from conservation officers of Grant county, said the victim was shot in the chest below the collarbone.

The shooting occurred on Difficult Mountain off U. S. route 50 on the opening day of deer season in West Virginia.

Trooper Pyle explained the victim had been hunting with his brother-in-law. A hunter in another party shot at a deer with a high powered .30 calibre rifle, missed it and the bullet struck Mr. Huffman, the trooper said. The investigation is being continued.

Mr. Huffman was employed as a shuttle car operator for the Island Creek Coal company at Bayard. A native of West Virginia, Mr. Huffman was a son of Ernest and Ida Mae Riffle Huffman. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sylvia Riffle Huffman, three children; and several brothers and sisters.

The body was taken to the Minnich-Stewart Funeral home in Oakland.

Opportunity Given To Discuss Possible Legislative Matters

State Senator William A. Wilson and Delegate DeCorsey E. Bolden, elected officials from this area, are requesting citizens who have proposed legislation to discuss, to get in touch with them so a schedule hearing on issues could be set up.

They made the request to organizations or groups or individuals and suggested that they put their ideas and request in writing.

The Maryland General Assembly will convene on January 9, 1974 for a regular session.

Delegate Bolden suggested that in order to accommodate those constituents who may want to discuss proposed legislation for the coming session and in order to schedule hearings people should write either to him at 313 South Second street, Oakland, or to Senator Wilson at 1 Ruth street, La Vale, and outline what the subject matter is about. If similar proposals are made by others, he said a hearing could be scheduled at the same time.

In the former years legislators scheduled public meetings, but response to those had not been very heavy.

State Grant For Bicentennial Trail Is Given Council

A grant contract for survey and inventory of historic sites and structures in Allegany and Garrett counties has been approved by the Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development and a copy has been received by the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland Director of the Tri-County Council said that the council's Bicentennial Trail Task Force will identify and record sites in Allegany and Garrett counties which are considered historically and or architecturally significant by the council and Development Department, and which relate directly to the council's National Bicentennial Trail project.

The letter from Catherine Moore, Administrative assistant to Orlando Ridout, IV, State Historic Preservation officer, said the Tri-County Council is to finish approved and qualified personnel, equipment, materials and supplies to conduct the two-county survey. A black and white photograph and color slide of each site accompanied by a brief progress report, will be forwarded to the state agency every two months until the program is completed.

The Bicentennial Trail will run through Allegany, Washington and Garrett counties - primarily as a part of U.S. Route 40. However, a large number of side trails are being prepared which will afford visitors an opportunity to learn of the historical significance of the Tri-County area.

Career Education Program Outlined

About twenty persons attended a special meeting sponsored by the Garrett County Board of Education at Southern High school on Thursday, November 16, at 11:00 a.m. The group was composed of P.T.A. leaders, school board members the supervisory staff and teachers working in the program of career education.

Albert Ringer, Director of Curriculum and Instruction, stated that in 1969 Garrett County led the efforts of the State of Maryland in beginning a program of Career Education. Since that time a high school program and an elementary program have been developed. Last year, as a result of federal funding available through Appalachia funds, a program to provide an intensive program for the seventh and eighth graders in Career Exploration was planned. This year the program was initiated at Southern High school in the Agriculture Building. The learning lab where the instruction takes place is in a classroom of the Agriculture building.

Gary Stanton, teacher in the program, discussed the educational and career objectives. The group toured the individual learning station where some five hundred filmstrips are available to students in an individualized setting. Matthew Novak explained how the facility is used. He also explained the cooperative efforts needed with local businesses and industry if the county is to fully meet the needs of students in adequately exploring career opportunities and education to meet these needs.

Expressions of appreciation were given to James Trickett, Supervisor of Vocational Education, and the other staff participants. Concern was also expressed that Bloomington, Route 10 and some Northern students may not be able to participate in the program.

Vandals Break Into Local Shop Sunday

Vandals broke into the Mineral Development Corporation on U.S. Route 219 sometime between 8:30 Sunday night and 7:30 Monday morning.

Entrance was gained by smashing in a door. A desk was ransacked and merchandise valued at $300 was taken, which included some tires.

No suspects have been apprehended, according to Sheriff Browning.

The Mineral Development Corporation is located on U. S. Route 219 on the southeastern edge of Oakland.

A letter of commendation was received by Miss Kathleen M. Russell, Northern High school senior, for her high performance on the 1972 preliminary scholastic aptitude test national merit scholarship qualifying test. Kathleen is among the upper two percent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1973.

Miss Russell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen M. Russell, McHenry. Christmas Parade Is Set For Friday

Oakland's Christmas decorations were going up this week in preparation for Friday's annual parade marking the opening of the official Christmas season on the mountaintop.

The ninth annual event will be held Friday, November 23, at 6:30 p.m., according to John Kurilla chairman of the Oakland Merchants' association, which sponsors the event.

High school bands, the Oakland Shrine Clown unit, and other groups and Santa Claus, will highlight the parade. The Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions club will hold a brief ceremony following the parade on the Court House lawn.

At the conclusion of the parade the clowns will distribute one thousand popcorn balls to children. Those receiving a popcorn ball with the name of some place of business will receive a gift from that merchant. The popcorn balls will be distributed at the Garrett National Bank parking lot.

The tree lighting ceremony, formerly observed at the court house, will be eliminated this year because of the energy crisis. The Southern senior band will present a concert on the court house lawn, weather permitting.

County Receives Forestry Money

The county received $14,946.30 from the State Department of Forests and Parks, it was announced by the Board of County Commissioners this week. This is the quarterly payment and was twice as much as anticipated, it was pointed out.

The funds were made possible through admission fees, sale of timber and other sources of income on state owned land.

In other commissioner activity this week, Paul DeWitt, county roads administrative engineer, told the members of the large increase in the cost of diesel fuel, from 13.5 cents per gallon last year to 25.05 cents per gallon this year.

Mr. DeWitt said snow removal may be a considerable problem this year because of the fuel shortage. He said the Roads department was deeply concerned about supplies and costs to operate the department for the winter months. Roads chairman and county commissioner Earl Opet, expressed similar concern.

Vandals Wreck Green

Vandals wrecked one of the greens at the Oakland Country club on Monday night, it was learned Tuesday morning.

Some person or persons drove an automobile in behind the pop house and on No. 3 green of the old section of the course, deliberately spun the car's wheels, causing damage that could run as high as $1,000 or $2,000.

The Oakland Country club is offering a reward for the arrest and conviction of those responsible. The old No. 3 green is now identified as green number twelve.

9,433 Citizens Eligible To Vote

There were 9,433 citizens of the county eligible to vote in upcoming elections, as of November 5, it was revealed by the Board of Supervisors of Elections. This was the official registration after 787 names had been subtracted from the voting rolls for not having voted within the past five years.

The statistics show 3,649 Democrats, and 5,603 Republicans; 163 who declined to state their preference and 18 members of the American party. The figures give the Republicans a majority of 1,951 over the Democrats.

The figures, by districts, show that Democrats outnumber the Republicans in only three districts, No. 4, Bloomington; No. 9 Johnson, and No. 13, Kitzmiller. Democrats have an edge of 9 in Bloomington, 206 to 197; but a majority of 32 in Johnson, 214 to 182, and 132 in Kitzmiller 295 to 163.

Republicans have a two to one edge in Grantsville, 483 to 238, Jennings, 105 to 57, East Oakland, 515 to 286, a three to one edge at Elbow 49 to 15 and Bittinger, 119 to 39, and three to one in Sang Run, 360 to 109. In the three Oakland voting precincts the total was 1416 Republicans to 806 Democrats.

A breakdown of the voters 18 to 21, showed a total of 911 individuals, 354 Democrats, 517 Republicans, 43 declining, and 1 for the American party.

The last official registration count on October 10, 1972, showed a total of 9,854, with 3,838 Democrats and 5,839 Republicans, a difference of 2,001.

Accident Sewer Funding Project Gets ARC O.K.

Had Failed To Get Federal Approval Back In October

The Accident Sewer funding project, which ran into a snag last month when the federal government failed to come up with a requested $318,525, apparently now is in the clear, as the result of action by Congressman Goodloe Byron, U. S. Senators J. Glenn Beall, Jr., and Charles McC. Mathias, officials of the Appalachian Regional Commission and the Tri-County Council.

Byron's office announced on Monday that the Appalachian Regional Commission had approved the grant of an additional $244,000 to cover the projected cost of overruns in the Accident Water and Sewage project.

Government officials and officials of the town of Accident and Garrett county were brought together recently at a hearing in Washington, and the result was learned this week.

It had been assumed that the money would be forthcoming until word to the contrary was received early in October. Local officials had felt confident that after the session in Washington on October 11, that the difficulties would be ironed out, and apparently they were.

The Senator went into detail on the grant in a telephone conversation with members of his staff Monday afternoon. He said the funds from the Appalachian Regional commission will enable the Accident community to go through with its $1.6 million dollar wastewater collection and treatment system. The ARC grant brings the total federal participation in the project to $900,000, and the remaining $700,000 is to come from state and local sources. Of the federal participation the Environmental Protection Agency and Farmers Home Administration will provide $428,250.

In announcing the grant Senator Beall noted that the ARC was increasing its share of the cost by $169,500 because bids for building the sewer system were higher than anticipated. He said the ARC had originally been asked for $202,100.

The dollar amount Accident will have to come up with has not been pinpointed but the most the community would have to pay appears to be $275,000. That amount may be lower, however, if additional FPA money can be secured, Tri-County Council, declared.

The water and sewer system is calculated to benefit not only Accident but all of the county. Besides serving Accident residents the system is designed to convert the area into an attractive industrial site.

Wayne Hamilton, County Commissioner, had pointed out that a number of firms, including a furniture concern, had indicated an interest in locating at Accident but needed water and sewer facilities.

The project includes state, Environmental Protection Agency and Farmers' Home Administration financing besides the ARC money.

Speed Limit Drops To 50 On Friday

Maryland's high speed highways will become 50 mile per hour highways on Friday under an order issued Monday by Gov. Marvin Mandel.

The new regulation on speed limits was one of two orders issued by the governor in the first exercise of emergency powers given him to deal with the expected fuel crisis this winter.

It will go into effect automatically Friday morning at one minute after midnight unless it is disapproved by the General Assembly's Administrative, Executive and Legislative Review committee.

The second order calls for an inventory of present fuel supplies and expected future supplies of major distributors and users in Maryland.

As part of the order Mandel directed the State Transportation department to begin immediately putting up new speed limit signs.

Local Doctor Elected To AAFP Membership

Thomas G. Johnson, M. D. Oakland, has been elected to active membership in the American Academy of Family Physicians, a national association of more than 31,000 family doctors, at a meeting in Kansas City, Mo. The Academy, formerly was called the American Academy of General Practice.

As a member of AAFP, Dr. Johnson will be required to complete 150 hours of continuing medical study every three years. The program, unique among national medical associations, is designed to help member physicians keep abreast of the latest scientific developments in medicine.

Founded in 1947, the AAFP is the country's second largest national medical association. It was instrumental in the establishment of a new primary specialty in family practice in 1969. The Academy's continuing education program is the foundation of eligibility for family doctors now in practice who apply for certification in the new specialty.

WOULDN'T THE PILGRIMS BE AMAZED?

In Grandma's day, you had to buy a big bird and start preparing it early in the day, if not the day before. Now, since turkeys are produced in consumer sizes ranging from 8 to 22 pounds, you can select the size to suit your needs. Better yet, for singles, couples, or the budget-conscious who want a traditional dinner but something smaller or more convenient, there are turkey parts or boneless roasts to fit every need.

Big turkeys, those weighing 16 pounds or over, are generally a better buy. Not only do they usually sell for a few cents less per pound than the smaller ones, but there is also a larger portion of meat to bone.

Young birds – more tender than old ones -- will be labeled "young turkey," "fryer-roaster" "young hen," or "young tom." They are suited for barbecuing, frying, broiling, or roasting.

The amount of turkey to buy depends on the number of servings needed and whether or not leftovers are wanted. When buying a whole turkey, allow at least ¾ pound per person -- but you'll probably want more for Thanksgiving dinner.

Turkey is a "four season" food favorite from coast to coast but it is still a favorite for Thanksgiving dinner.

Sweet potatoes are in peak supply. We should include them in our meal planning for they are a good source of Vitamin A. When buying sweet potatoes choose those that are smooth and plump, fresh bright, dry and clean to avoid decay. Similar in size and shape to insure uniform cooking. One pound (2 or 3 medium size) will make 3 servings. Slight scars on the skin do not injure the flesh.

Sweet potatoes bruise easily, so should be handled gently. Store in a dry place that is neither too hot nor too cold. 55 to 60 degrees F. is ideal.

Plan to include the sweet potato in your Thanksgiving dinner.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

Before we do away with all of our traditional Christmas lights, let's take a look at a news release from the Philadelphia Electric Company: "Don't worry about wasting power by using Christmas Tree lights. . .a string of 50 Christmas tree lights uses no more power than a 100-watt light bulb." According to a spokesman for the company, if a homeowner kept the string of 50 lights burning 24 hours a day for 31 days, he would burn up about $2.96 worth of electricity. A frost-free refrigerator would use about $8.00 worth of electricity in the same period.

WASHINGTON REPORT
FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

Detente and the Middle East

For the past three weeks, the world has again heard the thunder of warfare in the Middle East.

This part of the world has been simmering with hostilities for the past 25 years, and this attack on Israel marked the fourth time it has boiled over into open combat. The destruction and loss of lives has again been enormous.

In each instance, Israel has been able to maintain the territorial integrity of the Jewish state, but there has never been a real peace—only the tense and uneasy calm of a cease fire.

Once again, there is an uncertain armistice. United Nations observers have been sent to the battle areas, and a U.N. resolution will provide a starting point for negotiations that may finally bring a permanent settlement.

Yet even a cease fire might not have been possible were it not for a determined joint effort by the United States and the Soviet Union.

I believe that the American and Soviet initiative is a direct result of the East-West detente that has been fostered by President Nixon. This is a very tenuous sort of thing that both we and the Russians have been working very hard to preserve.

It is equally important to note that the resolution that brings about the cease fire was passed unanimously by the United Nations Security Council.

The United States and Russia were not working alone. The world leaders were setting an example for other countries by working through the United Nations and making it a viable peace-keeping instrumentality.

It should also be pointed out that the United States and Russia have not tried to impose a peace settlement but have sought to bring about negotiations through the framework of the United Nations. It will be up to Israel and the Arab world to come up with a final settlement.

The importance of the East-West detente in this whole matter can be seen in the fact that the United States and the Soviet Union can use their strength to foment wars or to bring people together so that we can all live in peace.

I was impressed to have heard the above statement from Soviet party leader Leonid Brezhnev when I visited Russia earlier this year with several other members of the Senate Commerce Committee.

Admittedly, we must be very cautious in our dealings with the Soviet Union, but I think that is the kind of attitude we must have if there is to be peace in the years ahead.

School Board

William Buser said the school personnel would support this effort, that periodic building checks would be held and that on-going publicity related to necessary conservation measures would take place.

Dr. Buser indicated that the meeting of all principals and supervisory personnel, Tuesday, November 20, helped firm up more specific procedures related to implementing the board policy. In implementing this policy four major phases would be followed subject to the influence of federal and state officials. One, all out campaign to conserve fuel, two, possible exclusion of non-school related functions in the night hours, three, possible exclusion of school-related functions in the night hours, and; four, only if necessary, a realignment of the day school schedules to conserve fuel.

Other staff members for the new bank are J. Thomas Miller of Barton and Mrs. F. Eileen Poland of Westernport.

Plans are still being made to contract a modern banking building on property owned by the bank on the opposite side of the Plaza from the temporary quarters. It is hoped that construction on that building will get underway sometime next spring.

This brings to six the number of branch offices now operated by the First National. The main office is located at 19 S. Second Street, Oakland.

WASHINGTON REPORT
FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

Food Additive Questions

American children are probably the healthiest and best cared for boys and girls in the world. Medical research has conquered childhood diseases such as polio, and we have improved the nutrition of many youngsters by providing milk and balanced meals through the federally-assisted school lunch program.

Our children are growing up to be taller, stronger and healthier than any previous generation of Americans, but we have not solved all of our youngsters' health problems.

New medications and therapy are constantly being developed, and earlier this year I became aware of the work of a West Coast doctor who is moving in a different direction.

Dr. Ben F. Feingold of San Francisco wrote to me about a bill I introduced to improve the teaching of reading in our schools. He said that reading problems may be related to a disorder called hyperkinesis or hyperactivity, in children, because it can affect a child's ability to concentrate.

The interesting thing about Dr. Feingold's work is that he was able to eliminate the disorder, or dramatically reduce it, simply by putting children on a special diet rather than prescribing a variety of potent drugs.

The startling thing about the diet is that there is nothing special about it except that it is free of all artificial food flavoring, coloring and additives.

As a member of the Senate Health Subcommittee, this has impressed me as a potential discovery of great importance. I have therefore asked that Dr. Feingold be invited to testify about his work when the subcommittee meets for hearings later this month.

Hyperkinesis has been affecting an increasing number of our children. One study found that incidence among schoolchildren has risen from about 2 per cent to more than 20 per cent over the past 12 years.

If it is possible that there is a link between this condition and the presence of artificial food additives, then it would appear that Dr. Feingold has not just found a cure. He may have found a major cause of the disorder and a reason for its increasing presence among our children.

The Health Subcommittee will be looking into these questions as we go forth with our hearings in mid-November. It may also be advisable to conduct a broader investigation supported by a federal research grant.

If this link is found to exist, then we would be in a position to do several things.

First, we would be able to treat hyperactivity in many cases without resorting to [illegible] and perhaps dangerous drugs.

Looking further into the situation, we might perhaps want to examine the entire question of artificial coloring, flavor and other food additives with regard to their potentially dangerous effects on humans.

Keeping One's Identity

Is it a good thing to forget the past? In a recent issue of Intellectual Digest Charles Robbins contends that putting one's past and present together is a key to happy living, and he cites the example of our late President Harry S. Truman, for one to follow.

Says Mr. Robbins, "Some people, including many of those who have retired, try to use the past as an escape from the present; but President Truman used it to put the present in perspective."

In a letter to Mrs. Truman some time after the late president's death, Robbins spoke of the man as he knew him during the summer of 1953. "I was president of the country," he seemed to be saying, "but I don't want to forget I'm also the fellow who went to school in Independence, Missouri and plowed a pretty straight furrow on this farm."

Unlike many who retire with plans to use endless leisure time for fishing, golfing and recreation and who then find themselves bored and disoriented, Truman always seemed to have his bearings. He seemed to know exactly why he was in his position in time. Says Robbins, "I've never met anyone whose idea of his own identity was clearer."

Nearly everyone knows the story of Cinderella and the pumpkin which turned into a golden coach and then into a pumpkin again. President Truman viewed the presidency in a somewhat similar form. It was a "temporary" position where a man, an ordinary citizen, had enough power in his hands to dazzle a foreign dictator or conquer a world, and after the end of his supreme experience he drops back into an everyday life and is expected to carry on as if nothing much had ever happened. This was the essence of democracy as Truman saw it. Or, as he put it, he loved the idea that "anybody can be President and, when he reaches the end of his term, he can become anybody again."

Harry S. Truman found contentment in retired years in the philosophy expressed by Kipling: "If you can walk with Kings and not lose the common touch, yours is the earth and everything that's in it."—and what's more—"you'll be a man, my son." —U. S. Press Association.

Forced Busing Hasn't Worked

About a year ago Prof. David Armor of Harvard University stirred up a storm of controversy when he released a study which indicated that in half-a-dozen causes of forced school busing. None of the Federal bureaucratic theories had been realized and in some cases the exact opposite has occurred.

Now another study has been published, this time by the Indiana Law Review 735 West New York Street, Indianapolis, even more extensive than the first, which shows that far from achieving the alleged goals of busing, the situation has become worse, not better.

The study, conducted by Jeffery J. Leech, examines the results of school busing in ten major cities. It's report: "In every city studied busing failed to reduce the gap between black and white achievement. In fact more cities reported that the achievement gap had grown even larger after busing."

Leech further reports that the results show "busing to be psychologically harmful rather than beneficial" and that "in no city did busing appear to increase interracial contact or better understanding."

The study concludes: "In light of the tremendous social, political and economic costs being paid for busing, the absence of any consistent educational gains, the deleterious psychological impact of busing upon black children, and the increasing polarization of the races. . . a re-examination is long overdue."

Which is another way of saying: it is time to stop the foolishness of busing children to other schools far from their neighborhoods and get back to the job of seeing that every child—black or white, and in whatever school he may be—gets a better education. If we really want to help children, we had better pay more attention to what we put into their heads and hearts rather than where

The Potomac Valley conference tournament will be held at Frostburg on January 31 and February 2. The bi-county qualifying rounds will be staged February 11 to 15.

Jim Hart is the coach.

Warmth Varies Weather Pattern

Unseasonably warm temperatures added variety to the week's weather, as indicated by a glance at the weather pattern for the past week.

Last Thursday was partly cloudy and breezy, turning rainy later in the day. On Friday, the 16th, what began as rain changed into snow flurries, and some snow accumulated on the ground before Saturday.

Snow flurries continued through Saturday, although skies cleared shortly before dusk. Sunday began with some sunshine interspersed with clouds, and became overcast in the afternoon, with some light drizzle.

The new week dawned foggily and the day remained misty and wet. Tuesday was much better, with clear skies and balmy temperatures. Wednesday was overcast by clouds only lightly, and the temperature was 45 at 8 a.m.

Doe Crosses Lawn

A large doe, apparently sure of its immunity from being shot at during the coming deer season starting Saturday, loped across the court house lawn in Oakland on Tuesday morning about 9:30.

The doe was spotted by Clifford DeWitt, clerk to Richard L. Davis' office, and other court house employes. DeWitt said it came from the Selby property, crossed Alder, traveled across the lawn, then across the parking lot and Oak street, when it was lost to view.

A dog appeared a short time later, apparently continuing the chase.

IT'S NONE OF OUR BUSINESS
No matter which company writes your fire insurance, premiums are based on rates established by the Maryland Insurance Services Office (formerly known as the Maryland Fire Underwriters Rating Bureau).
Each business property beyond a nominal size has at one time or another been individually rated in accordance with the construction and occupancy hazards which existed on the day of inspection. But, since re-inspections are seldom made without request, rates often continue as originally determined despite favorable changes in the rating factors.
Without authority for an analysis of the charges and credits which make up your rate schedule, it's none of our business. However, should you be interested in this kind of insurance service, we'll make it our business — promptly and free of obligation. Just call our Oakland office — 334-9424.

Several Treated In Area Accidents

Several persons were treated and released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following recent area accidents. Others were injured but no notation of treatment was indicated.

Carroll W. Hahn, 56, Second Street, Oakland, was treated and released from the hospital following a one-car mishap on the Crellin road just east of Dilly road last Thursday evening.

Hahn was traveling east when an unidentified vehicle coming east, crossed the center line of the roadway forcing Hahn to go to the right and hit a telephone pole. Trooper Dale K. Williams made no charges.

Three Baltimore people were treated and released from the hospital following a mishap on the Sand Flat road a short distance east of U. S. Route 219, the afternoon of November 9.

William M. Clark, 41, operator of the car, Joan Clark, 39, and Cecilia Clark, 39, passengers, were treated and released from the hospital. Another passenger was not injured.

Robert W. Bowser, in a truck, was traveling west on Sand Flat road. Clark driving east applied his brakes, skidded on the ice and hit the truck. Tfc. Robert Friend made no charges.

Donna M. Christner, 12, of Springs, Pa., passenger in a car driven by Linda E. House, of Grantsville, was slightly injured in a two-car accident on U. S. Route 40 in Grantsville the morning of November 10.

George G. Clendenin, Potomac, was driving west on Route 40. Linda E. House, Grantsville, started to go east on Route 40 from Casselman Motors, and stated she could not see due to parked cars along Route 40. She eased out and collided with the Clendenin car. Tfc. D. E. Tharp charged Linda House with operating without proper license.

Barbara E. Durst, 19, Salisbury, Pa., and her passenger, Beverly A. Estock, Alexandria, Va., were injured in a two-car mishap near the above accident about an hour later.

Olin E. Broadwater, of New Brighton, Pa., traveling east on Route 40 stopped in the lane of traffic for a vehicle making a right turn. Barbara Durst following was unable to stop and hit the rear of the Broadwater car. Tfc. Tharp made no charges.

Summons To Greatness

"Summons to Greatness," is a collection of inspirational thoughts and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is another one of the messages:

"We cannot learn from one another until we stop shouting at one another—until we speak quietly enough so that our words can be heard as well as our voices.

"I believe that if human beings can reach the moon, human beings can reach an understanding with each other.

"We can afford neither to blind our eyes with hatred, nor to distort our vision with rose-colored glasses. The real world is too much with us to permit either stereotyped reacting or wishful thinking to lay waste our powers.

"Unless we can find a way to speak plainly, truly, unselfconsciously, about the facts of public life, we may find that our grip on the forces of history is too loose to control our own destiny.

"Government can pass laws. But respect for law comes only from people who take the law into their hearts and minds—not into their hands. Government can provide opportunity. But, opportunity means nothing unless people are prepared to seize it.

"We think of the mystery of government in this country and the world—the secret of how government can survive for free men. And we think of the terms 'change' and 'continuity.' Change without continuity can be anarchy. Change with continuity can mean progress. And continuity without change can mean no progress.

"Long before the art of economics had a name, it was called 'political arithmetic.' The American people expect their elected officials to do their political arithmetic honestly.

"As we think of the beginning of this country 196 years ago, we think of it as the land of the free. We should all be reminded that it could not be the land of the free if it were not also the home of the brave."

To Hold Unit Meetings

The League of Women Voters will hold unit meetings on Monday, November 26 with the subject, "Land Use in Maryland."

Both meetings will be at the home of Mrs. Herbert H. Leighton, Bennett Road. The morning unit will meet at 9:30 and the evening at 7:30.

Post Mail Earlier Than Scheduled

Residents of the Oakland area were urged this week by Guy William Hmebaugh, postmaster to post their domestic and foreign Christmas mail one to two weeks earlier than the postal service originally recommended, so that the energy shortage would not interfere with on-time deliveries. He also suggested a two weeks advancement for foreign mail.

The new deadline for posting domestic first-class Christmas mail is December 8 rather than December 15. Domestic surface parcels, except those for Alaska and Hawaii, are to be mailed by December 3. To Alaska and Wawan the date should be November 23.

Airmail parcels and letters within the United States are to be posted no later than December 15. To Alaska and Hawain the date is December 13.

The seriousness of the fuel shortage to the postal service was underlined by Mr. Hmebaugh by the fact that in addition to the fuel consumed by commercial air carriers, some 350 million gallons of fuel is required to travel 225 billion miles delivering the 90 billion pieces of mail that flow through the system each year. Requirement for December is 45 million gallons, according to Postmaster Hmebaugh.

Bank Is Conserving Nation's Energy

In support of President Nixon's request to conserve the nation's energy the Garrett National Bank in Oakland has extinguished all flood lights and outside lights, other than those required for security purposes, at its main office and five branch offices, according to Q. Nordeck Shaffer, executive vice president.

Mr. Shaffer also stated that they were in process of eliminating as much as possible all lighting on outdoor advertising and displays. Employees also have been requested to conserve on electricity during working hours with most lights within the building being extinguished during the night. In addition all thermostats have been lowered throughout the system.

Two Are Guilty Of Assault And Battery In Court

Three cases of assault and battery were heard in District Court last Thursday. Two were found guilty by Judge Milton Gerson, Cumberland, and one case was dismissed. An arson case has been transferred to Circuit Court.

Joseph C. DeWitt and Russell Ervin both of Mt. Lake Park, were both charged with assault and battery on Harvey Junior Bittinger on the H-P Stores parking lot in Mt. Lake Park on November 11. Both pleaded not guilty but were found guilty. DeWitt was fined $100 and $10 costs and Ervin was fined $10 and $10 costs.

Charles W. Stinson, Mt. Lake Park, had been charged with assault and battery on his wife, Joanita Stinson at her home in Mt. Lake Park on November 4. The case was dismissed as the wife would not testify against her husband.

The case of Lester Martin Lewis, Jr., charged with arson of a motor vehicle of Ralph Rodeheaver, was transferred to Circuit Court at a hearing November 12.

One Natural Resource case was heard in District Court.

Raymond W. Klotz, Main Street, McHenry, pleaded not guilty to having a loaded firearm in a vehicle. Judge Gerson placed him on probation without verdict at a trial last Thursday.

Thanksgiving Meal Will Cost More

Cost of this year's Thanksgiving bird is flying high this year, as noted in spot-checks at various grocery stores locally.

This year, turkey is on sale at approximately 58 cents per pound for birds over 18 pounds, compared with 35 cents a pound last year.

Smaller birds, ten to 11 pounds, cost 65 to 89 cents for each pound this week, compared with 45-50 cents per pound last year.

Chickens aren't much cheaper, just smaller. Cost today is 53 cents per pound of uncut chicken; last year's cost was 39 cents.

Hams to replace the roasted turkey will cost $1.29 per pound, compared with 89 cents per pound last year.

To add cranberry relish to the meal will also cost a little more this year. Whole cranberries were 29 to 33 cents per pound of fresh berries, and now are 39 cents per pound. Canned cranberries, whole or strained, are 23 cents, about the same as the previous year.

Use Camman Sense In Fuel Distribution

Wholesale suppliers were asked today to use a "common sense approach" in allocating middle distillate fuels to customers during the current transitional period of the mandatory allocation program effective November 1, according to J. Walter Margoff chairman, Garrett County ASC committee.

Mr. Margoff stated that Dale R. Ligon, director, Office of Oil and Gas U. S. Department of the Interior told wholesale suppliers that "the mandatory program does not require that all customers be reduced to the same volumes (or less) purchased in 1972, unless a reduction is necessary to ensure that all customers get a fair share of their 1972 purchases."

"We ask that suppliers allocate those excess fuels to customers on a fan-share basis, using the amount of fuel a customer bought in October, 1973, as a guide," Ligon said.

November 22-28, 1973
Lunar Phase

Saturday the moon passes between the sun and the earth. The instant these bodies are in line, the moon is in its New Moon Phase. This occurs at 3:13 p.m. Moonset ranges from 3:25 p.m. today to 8:14 p.m. next Wednesday.

Lunar Apogee

Only 405,800 kilometers (252,200 miles) separate the moon and earth at 8:00 a.m. Wednesday. This is the greatest separation of the "twin planets" this month. It is 43,000 kilometers (27,000 miles) greater than the perigee separation which last occurred on November 12th.

Comet Kohoutek

In the southeast close to the horizon at 5:15 a.m., the comet may be seen as a fuzzy star elongated toward the west. Binoculars will be needed although some people may see our visitor with the unaided eye.

Visible Planets

Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter, Saturn, all five planets that may be seen by the unaided eye are visible this week. Mercury is to the upper left of the moon on Friday morning. It may be seen about one hour before sunrise in the east southeast. Venus sets about two and one-half hours after the sun. It is among the stars of Sagittarius. Mars, among the stars of Pisces, is well up in the east sky at sunset. Jupiter sets about four and one-half hours after the sun. It is among the stars of Capricornus. Saturn rises two hours after sunset with the stars of Gemini. For a short time after Saturn rises four planets may be seen in the sky at the same time.

Daylight Decreases

By Wednesday daylight lasts only nine hours thirty-nine minutes. The sun rose at 7:10 a.m. this morning. It will set at 4:58 p.m. Wednesday has nine minutes less daylight than today. The sun rises six minutes later and sets three minutes earlier than it does today.

Feature Notes Lady Landfill Clerk

A locally related lady was featured in a story in the Potomac News, of Manassas, Va., issue of November 9. It concerned the job of Mrs. Margaret Scott, of Manassas, who holds down the clerk's job at the Prince William Sanitary Landfill.

Mrs. Scott is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Coffey, Cumberland, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Colfey, Oakland.

As landfill clerk, Mrs. Scott checks trucks as they come into the landfill, checking yardage of trash the trucks are carrying and totals the amount they are to be billed each month. Her husband is employed by Orkin Pest Control. Prior to working at the landfill Mrs. Scott had worked for the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare and at a shoe store in Cumberland.

The feature concerned how adequately she was filling a job formerly done by men.

ON NOT LOSING HEART

Lesson for November 25, 1973

Background Scripture: 2 Corinthians 4:1 through 5:10
Devotional Reading: 2 Corinthians 4:7-18

"Cheer up, things will be better!"

How often have we heard or given that piece of advice? Sometimes, of course, there is some truth in it. Very often people are discouraged because they can't see their problem in perspective. It is, perhaps, not as serious as they imagine. Sometimes it is a matter of being patient and waiting for help that is "just around the corner." Some people very obviously give up hope much too soon.

Rev. Althouse

When "things" do not "get better"

It is also true, however, that sometimes the advice is false. We know that there are some situations which do not get better; in fact, they get worse. We know that sometimes the help we need does not come, sometimes we are not saved in the nick of time." If "cheering up" is dependent upon things "getting better," there are some of us who may legitimately remain gloomy.

How do you maintain your hope and courage when things are not likely going to "get better"? Is it possible?

According to Paul it is: "So we do not lose heart" (2 Corinthians 4:16). What is it that keeps Paul from "losing heart" even when his situation shows no signs of improvement?

One of Paul's answers is that even while our 'outer nature is wasting away, our inner nature is being renewed every day" (2 Corinthians 4:16b). Even though our physical body may be deteriorating, even though the external circumstances of our lives may remain chaotic and difficult, nevertheless, we can become stronger inside. We can grow within as we continue to suffer without.

The principle here is that inner security does not depend upon external circumstances. Things may be going well for us, but we may still be fearful and unhappy. On the other hand, we may know people who, despite their unfortunate external circumstances, seem to grow stronger in love, patience, and compassion.

The present is momentary

A second reason advanced by Paul is that, however poor our external circumstances in this life may be, this suffering and hardship is a relatively short period in the joyous eternity that God has prepared for us. We can put up with this situation, if we know there is something much better that is coming.

In effect, Paul is telling us to fix our attention on the things we cannot see at the moment. The things we can see now are, for all their danger, only temporary. They are real enough, but they are not enduring. We can take hope in the midst of a seemingly "hopeless" situation. Paul says, if we "will look not to the things that are seen but to the things that are unseen; for the things that are seen are transient, but the things that are unseen are eternal" (2 Corinthians 4:18).

If we keep our eyes on the eternal things, we will not lose heart.

From all over the world people come to visit her at Plymouth Harbor. They speak in many tongues, but their tone of amazement is always the same. How did the Pilgrims do it? How did over 100 men, women and children exist in those cramped quarters and that 67-day voyage across the vast and treacherous Atlantic?

A replica of Mayflower II, this small craft required a feat of seamanship even in these modern times, when she was sailed across the seas to Plymouth. But she is also sturdy and her decks echo with history.

How did the Pilgrims do it? They had an overwhelming goal, great courage and most important of all, tremendous faith. They lived to offer thanksgiving—but as human and frail and frightened as any of us.

A strong faith can be found in your church today. Consider it, won't you?

Child Development Project: Reaching Out To 133 Children

by Carol Callan

Garrett County — scene of [illegible] picturesque [illegible] is also [illegible] for [illegible] young people [illegible] over the U. S. [illegible] standard.

Some 48 percent of [illegible] nestled among the forested hills are [illegible] according to a 1970 survey made by the University of Maryland Extension Service.

Wages are low with 33 percent of the workers [illegible] under $2,900. Unemployment is high, running as high as 18 percent in the winter months. State figures on the $2,900 earning indicate that 12.4 percent of the state residents earn that "little" according to a 1970 survey by the Maryland Division of Economic Development and the Garrett County Development Corp.

Doctors and dentists are [illegible] literally overwhelmed by the ratio of 59 doctors to 100,000 patients, and 10 dentists to 100,000 patients. National ratios are 150 doctors per 100,000 patients and 27 dentists per 100,000.

Malnutrition is a problem as well. Garrett county exhibits a significantly higher ratio of infant and prenatal deaths than the other two Appalachian counties in Maryland. A new Head Start center in this county found 60 percent of the 30 pupils enrolled were found anemic.

Lack of transportation is another detriment for the area, as it isolates many children from social, educational and recreational opportunities.

Ways to solve the above problems are varied, many people are working to help resolve such critical ones as health and transportation.

But what of the young children, aged 0-5 years, still in their home in such remote areas as Walnut Bottom and Kempton. What of their early development and health outlook?

There is a relatively new program at Community Action, designated as the Child Development Project which has been created to [illegible]

Aimed at three avenues to reach children - not only those who are isolated, but those who may need special help because they are handicapped in some way.

Through a family center at Bradley Manor, Oakland, a mobile van which travels to outlying areas, and four home visitors, the Child Development Project reaches 99 families with 133 children.

Parent involvement is important in all three phases. The project is not to tell parents that they're not doing a good job, but rather to show them how they're already helping their children and to point out to them additional ways to help.

At Bradley Manor Family Center parents are encouraged to drop in or stay the full four hours a child is present at the center, open Tuesday through Friday. Parents give a hand helping clean up after snacks, or may observe.

Monday are the [illegible] day for the head teacher [illegible] Klotz, and her assistants Mabel Jones, Betty Lou Lewis, and Mrs. Louise Harvey. parent involvement [illegible] which were handled [illegible] of a social worker.

educative value of various activities.

The four home visitors, Peggy Lambert, Carolyn Gerlitz, Clara Hendrickson and JoAnn Shaffer, cover the county in areas including Lake Rock, Gorman, Route 40, Hazel Swanton, Oakland, and Friendsville "back-packing" activity items into the homes and involving parents in ways to broaden children's educational activities.

All the home visitors and others seem enthusiastic about their jobs and all are taking college classes at GCC to further their understanding of early childhood development and ways to enrich a child's life without impoverishing the parents.

One home visitor is not daunted even by the fact that she must ride a snowmobile to reach a family in a remote house traveling to and from the home with a member of the family.

In addition to aiding and enriching experiences for children, visitors help parents teach their handicapped. One home visitor works with blind [illegible] in the county, helping them to catch up with these children who have the advantage of sight.

The Child Development Project is headed by director Miss Patricia Finan who tries to be everywhere at once handling problems and lending assistance or just a listening ear.

Duane Yoder is Resources Coordinator and helps to just [illegible] coordinate activities between the Project and the three principal agencies concerned with children - the Health Department, Department of Social Service and the Extension Service as well as liason between the director and [illegible]

Joan Harvey is secretary and to her falls the duties of aiding the project director and coordinator as well as [illegible] and [illegible]

Funding for the project [illegible] the Appalachian Regional Commission, the State Department of Employment and Social Services to Community Action Committee, Inc. Budget for the first year, which began in May of this year, was set at $43,000 and listed for a second year are almost 100 percent [illegible]

Some of these funds have been designated for health [illegible] and all children participating in the program have a free physical checkup through the health department. Even though many of the children enrolled in the program have a medical card through the Social Services department, transportation and setting up of appointments is aided through the development project, which also has limited funds available for emergency health needs.

How is a child enrolled in the Project? Income of the family is not the only criteria, as isolation from other families and other factors, such as need and parent cooperation, are involved.

Future plans of the project will possibly be expanded to include taking children on field trips, such as to Storybook Forest or similar areas; setting up a day-care center for working mothers at a central location and setting up a family center in the northern part of the county.

Is the project worthwhile? Time may be a factor in pointing out the eventual worth of the project, but according to Duane Yoder, "If children are to compete in this country, they need every help they can get to overcome advantages which come readily to those in more metropolitan areas."

And no one can dispute that fact.

OPEN LINE

By
Congressman Goodloe Byron
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues. let me assist you with your problems, request information typical of the kind asked of me on or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c o U S. House of Representatives, Washington, D C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks.

What is Congress doing about finding new sources of energy?

Legislation has been introduced in the House that would establish a federally-sponsored demonstration project to test the feasibility of utilizing solar energy to heat and cool homes and businesses. I have co-sponsored the bill because I feel that with an adequate demonstration program and carefully designed economic incentives, the market for solar heating and cooling will prove popular with the American homeowner and become a viable private enterprise. Estimates from the Federal Council for Science & Technology indicate that 10 per cent of all new buildings constructed in 1985 could utilize solar energy resulting in an estimated national fuel savings of $3.5 billion. The opportunities are great, and we as a Nation must be willing and able to seize upon this new energy source, especially at this critical time in history.

Can you suggest any guidelines to conserve heating fuel and home energy in general?

During the last several weeks, many of you have asked me for a list of home energy conservation tips and also comprehensive published material on the subject. The Citizens' Advisory Committee on Environmental Quality has put out an informative booklet -- Citizen Action Guide To Energy Conservation - -which you may want to order through the Superintendent of Documents, the U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. Among other things, the Advisory Committee recommends set lower the thermostat a few degrees and wear heavier clothing, close the draperies at night, keep the fireplace damper closed when not in use, close doors and don't heat empty rooms, keep your furnace in good condition, fix leaky faucets, and prevent drafts from open windows and attic doors. The Advisory Committee notes that lowering the thermostat at night from 75 to 67 and during the day from 75 to 70 will mean a winter fuel savings of approximately $38 in gas $30 in oil or $110 in electric costs. Next to heating and all appliances combined, lighting consumes the largest portion of the average family's electrical bill. The Committee suggests turning off lights in unused rooms and the use of lower watt bulbs and the more efficient fluorescent lights. Finally, the Committee recommends using the dishwasher and clothes dryer only when filled to capacity. They list the annual cost of energy consumed by all home appliances as a guideline for use. For instance, a range costs approximately $36 a year in fuel, a clothes dryer - $20, a 16 cubic foot freezer - $70, a 12 cubic foot refrigerator - $48 and a color TV - $13. More detailed information on conserving home energy, as well as transportation and industrial energy, is available from the Citizen Action Guide and other pamphlets published by the U. S. Government Printing Office.

Whatever became of the Rural Environmental Assistance program (REAP) which was terminated the end of last year?

Several weeks ago Congress passed the 1973 farm bill reactivating the Rural Environmental Assistance Program and authorizing it to place greater emphasis on long-term conservation practices.

Will the Treasury Department mint special coins to mark our Nation's 200th Birthday?

Plans are underway to provide a new coinage design emblematic of the bicentennial of the American Revolution for the U.S. dollars, half dollars and quarters. In addition, 45 million silver-clad commemorative coins will be minted with profits from the sales of these coins going into the Treasury's general fund.

What disclosure requirements must a land developer provide to a potential buyer?

Under new regulations of the Full Disclosure Act a developer must take specific disclosures concerning physical access to the property, availability of drinking water, utilities, sewage, year-round fire protection and flood insurance. Details must be given about whose responsibility it is to provide these services and what costs will accrue to the buyer. The property report must disclose records of law suits or diciplinary actions taken against the developer, the developer's financial standing and plans, and a statement of "special risk factors" including property restrictions. A full list of consumer's rights in this area can be obtained by writing the Housing and Urban Development Department's Office of Interstate Land Sales Registration.

What per cent of U.S. energy consumption results from automobile use?

Industry, commerce and transport account for 70 per cent of U.S. energy consumption, with private cars and home heating the other big users.

Where can I obtain a copy of the publication called Aging?

According to the Office of Consumer Affairs Aging is published six times a year by the Administration on Aging. The publication is designed to share information among individuals, agencies and organizations who are concerned with the welfare of the aged. Subscriptions are available for $4.50 from the Public Documents Distribution Center, Tabor Avenue, Philadelphia.

Economic Controls Face Review

There is no doubt that our country is at a crossroads with respect to the economy. We soon must choose whether to renew, remove or revise the "temporary" controls on wages and prices that now are in their third year and fourth phase.

I have chaired a series of Senate hearings on the way the Cost of Living Council administers the wage-price controls. We learned at the hearings of the hardships and tribulations that businessmen must endure because of the confusion and uncertainty created by the ever-changing dictates of the Council.

We have learned that a shoppy, half-way effort at controls is perhaps the worst alternative. One witness called it "worse than no controls at all." Scattered efforts cannot control inflation, but establish limited areas of government intervention and distrust in the economy.

What we need is a restoration of confidence and a clear understanding of what our economic goals are and what the government is doing to achieve them.

This means that the Cost of Living Council must open its doors to businessmen when policy is being formed; must make its rules and guidelines widely available for public understanding; and must be consistent in its decisions so that they will be applied consistently in individual cases.

Before a new round of legislation is enacted next year to determine the future course of the wage-price program, I will work to see that it includes safeguards to guarantee fair play for those affected by the policies and rulings of the Cost of Living Council and whatever governmental unit succeeds it. This also applies to any standby authority requested, if it is decided that the controls should be phased out or further reduced.

Tea Held By League

A tea to encourage new persons to join the League of Women voters was held Sunday at the home of Mrs. Ann Englander, North Second Street.

About 40 persons including members and several prospective members attended.

The program was prepared by Mrs. Barbara Flinn, membership chairman.

Officers and members of the board explained the organization and policies of the league.

It was stated in the announcement last week that the tea was to be held at the home of Mrs. Clifford England through a misunderstanding.

It has been said that the small town is not dying but holding on.

WASHINGTON REPORT
FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL JR.

The War Powers Act

Congress has finally laid to rest one of the longest debates we have seen in recent years.

The War Powers Act became law on Nov. 7 when both the House and Senate voted to pass the bill over the President's veto.

I joined in voting for this legislation because I believe that Congress has an obligation and a constitutional responsibility in deciding whether to commit American troops to battle.

The President is commander-in-chief of our armed forces, but Congress alone has the power to declare war. Since war is so devastating and has such tragic effects on the lives of all Americans, there should be unanimity in deciding on military action.

In my opinion, the War Powers Act does not restrict a President's ability to react in situations of immediate danger to our country. But it does establish guidelines and limitations on committing American troops in overseas actions for extended periods. It does make the President accountable to Congress for his actions.

When American troops are ordered into action overseas, the President will have to report to Congress within 48 hours on the steps he has taken, the circumstances leading to his decision, the scope of his action and his authority to take such action.

Those are the guidelines that any President will be obligated to follow, and I believe they are reasonable ones.

The limitations come next, and they are the heart of the bill.

Unless Congress expressly approves of an overseas military action, the President will be required to halt that operation after 60 days.

Congress will have the additional power to order an immediate halt of U.S. involvement at any time during that 60-day period by passing a resolution that would not be subject to a veto.

The only exception to these limitations could occur if the President notified Congress that additional time was needed to protect the withdrawal of American forces. The President would then be allowed no more than 30 days to end the U.S. involvement.

Thus, the absolute maximum for unilateral action by a President would be 90 days.

Some critics say this will weaken the President's power to defend our country. One of my colleagues declared, "Whether we like it or not, the only way in this tough world to preserve peace and freedom is by keeping America strong and being able and ready to defend it."

I agree fully with that statement, but I also believe that there is more to be said.

Senator Stennis, the Chairman of the Armed Services Committee, made a crucial point in explaining his vote to pass the War Powers Act.

He said, in part, that during his years in Congress he has seen two wars started, in Korea and Vietnam, without Congress having a vote on either one of them. "I blame myself for this more than anyone else," he said.

That same responsibility is still with each of us today. We do not want to restrict the President, nor do we want to relieve him.

We have simply come to recognize the equally important responsibilities and constitutional mandate, for the constructive judgment of both the President and Congress in this area.

Real Estate

Situate in Election District No. 2 Garrett County, Maryland

Under and by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, passed on November 2, 1973, in the proceedings in No. 5834 Equity in said Court, wherein Arnold Savage and others are plaintiffs, and Glenn Savage and others are defendants, the undersigned being authorized and directed to sell the property hereinafter described, do hereby give notice that on

Saturday, the 8th day of December, 1973

at the hour of 10:00 a.m. in front of the Court House in the Town of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, we will offer and sell, at public auction, all of those two pieces or parcels of land situate along Bear Creek in Election District No. 2, Garrett County, Maryland, and described as follows, to wit:

FIRST: Beginning for the first piece or parcel of land hereby intended to be conveyed at a stone pile at the end of the line of said tract which runs north 38 degrees West, 45 perches, and riming thence with original lines of the said tract, north 59 degrees west 38 perches, north 30 degrees west 54 perches, north 26 perches, south 36 degrees west 88 perches, South 89 degrees East 35 perches, South 66 degrees East 63 perches, thence by a straight line of the beginning, containing 18 acres, more or less.

Reserving, however, two rights of way over the land above described, the purpose of the two rights of way, hereby reserved and excepted, being to give a permanent and convenient outlet for the land lying on the south and east to the state road and the same to be of sufficient width that vehicles having occasion to use the roads could easily and conveniently pass each other on the said roads and to be an appurtenance to the land belonging to the said Troy C Friend to the south and east

SECOND: Also all that other part of the tract called High Water Resurveyed and a small part of the tract called Generals Wish, the same lying along the State Road leading from Friendsville to Route No. 219 along Bear Creek and on the north side of said stream and begins at a point on the north side of Bear Creek where the 37th line of High Water Resurveyed crosses the said stream, and runs with the said 37th line to a point on the north side of Bear Creek, thence up said stream and on the north side thereof to the place of beginning, and contains one and one-half acres, more or less.

Being the same as conveyed by Troy C. Friend, to Erwin Savage and Gean Savage by deed dated December 17, 1943, and recorded in Liber A.G.R. No. 134, folio 398, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The above described two tracts of land ajoin the hard surfaced county highway leading from United States Route No 219 to the Town of Friendsville. It is covered by young timber with Bear Creek meandering through part of the same. This would be a good investment property.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third cash on day of sale, balance payable upon ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland. All taxes and other public charges will be adjusted as of day of sale.

Thanksgiving Bird Treed By Wily Dog

Many people have trained their dogs to fetch, but one county family doesn't have to say a word - - they just put a picture of what they want in the window.

Or anyway, so it seems. Shortly before Thanksgiving, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Steyer put a picture of a turkey, done by their daughter Amy, at school, in their front window at home.

Lucky, Amy's year-old mixed collie and Spitz dog, got the idea right away. The family was awakened at daybreak on Thanksgiving by the dog barking. When they investigated, they found that Lucky had brought them a live turkey, which was treed in the yard.

Even though they let the turkey escape, they certainly appreciated the thought especially in these days of rising meat prices.

Another sign of Lucky's sensitivity occurred this past summer during the meat shortage. Nearly every day, Lucky brought home the "groceries," in the forms of captured rabbits, squirrels, or groundhogs.

The Garrett Community College Lakers will begin their 1973 basketball season on Saturday evening, December 1, at the college at Mellenry, and will endeavor to better their opening season record last year of 6-13. Their opponent will be the Ocean City Community College

Dennis Fearnow, coach, indicated the Lakers were ready for the twenty-four game season. They will play two other home games on December 7 and 8 against Chesapeake and Cecil before traveling

Home and home games are with Dundalk, Charles, Howard, Allegany, Potomac State, Frederick, St. Mary's, Cecil and Chesapeake, with single games scheduled against Montgomery, and Bever of Pennsylvania. During the Christmas holiday period the team will compete in tournament play.

For the opening encounter at Mellenry on Saturday evening the Southern High pep band will provide musical entertainment.

SOLVING THE MEAT PROBLEM—David Craig Riley, a U.S. Marine stationed at Camp Pendleton, Calif., was one of the successful deer hunters this week, bagging a 9-point, 113-pound buck on Saturday. Riley was hunting with his father, Elbert Riley, who also got a buck. Each also got a deer in West Virginia the week previous, giving them an unusual supply of protein for the season.

Various Phenomena Noted In Weather

Various phenomena were noted among the weather elements during the past week which included a vivid rainbow last Wednesday afternoon and a thunder shower Monday, and a snowstorm last night.

Following last Wednesday's rain the sun broke through and a vivid rainbow was seen including the primary and fainter secondary bows, the colors being reversed. Since a clear period Thanksgiving Day, there has been some rain every day since except with a short clear spell Monday morning but followed by a thunder shower in the afternoon. There was some break in the clouds yesterday morning before a heavy wind and rain storm broke shortly before noon. Total rainfall for the week was .84 inch. About three quarters of an inch of snow fell last night and into this morning.

Temperatures have been spring-like being fifteen degrees above the seasonal normal. Sunday it was a warm 67 degrees starting from a mild 55. Other readings were near or above the 60 mark. Morning lows were even warmer being almost 20 degrees above the normal. The coldest morning was last Friday with 25 degrees, and this morning with about the same.

We Are Sorry!

We truly regret that there are not enough pages this week to take care of all the news events of the holiday season in the area.

Newsprint is still scarce as far as The Republican is concerned and the supply is running low. We are sorry about that and can only hope that there will be a change for the better before long

It may be possible to use a portion of the material in the next issue.

Efficiency Plus?

Once more we have an example of efficiency plus - - - only in reverse. Monday afternoon a letter was mailed to The Republican office Oakland, from Southern High school, also at Oakland. The letter was not cancelled in the Oakland Post Office but was sent to Cumberland to be cancelled and to be sent back to Oakland. The Republican had not received the letter by Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Seems ridiculous doesn't it? It is ridiculous - - - and asinine.

THE BIG CHANGE
COMES TO GRANTSVILLE

From this day forward, you will feed your family for far less at Foodland than any other leading chain store in this area!
THE BIG CHANGE MEANS MONEY!
Lots more money coming back to you in dollars and cents change at our Foodland checkout counter — all because of Foodland's declared price policy: to bring you lower prices on name-brand groceries than at any food store in the area — including all chain stores. And we don't mean just a few "come-on" specials for a day or a week, but hundreds and hundreds of lower prices, six days a week, fifty-two weeks a year! Just as modern retail stores have proved that nationally advertised hardware, dry goods and appliances can be sold for less — so Foodland starts today to show you how the most vital item in your budget can be sold for less! The result: what you and every homemaker wants most: NAME-BRAND GROCERIES AT OFF-BRAND PRICES!
BUT NO CHANGE IN QUALITY OR SERVICE
You get the same nationally advertised groceries, the same marvelous meats Foodland is famous for, the same helping hand from every Foodland employee. However, our prices are so closely calculated that you will actually save dollars a week, hundreds a year by shopping Foodland!

It was the sixth comet to be discovered in 1973 and the second to be found by Dr. Kohoutek this year.

Cubs Visit Hospital

Members of Den 1 of Pack 31 Cub Scouts visited Garrett County Memorial hospital last Wednesday and presented books, coloring books and crayons to the pedriatrics ward. They had previously earned money from local service projects.

In the group were Steve Rankin, Chris Bock, Mike White, Don Wolfe, Jess Browning, Larry Smith, Tommy Parrack and Wayne Fitzwater, with leaders Mrs. Naomi Wolfe and Mrs. Marjorie Browning.

Hearing Held On Master Plan For Solid Waste

Representatives from Rummel Klepper and Kahl, consulting engineers, explained the solid waste master plan at a public hearing in the office of the County Commissioners on Monday.

Ultimately the plan will provide for solid waste collection and disposal for residents with adoption of the plan expected by January 1974.

Sitting as the Roads Board, the County Commissioners accepted a recommendation to purchase as needed mobile two-way radio equipment for the Roads department under the state contract procedure.

Members of the board planned to attend a meeting Wednesday, December 5, in Cumberland for the five counties of Western Maryland association. Wayne Hamilton, chairman of the group, also plans to attend a workshop program at the Ruth Enlow Library on Tuesday, December 4 where he will speak for the commissioners on activities the local government has undertaken.

No Lighting Contest By Kitzmiller Lions

The Kitzmiller Lions club has decided to discontinue holding its annual Christmas lighting and decorating contest, due to the energy crisis, it was announced by Wilbur Myers, secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Such a contest has been conducted for the past several years but members felt that the conserving of electricity was more important this year.

Number Of Bills Filed In Assembly

A number of pre-filed bills have already been drawn up by legislators, even though the General Assembly session will not start until January 9.

One calls for mandatory firearms training for all who are getting a hunting license for the first time.

Another bill deals with game regulations and would affect anglers' license applications regarding their understanding that a license does not give permission to fish on private property.

A House bill seeks to convert public school textbooks in the fields of science and mathematics to metric system of measurements by July 1, 1978. Another measure would convert state road signs to the international metric system. Another bill would change Veterans' day back to its traditional date — November 11. It is currently observed on the fourth Monday in October.

Another measure would have Maryland license plates bear the words "Seat Belts for Safety." Another measure would call for warranties on motor vehicle repair work.

Barbie has a boy friend—her first! There'll be many more.

But someday Barbie will have a boy friend—her last! And there'll be an engagement, and a wedding, and a wonderful life together with their children...

If he's THE RIGHT ONE!

Barbie's present boy friend is being brought up the way Barbie is—in fact, they met at Sunday School! Their families worship regularly ... they seek the same moral and spiritual aims.

But, what about THE RIGHT ONE? Is this fiance-to-be receiving the same sound preparation for tomorrow? Are his parents building the future on the firm foundation of religious faith? Will he be right for Barbie?

The church bells that ring every Sunday are not wedding bells. But they sound the destiny of our sons and daughters ... and of their families yet unborn.

Situate in Election District No. 2 Garrett County, Maryland

Under and by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, passed on November 2, 1973, in the proceedings in No. 5834 Equity in said Court, wherein Arnold Savage and others are plaintiffs, and Glenn Savage and others are defendants, the undersigned being authorized and directed to sell the property hereinafter described, do hereby give notice that on at the hour of 10:00 a.m.

Saturday, the 8th day of December, 1973

in front of the Court House in the Town of Oakland, Garrett County, Maryland, we will offer and sell, at public auction, all of those two pieces or parcels of land situate along Bear Creek in Election District No. 2, Garrett County, Maryland, and described as follows, to wit:

FIRST: Beginning for the first piece or parcel of land hereby intended to be conveyed at a stone pile at the end of the line of said tract which runs north 38 degrees West, 45 perches, and runing thence with original lines of the said tract, north 59 degrees west 38 perches, north 30 degrees west 34 perches, north 26 perches, south 36 degrees west 88 perches, South 89 degrees East 35 perches, South 66 degrees East 63 perches, thence by a straight line of the beginning, containing 18 acres, more or less.

Reserving, however, two rights of way over the land above described, the purpose of the two rights of way, hereby reserved and excepted, being to give a permanent and convenient outlet for the land lying on the south and east to the state road and the same to be of sufficient width that vehicles having occasion to use the roads could easily and conveniently pass each other on the said roads and to be an appurtenanct to the land belonging to the said Troy C. Friend to the south and east.

SECOND: Also all that other part of the tract called High Water Resurveyed and a small part of the tract called Generals Wish, the same lying along the State Road leading from Friendsville to Route No. 219 along Bear Creek and on the north side of said stream and begins at a point on the north side of Bear Creek where the 37th line of High Water Resurveyed crosses the said stream, and runs with the said 37th line to a point on the north side of Bear Creek; thence up said stream and on the north side thereof to the place of beginning, and contains one and one-half acres, more or less.

Being the same as conveyed by Troy C. Friend, to Erwin Savage and Gean Savage by deed dated December 17, 1943 and recorded in Liber A.G.R. No. 134, folio 398, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The above described two tracts of land ajoin the hard surfaced county highway leading from United States Route No. 219 to the Town of Friendsville. It is covered by young timber with Pear Creek meandering through part of the same. This would be a good investment property.

TERMS OF SALE: One-third cash on day of sale, balance payable upon ratification of sale by the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland. All taxes and other public charges will be adjusted as of day of sale.

AUDITOR'S STATEMENT

We have examined the statements of receipts collected and expenses disbursed and related cash account of the Garrett County Board of Education for the year ended June 30, 1973. We converted the accounts from a cash basis to an accrual basis for statement purposes. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing proceedures as we considered necessary under the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements and exhibits fairly present the Garrett County Board of Education's position as June 30, 1973, and income collected and expenses disbursed by the Board of Education for the year then ended on an accrual basis.

Respectfully submitted,
(Sgd.) George McLaughlin
Certified Public Accountant

Mail Service . . .

Recently there was an editorial in the Meyersdale Republican that caught our fancy and with which this newspaper agrees. Here it is:

"Mail service will decline seriously unless rates are increased in January. So says Postmaster General R. T. Klassen.

"According to a recent news dispatch Mr. Klassen, when he appeared before the Senate Post Office and Civil Service committee, warned that mail service will suffer if rates are not increased next year. In another discouraging announcement the Postmaster General said that the energy crisis may also hamper delivery of mail.

"Not very many Americans are happy with the mail service. In fact, since the take-over by the Postal Service, there has been constant deterioration of the service, no matter what the 'experts' tell us.

"An increase in postal rates—and there have been a number in the past several years—will do nothing to expedite mail service. It will merely give more money for the bureaucrats to spend.

"Let's have some improved mail service, then we can turn to consideration of higher rates. . ."

These are the sentiments of this newspaper.

Judge Allows Strip Mining On State Land

State Ordered To Allow Buffalo Coal Company To Resume Full-Scale Stripping Operations

Chief Judge Stuart F Hamill in the Circuit Court here, has ruled against the state in the first court test of its pioneer law that banned strip mining of coal on all state lands.

In the opinion Judge Hamill called the law "vague and badly worded." He ordered the state to allow the Buffalo Coal Company to resume full scale stripping operations on a 275-acre tract in the Savage River State forest in this county, continuing until the coal there is exhausted.

The company which brought suit against the state to retain its mining rights already has mined an estimated 625,000 acres of coal from this tract, stripping between half to two-thirds of the land in it thus far.

Judge Hamill, in his 10-page opinion handed down in the Circuit Court last week, further decreed that in the future the state must compensate Buffalo Coal if it denies the company permission to strip mine other state-owned lands in which the company holds the mineral rights.

The ruling apparently could indirectly affect nearly 35,000 acres of land in state forests on which the subsurface rights, including strip mining of coal are held by private individuals or companies.

Buffalo Coal holds a lease on such rights on a total of several thousand acres in the Savage River state forest, which are underlain by an estimated 3 million tons of coal. The company is the only interest that holds or has applied for a permit to strip on state lands.

Henry R Lord, Maryland deputy attorney general, who handled the case last month in which the state defended its right to curtail strip mining on its land, bitterly criticized the decision to let Buffalo Coal resume normal operations. Since August 1 a court order has allowed it to operate on a reduced scale, mining the coal from land stripped before the July 1 state ban.

Mr. Lord vowed to appeal the ruling. He said the portion of the judge's ruling requiring compensation for denial of stripping permits was not wholly unexpected. It would in effect require the state to use its condemnation powers to acquire rights beneath its own lands, compensating those who owned the rights. The appeal was filed in Circuit Court in Oakland on Monday.

Judge Hamill upheld the basic constitutionality of the state's statute against strip mining, but in explaining his decision he said the law did not show clear enough intent on the part of the Legislature that all such strip mining should cease.

Senator Julian L. Lapides, Baltimore Democratic legislator, sponsor of the bill, said he was "absolutely shocked" by the decision and would prepare emergency legislation for the upcoming session in Annapolis to strengthen the statute.

Liquor Dispensary In New Location

The Garrett County Liquor Dispensary in Oakland, is moving to a new location and will be open for business Monday, December 10, at a place adjacent to Mt. Top Carry-out in the new building recently constructed next to Big Tee Burger, 469 North Third Street.

Hours will be from 10 to 8, Monday through Saturday. The new facility will be a self service one. The store was formerly located on East Oak Street where it had been since July, 1962.

Managing the store is Ernest Colaw, and clerks include Asa Nethken, James Tetrick, Michael Helbig and James Smith. Located in the same building will be the offices of the Liquor Control Board. Joe Wolf is administrative officer for the board and members include J. Stuart Cooper, chairman, George D. Meese and W. D. Casteel.

Small Safe, Other Property Stolen From District Court

The safe robbers have struck again, for the third time in as many weeks. Sometime Monday night, a window in the court room of the District Court, in the Pythian Building on Third Street, was forced open.

The door to the court room was also opened, and a small safe and its contents, as well as other property, was stolen.

Missing in the safe is an unspecified amount of cash and some court records.

The safe was rolled along the hallway to a rear door, which opens onto the parking lot.

Maryland State Police are assisting Oakland Police Chief Percy Lawton in the investigation.

Approve County As Economic Growth Center

Makes Possible Plan To Replace Deep Creek Bridge On 219

The selection of Garrett County as an economic growth center has been approved by the Federal Highway Administration, Harry R. Hughes, Secretary of the Maryland Department of Transportation announced. Secretary Hughes added, "It is now possible for us to implement plans to replace the Deep Creek Lake Bridge on U. S. 219."

The Federal economic growth center program is designed to aid the growth and revitalization of the economics of rural areas and smaller communities. While the Oakland - Deep Creek Lake area demonstrates a constantly increasing economic activity, a generally inadequate transportation system restrains Garrett County's ability to respond to potential. Secretary Hughes noted. "With replacement of the Deep Creek Lake Bridge, a major bottleneck to the safe and efficient flow of north-south traffic in the county can be eliminated."

Public support for the proposed replacement bridge was shown at a June 14th public meeting at Garrett Community College. However, the exact design of the new structure remains undecided. Proposals for a two or four lane bridge, or two lane bridge with four lane structure, will be presented at a public meeting in the near future. Secretary Hughes added that "An artist's rendering emphasizing how the bridge will blend into the surrounding landscape will also be presented. Considering Deep Creek Lake's reputation as a recreational center, the aesthetic quality of the proposed replacement bridge is especially important."

The new bridge will be built adjacent to the present structure, which will be razed following completion of the new structure.

The final cost for the bridge will be determined by the structure selected. As an economic growth center project, the Federal Highway Administration will add another 20 percent of the total cost of the project to its Federal share of funding.

Surprise Check On Hunter Cars Brings 22 Arrests

Three Maryland law enforcement agencies cooperated to conduct a "surprise" car check on hunters' cars last Saturday, the final day of deer season, ending the five-hour check with 22 arrests.

Four were charged with illegal possession of deer, three with having does, and another with having illegal deer parts.

Other charges ranged from having a concealed deadly weapon (handgun), carrying loaded weapons, to having no hunting licenses. All persons charged were released on their own recognizance after being issued citations. Trial dates have been set in all cases.

Twenty men were engaged in the checks, from the Natural Resource police, headed by Capt. Bob Brown, Hagerstown; the Maryland State Police, headed by Cpl. D. A. Tucker; and the sheriff's department, headed by Sheriff Jack Browning.

Checks were made of 384 hunters' cars passing the Youghiogheny river near Herrington Manor; the Sang Run road near the golf course; Mayhew Inn and Lakeshore Drive; Sang Run and Hoyes Run road intersection; and the entrance to New Germany State Park.

Later, checkpoints were also set up at Blooming Rose and Potomac State Forest. One hunter, noticing the check being made, turned his car and attempted to flee, but was captured by State Police and charged with having no deer stamp on his license.

This, the first such check in Garrett County was coordinated and planned by the state's attorney's office, with Ralph Burnett, assistant state's attorney, in charge. The effort was aimed at cutting down illegal deer poaching, Mr. Burnett said. According to Mr. Burnett, nine-tenths of the sportsmen stopped were in favor of such checks, but several hunters, notably those who were guilty of law breakings, were definitely not.

Potomac Edison Will Take Over Garrett Service

No longer will customers have to worry about correctly spelling "Monongahela Power Co." on checks to pay their electric bills.

Beginning January 1, the Potomac Edison Company will take over the service of power in this county, and, according to spokesmen for PE, will adopt existing Monongahela Power rate schedules for affected consumers.

Earlier this year, application was filed with various government regulatory agencies to simplify the corporate structure of the Allegheny Power System companies, which are Monongahela Power Pe, and West Penn Power.

The application included the purchases of Monongahela Power properties in Garrett County by Potomac Edison.

Following a hearing in Oakland July 18, the Maryland Public Service Commission gave its consent to the application. Approval has been granted by the Public Service Commissions of Pennsylvania and West Virginia and consent is being awaited from Virginia Public Service Commission and the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Approval was needed from these various agencies as well, since Potomac Edison has a few customers in Pennsylvania, four Western Maryland counties, an area in West Virginia and a section of northwestern Virginia.

The PE spokesmen explained that since it fully expects that the merger will be approved, the operations of Monongahela Power Company in Garrett County were included in a Potomac Edison November 1 request to the Maryland PSC for general retail rate increases.

To provide uniform rates for PE customers, the utility has requested that the approximate 5,500 customers presently served by Monongahela Power become subject to the new rates as finally determined by the Public Service Commission.

The organization of the PE work force in Garrett county has not been announced by the utility. PE's Frostburg District of the Western Division headed by Edward L. Ewald of Cumberland now serves a large section of eastern Garrett county.

One Man Dead After Shootings At Mt. Storm Motel

Doyle Pickle, 30, who was recently residing near Elk Garden, is dead and another man seriously wounded following an apparent argument between the two December 1.

According to West Virginia State Police who are continuing their investigation, Pickle and a co-worker, Donald Jennings, 20, currently residing at Mt. Storm, had stopped at a tavern on Friday after work on a construction site near Shaw, W. Va.

The two had a disagreement, and both left the tavern. Some hours later, about 4 a.m., Pickle came to the Mt. Storm motel where Jennings had a room, and shooting began. Pickle was killed by a shotgun blast in the left side of his chest, and was pronounced dead on arrival at Grant County Hospital, Petersburg.

Jennings is in satisfactory condition at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, suffering from wounds of the thigh and chest from a .38 calibre pistol. The Southern Rescue Squad was called to bring Jennings to the local hospital but were notified that the patient had already arrived at the hospital before they had reached Mt. Storm. Pickle was taken to the Grant hospital by the Mt. Storm Rescue Squad.

Charges are pending upon further investigation by the state police.

Pickle was originally from Tennessee, and his body was flown back to his home state for burial. Jennings is originally from Bluefield, W. Va.

A Minn. man wrapped his block home in plastic to keep it warm.

586 Deer Killed In 7-Day Season

Number Is Seven Less Than Last Year; Hunting Pressure Is Less

Five hundred eighty-six bucks were killed in Garrett county during the seven-day open season which ended last Saturday evening, according to records compiled at the checking stations and relayed to Harold Harman, at the Mt. Nebo game station. This was seven less than last year, 105 more than year before last and 193 more than two years ago. The hunting pressure seemed to be down slightly.

The number may change slightly when state police records at the LaVale barracks are checked as some hunters may have gone there to check their bucks as they were returning home.

The total compares to 609 in 1963, 577 in 1962 and 620 in 1964. The county's record kill was 804, reached during the 1960 season which was for a complete six-day season.

For 1961 and 1962 an extra Saturday was allowed but nine years ago the season was extended to nine days. It was returned to eight days eight years ago and the season moved to the day after Thanksgiving for the beginning of the season. Five years ago the season was reduced to seven days with the extra Saturday allowable following Thanksgiving and has been repeated since that time.

In the county the record dropped to 36 on Thursday, was 49 on Friday and 65 on Saturday. Peak day was 283 on the first Saturday, with 82 on Monday and 74 on Tuesday.

Here is the full report for the checking stations and the state police at LaVale.

Paul's Mt. Top Tire, Oakland, 86, 9, 18, 11, 10, 8, 23, total 165; Johnny's Ban House, Deep Creek Lake, 36, 6, 8, 3, 5, 0, 5, total 63; Walt's Mellenry, 53, 15, 17, 3, 5, 5, 8, total 106; Hetz, Grantsville, 89, 35, 18, 8, 12, 6, 27, total 195; Savage River Inn, 15, 15, 11, 2, 4, 0, 2, total 19; State Police, 4, 1, 2, and zeros, total, 7; State Park 1 on Monday; grand total 586.

By the day totals were 283, 82, 74, 27, 36, 19, 65.

The largest deer reported killed in the county was placed at 182 pounds, tagged at Hetz' Service station in Grantsville. That station also reported the biggest pair of antlers, 16 points.

It was noted that the deer slain this year appeared to be in much better condition than those shot last year.

Other counties of Maryland reporting deer kills included Allegany, 784; Washington, 408, and Frederick, 222.

Colder Weather Follows Snowfall

Following last Thursday's one and one-half inches of snow, colder air arrived in the region but didn't last long as mild temperatures returned Tuesday.

Skies were mostly clear since the snow storm but clouds began to gather late Monday followed by heavy rainstorms yesterday.

Morning mercury readings were in the 20's until Tuesday when it was 30 degrees and a very mild 54 degrees yesterday. The rainstorms yesterday kept the temperatures, mostly in the 50's. A few times the sun peeped out and the mercury did get to the 60 mark.

Yesterday's 54-degree low was 34 degrees above the seasonal normal but moderate winds during the night dropped the mercury to near the freezing point this morning and blue sky was beginning to appear.

November temperatures averaged just under two degrees above the normal. The average was 41.1 degrees compared to the normal of 39.3. The highest temperature recorded was 68 degrees on the 15th, the lowest was 6 degrees on the 12th. The lows for the month averaged 30.7 degrees and the highs 51.5. Precipitation for the month was 3.51 inches compared to the normal of 3.11. Snowfall totaled 10.5 inches or 3.3 inches above the normal of 7.2 inches with the heaviest daily fall being 4 inches on the 5th.

Information for statistics was obtained from Logan Weber, local observer for the National Weather Service.

No Special Hours At Post Office

Apparently there will be no extra holiday hours at the Oakland Post Office this year, as Postmaster Guy William Hinebaugh has received no special word to this effect.

Normally the windows open at 8 o'clock and close at 4:30 with closing hour on Saturday being at noon.

Narcotics Stolen From Englander's Saturday Night

Whoever broke into Englander's Pharmacy in Oakland Saturday night knew exactly what they wanted and where to go, according to William Riley, pharmacist.

After breaking the large plate glass window to the left of the front door with a lug wrench, the thieves headed straight for the narcotics cabinet prying it open with a screwdriver they found in the store.

They grabbed a box, also from the store, and filled it with potentially lethal drugs, then fled.

The robbery occurred between 9 p.m., when the store closed, and 11:30 p.m., when town police notified one of the pharmacists.

The missing substances, though not extremely costly financially, were said to be enough to addict several people.

Town police and members of the Maryland State Police are investigating.

502,000 Seedling Trees From State Due Here In March

More than 35 percent of the 3.4 million seedling trees which the state nursery will distribute to Maryland counties will come to the four-county Western Maryland district, according to George Gilmore, regional forester.

Mr. Gilmore expects to have about 1,208,000 young trees and of those, 502,000 or 14 percent of the state total, will come to heavily-forested Garrett County.

Allegany and Washington counties each are expected to receive 468,000 and another 237,000 will be shipped to Frederick county.

The trees are grown at the state nursery and at Harmans in Anne Arundel county. They will be delivered in late March and planted in April.

Species of trees include red and scotch pine, Norway spruce, white spruce, black locust, and tulip poplar, and for the Eastern shore, loblolly pine.

Trees must be used for reforestation of idle land and to improve watershed conditions under provisions of a 1913 government act.

Landowners desiring trees must file an application with the regional forester at his headquarters, Regional Services Center, Highland Estates, Naves Crossroad, Cumberland.

Trails Attracting Skiers, Snowmobilers

Trails in state parks and state forests are now attracting hikers, skiers and snowmobile operators.

W. A. C. Irwin Chiel, state forest operations, Maryland Forest Service, Annapolis, had pointed out there is a growing interest in recreational trails because of concern for environment and a desire for a cleaner atmosphere.

One of Maryland's goals for the bicentennial of the Declaration of Independence in 1976 is the development of a special trail which would begin in Southern Maryland, move to the Washington area then follow the C&O canal to Cumberland, ending in Garrett County.

A hiking trail in existence a long time is the Big Savage trail which starts at St. John's Rock near U. S. 40, and follows the crest of the mountain some 16 miles to Savage River dam.

Other county trails include Backbone Mountain trail from Savage River dam to Swanton, one at Herrington Manor, one on Piney Run watershed. Also mentioned were ski trails at New Germany and snowmobile trails on Meadow Mountain.

Major trouble with trails is they are not multi-purpose. Cyclists, skiers and snowmobile operators often cannot use the same trails.

Two Were Slightly Injured Recently

One man was released from Garrett County Memorial Hospital following a recent 1-car accident on Crellin road. Among several other mishaps there was one person slightly injured.

Charles A. Dean, 24, was treated and released from the hospital following the accident on the Crellin road, east of the Dilly road the evening of November 22.

Dean was traveling east at an apparent high rate of speed. He failed to negotiate a sharp right turn and the car went out of control and rolled over, hit the guard rail, went down over an embankment and came to rest in a ditch. Tpr. J. E. Foley charged him on three counts: excessive speed, operating on expired registration and operating without proper license.

Denzil D. Smith, Mt. Lake Park, was traveling west on State Route 135 the evening of November 21, near the Leon White road. The car went off the road, down an embankment and hit some pine trees on the property of Walter Bittinger. Smith said a pickup pulled from a private driveway directly in his path and in order to avoid a collision, pulled off the road. Tpr. Foley made no charges.

James G. Price, Westernport, was traveling east on Route 135 the evening of November 21, when his vehicle went out of control. It then ran off the road, struck an embankment and turned over. Price said he applied his brakes and the vehicle locked and went out of control on the wet pavement. Tpr. Foley made no charges.

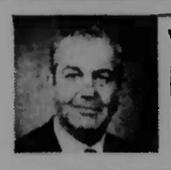
Jacob A. Johnson, Baltimore, was driving east on the Glendale road just east of the North Glade road the evening of November 26. Johnson stated his left tire blew out. The car then went out of control hit a telephone pole and came to rest on the westbound shoulder. Tpr. Dale K. Williams made no charges.

Lucille M. Werner, 58, passenger in the car driven by Janice K. Werner, both of Boynton, Pa., was slightly injured in a two-car mishap late the evening of November 23 on U.S. Route 40 in Grantsville. Junior W. Guthrie, Grantsville, driving a pickup, failed to grant the right-of-way to the car driven by Janice Werner. Guthrie had intended to go south on State Route 495. Tpr. Georg charged Guthrie on two counts, operating an unregistered motor vehicle and operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol.

A motor vehicle operated by Michael E. Stock, Baltimore, came to a sudden stop due to the rear end on the truck locking on Route 219 near the Pud Miller road the afternoon of November 23. Silas R. Alsip, Hagerstown, following, got stopped. John E. Alsip, Clear Spring, also following, could not stop and hit the other Alsip car. Tpr. Georg made no charges.

Richard L. Hinebaugh, RD 1, Oakland, was traveling south on the Oakland-Sang Run road last Thursday evening. As he did, Darrell R. Werdebaugh, RD 1, Oakland, backed from a driveway into his path. Tfc. Ronald Lewis charged Werdebaugh with failing to yield the right-of-way.

Perry L. Bowman, Grantsville, and William M. Griffith, Frostburg, both in pickups, were headed west on Route 40 last Wednesday morning. Griffith attempted to turn into a private drive and was struck in the rear by Bowman. Tpr. David Miller charged Bowman with failing to reduce speed under certain conditions.



WASHINGTON REPORT

1973's Unfinished Business

Only a few weeks remain before the 93rd Congress reaches the halfway point of its two-year session, and there are a number of high priority bills that are still awaiting action this year.

The growing concern over our energy supply, for example, has made it imperative for Congress to approve the emergency measures needed by the President to deal with this crisis.

The Senate has already passed an important bill to give the President a broad range of temporary powers to implement and enforce the conservation program.

Other energy-related bills will be called up as soon as possible, and one of the first will be a bill to put the United States on year-round daylight savings time.

This move may require some adjustments in our daily lives but all-in-all it will not cause any great disturbance, and it is expected to cut our daily energy consumption up to 3 per cent.

Other legislation is being prepared to remove the artificial and very low price controls on natural gas in order to stimulate further exploration for this valuable fuel.

Long-range energy programs will be established through legislation to create a Department of Energy and Natural Resources, and also an Energy Research and Development Administration.

However, the energy bills will not be the only important measures coming up in December.

Nearly half a dozen appropriation bills are still floundering in Congress, even though the budget year is nearly half-way over.

This is a perennial situation with the federal budget, but it may be corrected in a comprehensive budget control bill that may soon reach the floor of the Senate. This bill is similar to legislation which I introduced earlier this year to reform our budget procedures and to control federal spending.

A plan to reorganize the financially-battered Penn Central and other railroads of the Northeast is also in its final stages of consideration by the Commerce Committee. A plan could be enacted by the end of the year.

I have also joined in sponsoring a minimum wage amendment to the daylight savings bill. The amendment would raise the minimum wage from $1.60 to $2.30 an hour over the next four years, and it removes some of the objections cited by the President when he vetoed a similar bill this year.

The nomination of Gerald Ford to be vice president faces a final Senate vote. His confirmation will still have to be decided in the House of Representatives.

Two other bills that have already passed both houses and have gone to conference may be returned for a final vote. Among these measures are the pension reform bill, the strip mining legislation, and a bill to encourage the establishment of comprehensive prepaid health insurance programs or health maintenance organizations (HMOs).

It is also possible that Social Security benefits will be increased for 1974 in a bill that has just cleared the Senate Finance Committee.

The Eglon Homemakers met Sunday, December 2, at the Maple Spring Church for a covered dish dinner. Following dinner there were devotions centered around the Christmas story by Mrs. Sheridan Layman. There was a display of Christmas decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Teets, Eglon, returned Thursday night to their home after spending from Sunday to Thursday in San Francisco attending the annual meeting of the National Milk Producers Association. Byron Introduces Bike Trails Bill

Rep. Goodloe Byron has joined with Rep. Ralph Regula (R.-Ohio) in sponsoring a bipartisan measure which would establish a national network of cross-country bicycle trails.

Initial routes under consideration would parallel Route 70 from New Jersey to the Oregon Coast and Route 1 from Maine to Florida.

In introducing the legislation Byron cited the need to provide safe cycling areas, the increase in leisure time and the current de-emphasis on the use of gasoline.

Last year Byron sponsored a bill to allow States to use federally-administered programs for developing local bicycle lanes and paths. Portions of this proposal were incorporated into the Federal Aid to Highway Act this year.

fects of the energy crisis on the economy of the immediate area, saying that the textile industry is dependent on petrochemicals derived from oil. The tire industry will be affected due to curtailment in auto and truck travel. Shopping centers, the tourist industry, car dealers, and the paper industry are other segments of the economy which will also be affected, he said.

He also noted that even if the Middle East oil embargo had not occurred, the country would be faced with a critical energy shortage.

Named Heart Fund Coordinator For Area

Dr. John H. Hornbaker, Jr., president of the Heart association of Western Maryland announced the appointment of John H. J. Frantz as 1974 Heart Fund coordinator of the general chairmen of the three western counties.

The campaign will be conducted during the month of February. Mr. Frantz named John H. Wolf, Oakland, chairman for Southern Garrett County.

America's Bicentennial

"Old Glory" has seen many changes in her lifetime. As she rippled majestically above the American landscape, she watched Thirteen Colonies grow to mature adulthood; she suffered the hell of war and the joy of a surging economy; she has heard cries of doubt and despair turn to a voice of confidence as her people made their way into the uncertain arena of global affairs. Now the U. S. prepares for its Bicentennial celebration in 1976, and there are thousands of ways for each of us to show pride in our heritage and hope for the future.

Mr. Robert O'Brien, in his article entitled "A Chance for Rediscovery," appearing in the September issue of The Reader's Digest, calls for a rededication to the principles of America and a new appreciation of all she has stood for in the world. All 50 states have plunged into preparations for the event, with efforts ranging from reconstruction of historic forts and trails and the building of exhibits costing millions to clean-up campaigns in every city, town and village. The executive director of the Arkansas Bicentennial Commission, Mrs. Glennis J. Parker, captured the essence of the nation's 200th birthday celebration when she said, "We're not a wealthy state, and we can't do big things. But that's not what it's all about. The Bicentennial is a spirit, a demonstration of love for our country. . . ."

These are troubled times, when the very fiber of American life is being tested and challenged. Yet as we survived the turmoil of the past, so shall we conquer the unknown that lies ahead. Everyone who is proud to be an American should dedicate themselves to making our 200th birthday one never to be forgotten while at the same time seeing to it that our sacred Constitutional rights and freedoms remain inviolate.

WASHINGTON REPORT
FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL, JR.

Social Security & Election Reforms

A bill to provide a cost-of-living increase in Social Security benefits on January 1st has been brought from the Finance Committee to the floor of the Senate.

The Senate bill calls for a 7 per cent increase in January, to be followed by another 4 per cent increase in June, 1974. This total of 11 per cent is being voted in place of a 5.9 per cent increase that had previously been scheduled for next June.

The reason for moving up the dates and providing a higher amount lies in the fact that our cost of living has risen considerably in the past year.

Increases in the cost of living always hurt people on fixed incomes, and that is why I was a strong supporter of the legislation that has enabled Congress to adjust Social Security rates in a timely fashion, as we are doing now.

The new rates will increase the average monthly benefits from $166 to $186 for retired workers, from $276 to $310 for couples, and from $157 to $177 for elderly widows.

Another major feature of this bill was an amendment, which I cosponsored, to help older Americans pay for prescription drugs through the Medicare program.

It is estimated that some 20 million senior citizens are afflicted by chronic illness, and their tight budgets are often strained beyond the breaking point by the cost of prescription drugs.

Our amendment calls for a person to pay the first dollar of a prescription, while Medicare will pay the rest.

There are numerous other proposals and amendments relating to supplemental income for the disabled, family and child care services, and other social services, to mention just a few.

Another issue of great significance and widespread interest also came before the Senate during the debate on extending the national debt limit. The issue was public financing of federal elections.

The House of Representatives has refused to consider any of these proposals without conducting hearings, but some of them still ought to be noted because of their timeliness. They involved income tax deductions to support political campaigns, disclosure of all election funds by candidates, and methods of financing presidential and congressional campaigns.

I support all of these proposals in principal, but I also believe that they could have been better.

I believe that individual contributions to candidates should be limited, but not prohibited in our elections. One of the most constructive proposals brought forward during the debate would have put a ceiling on individual contributions and also on the total amount of private contributions that would be allowed to candidates.

This proposal blended some of the most important parts of campaign financing into a practical and useful form, and I was disappointed when this amendment was rejected.

However, the House decision to put off any consideration of this matter for the time being means we can expect to see further action on these proposals in the months ahead. Hopefully we can look forward to a more complete reform bill emerging at that time.

Comet Visible

Comet Kohoutek finally has become visible to the naked eye. But a person must get up early in the morning to see it.

Kohoutek became visible without the aid of telescopes or binoculars late last week, appearing in the southeast sky about an hour before sunrise.

The comet looks like a big star about 20 degrees above the horizon. Scientists once billed Kohoutek as the "comet of the century," but have tempered their earlier predictions about its size and brightness.

Kohoutek will swing around the sun in late December and disappear from sight for a few days. Until that time it can be seen right before sunrise, but each day a little lower on the horizon. By December 10 it will appear only 10 degrees above the horizon and by December 20 almost on the line between sky and earth.

After Kohoutek circles the sun it also will become visible in the early evening at the beginning of the new year as it goes back from where it came outside the solar system

The evenings from January 10 to January 30, just after sunset, may provide the best viewing from all parts of the United States

The comet should look like a giant white feather against a black velvet background. The head should appear as a very large star with a tail streaming out from it across a sixth of the distance of the sky.

Destruction Of Property Among Seven Cases Heard

Assault and battery and destruction of property were among cases heard in District Court during the week ending December 5.

Gary Beitzel, Grantsville, pleaded guilty of assault and battery on Frank Durst at Seggie's Tavern, Accident, October 31. Judge Lewis R. Jones fined him $100 and $10 costs. A 30-day jail sentence was suspended and Beitzel was placed on probation for six months on condition he make restitution to Frank Durst in the amount of $28.75 for eyeglass repairs.

Joseph R. Kisselovich, Oak street, Oakland, and Ronald Ball, Oakland, both pleaded not guilty of destruction of property of Donald M. Browning on Libtrty street, Oakland, November 7. They were both found guilty by Judge Miller Bowen, Cumberland and sentenced to four days in jail. The sentence was suspended and they are to pay $40 damage each.

Samuel K. Polan, Deer Park, pleaded not guilty on two motor vehicle charges. On the charge of failing to stop at the scene of a property damage accident at Fourth Street and Memorial Drive, Oakland, on August 22, Polan was found guilty and was fined $50 and $5 costs by Judge Jones. Polan was also found guilty of operating a motor vehicle in a negligent manner at the same time and place and was fined $20.

The cases of two persons charged with worthless checks were dismissed as restitution had been made. David J. Beiler, RD 2, Grantsville, had been charged with passing three checks payable to Casselman's Lumber Co., Grantsville, in November. Ellen E. Hare, Grantsville passed a check payable to Finch Carpet, Oakland.

Harvey J. Bittinger, Swanton, was found not guilty of assault and battery on Joseph C. DeWitt in Mt. Lake Park, November 2

Issues Proclamation

The Governor of Maryland and the County Commissioners of this county have issued proclamations designating December 7 as Civil Defense Day in Maryland and Garrett county.

George F. Comp, Jr. Deer Park, is civil defense director for this county.

Governor Marvin Mandel declared that "people need to remain aware of the constant threat to their lives and property."

Maryland smokers and drinkers put $4.8 million in the state's coffers during October

Redistricting Is Now Being Urged

A special hearing officer has recommended that the Court of Appeals redraw boundaries in Gov. Marvin Mandel's legislative redistricting plan.

Hall Hammond, former chief judge of the court, said some districts are unconstitutional because they are not compact or because lines do not follow natural and political boundaries.

He called for revisions in Anne Arundel, Montgomery, Prince Georges and Baltimore counties and on the lower eastern shore.

Hammond scheduled a conference for December 17. Hammond was called out of retirement to hear the challenge in the district plan after several suits were brought, charging that it was invalid

The decision apparently dashed any hopes that Garrett and Allegany county Republicans had of rearranging the plan in Western Maryland.

Under the Mandel plan, election districts in Lonaconing, Midland, and Borden Shaft would be placed in Garrett county. A local suit contends that of the 3,277 voters in those districts, only 770 are Democratic as compared to 2,489 Republicans.

An alternate plan offered by Republican officials sought to have Westernport, Luke and Barton transferred to Garrett instead. The result would be fewer GOP voters lost in Allegany county.

Another effect the Mandel plan would have on the GOP is pitting present state officeholders against each other.

If they decide to bid for reelection, Sen. Mason must oppose Sen. William A Wilson, Del. David J. Williams and Del. Melvin S. Sloan would have to run against each other and also against Del. DeCorsey Bolden of Oakland. The other Republican delegate, Lester B. Reed, would be up against the county's lone Democrat, Del. William B. Byrnes.

The Three "E's"

Three of the nation's most pressing problems: energy, environment and economics, are the enrrent whipping boys of politicians and columnists. The industrial community unfairly finds itself being tagged as the bad guy who caused it all.

This is not the case. We're doing a lot of things right in America. We have only six percent of the world's population gathered on just six percent of the world's land mass. Yet we have 50 percent of the world's wealth produce 20 percent of the world's steel; 33 percent of its electrical energy and 35 percent of its automobiles.

It's time we put to full productive use the imaginative genius that has set this country apart from all others to search for and find the opportunities that are hidden in the problems surrounding the three "E's:" energy, environment, and economics. -- Industrial Press Service.

WHY SANITIZE LAUNDRY?

It is generally agreed that under normal conditions a clean wash is produced by regular laundering procedures Illness among family members, floods or other unusual circumstances necessitate the use of a disinfectant in the wash or rinse, however, to prevent disease-causing bacteria from spreading. There are four types of disinfectants for home laundry, reports Freda S. Denison, Extension Agent, home economics, liquid chlorine bleach, pine oil, quaternary and phenolic

Chlorine bleach and pine oil disinfectant are diluted in the wash water before clothes are added. Check manufacturers instructions for amounts to use and fabrics that can be washed in them Phenolic disinfectant can be added either to the wash or rinse water, while quaternary is only for the rinse cycle. Quaternary and chlorine products are effective sanitizers in hot, warm or cold water Pine oil and phenolic products are effective in hot and warm temperatures only

Disinfectants are available in grocery, drug and hardware stores. They should be stored out of reach of children

This regular column gives me another chance to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues. Let me assist you with your problems, or just make a note of matters of concern or whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U.S. House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515. While space is currently limited, I shall [illegible] Typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks:

What is the status of legislation to protect fishing streams in the United States

You are probably referring to the Natural Game Fish Conservation Act which provides financial assistance to States for the preservation of such fish streams. This proposed measure is currently pending before the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries. Copies of the bill (H.R. 3830) can be obtained by writing my office here in Washington.

How much oil will the Alaskan pipeline provide to the Continental U. S.

It is estimated that the pipeline could provide oil supplies equal to one-third of the country's oil imports. Congress passed the Alaskan pipeline bill several weeks ago.

My brother and I are in disagreemen over a parliamentary procedure in the House of Representatives. Can you please tell us how debate is limited in the House

General debate in the House is usually limited by special rule, the time being equally divided between the majority and the minority, and allotted to the individual Members by the Members designated in the rule. In no case may a Member speak longer than one hour except by unanimous consent of the House. When bills are being considered in the Committee of the Whole for amendments, each Member is limited to 5 minutes except by unanimous consent.

I have heard that radial tires on cars can save gas. Is this true

According to the Environmental Protection Agency radial tires result in about 3 percent improvement in fuel economy when compared to conventional non-belted bias tires.

I am a veteran of World War II. Do you know if I can apply for a home guarantee loan under the G.I. Bill?

The Veterans Administration informs me that expiration dates on G.I. loan eligibility were removed in 1970 and eligibility of World War II and Korean veterans was restored where their

I am interested in buying a mobile home and have some questions on financing such a purchase. Who can I talk to about this matter?

The Department of Housing and Urban Development publishes a free booklet on this subject which should aid you. Copies of 'Buying and Financing a Mobile Home' are available from Consumer Product Information Center, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Do VA pensioners over 72 years of age have to file annual income questionnaires anymore?

No. A recent law excludes pensioners 72 years of age and older, who draw benefits during two consecutive years, from filing annual income questionnaires. However, you still must report changes of income.

When is the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports going to publish its new "Blue Book" on physical education?

The Council informs me that copies of the revised and expanded "Youth Physical Fitness -- Suggested Elements of a School Program" will be sent in the coming weeks to each of secondary schools. The revised book includes information on ability grouping physical education, interval training, jogging, water exercises, weight training and agility drills, plus a section explaining how to develop community and administrative support for the physical education program. Other new additions include the Recovery Index Test of the American Medical Association's Committee on Exercise and Physical Fitness, and a test manual for the Presidential Physical Fitness Award program.

With Christmas just around the corner, I wonder if you would remind parents of the Consumer Affairs "Banned Toy List?"

The Consumer Product Safety Commision has a new telephone hot line providing a free, direct link between consumers and the agency in Washington. CPSC informs me that hot line operators will send you a list containing Federally banned toys and other toy safety information. If a consumer has a question about a particular toy or wants to make a complaint about a toy, the operator will take your phone number and a staff member will return the call. The toll free number to call in Maryland is 301-492-2937. entitlement had expired. Eligibility for GI loans now runs until you have used it. You may obtain the necessary information forms from your nearest VA office.

Who do I write to for a subscription to Monthly Labor Review?

Monthly Labor Review is published by the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics and is available from the Superintendent of Documents, Washing. D. C., for $9 a year.

How do you feel about the way Congress reviews and approves the federal budget? Are you in favor of a spending ceiling?

Sometime this year the House is expected to adopt changes in the way it annually reviews the Federal budget. The study committee, created in response to the 1972 debate over a Federal spending ceiling recommended reforms creating budget committees in each House to consider the annual budget from an overall perspective and tailor congressional appropriations and spending decisions into that framework. I still believe that the establishment of a flat and all-inclusive ceiling on Federal spending for the next fiscal year is a realistic and positive step in controlling the budget and ending inflationary legislation.

Will a veteran's compensation from VA be reduced if Social Security benefits are increased?

The Veterans Administration does not count any income against compensation for service-connected disabilities, including Social Security payments. Of course, income is a factor for pensions for non-service-connected disabilities.

Could you send me a summary of the Clean Air Act including information about its implementation, goals, cost and so on?

Your request can best be answered by ordering a copy of Public Affairs Pamphlet No. 494—"The Campaign for Cleaner Air." The address is Public Affairs, 381 Park Avenue South, New York 10016.

Is it true that a man retiring at the same age as a woman might get lower social security benefits even if both made the same salary?

This was true in the past when a woman's averages were based on working up to age 62 and a man's averages up to age 65. However, this is being adjusted so that by 1975 a man's work

How much is the U. S. owed in war debts by foreign governments?

Also will be averaged to age 62.

Approximately $46 billion of which $18 billion is past due from World War I. Incidentally I have joined with several congressmen in sponsoring a bipartisan resolution that would accelerate the immediate collection of these overdue debts.

Listen, Americans!

By DR. GEORGE S. BENSON

President—National Education Program

Searcy, Arkansas

The easiest thing for the American government and the American people to do in coping with the mid-century rise of the military colossus, Soviet Russia, is to accept the propostion that the Communist bosses really mean what Brezhnev said ...ey meant in his TV speech to America: that the USSR wishes to live in peace with the United States in a world in which antagonisms between nations and aggressive imperialistic thoughts evaporate. He said this in June and in the process of wishful thinking the American people wanted to believe him. A great many did.

As this column is written about two months later, I find an Associated Press dispatch from Washington in my morning newspaper: "Three Russian naval vessels led by a cruiser have been sighted in the Atlantic bound toward Cuba ... the Cruiser isakov, destroyer Derzky, and a tanker were seen some 100 miles northeast of the Bahamas. . . Meantime three Soviet Bear reconnaissance bombers have left Cuba, apparently bound for Russia after a visit of about a week."

And in the June 21 report of the House Committee on Internal Security is some chilling testimony given by Luis V. Manrara, who served for years as founder-president of The Truth About Cuba Committee, Inc. I know Luis Manrara. Until Communist Castro took over Cuba, Luis Manrara was one of Cuba's leading citizens, heading an accounting firm and prominently active in Cuba civic and cultural affairs. After fleeing to America in 1960 he became the voice and the symbol of hope of tens of thousands of exiled Cubans living mostly in Florida.

He gave testimony to the House Committee sitting in Miami on October 19, 1972. One of the most significant things he said was: "Today, Cuba is Soviet territory—an unsinkable missile carrier." I know from conversations with him, based on evidence brought out of Cuba by hundreds of refugees, that he is certain that Russia has some of its 50-megaton ("Doomsday") missiles in Cuba and that the whole island has been built into an offensive nuclear war base under the complete control of the Russians.

In recent years I have written repeatedly about the danger of this Russian Fortress which might be used someday in a first-strike war or to force an America surrender. I am passing along these recent developments because Brezhnev's recent dramatic pronouncements increase the danger that his "peace hopes" will be taken as valid by many American citizens—and thus further endanger our future national security.

Another significant development was the June 18 statement by former Undersecretary of State George Ball, who served two presidential administrations (Kennedy and Johnson) which at least publicly accepted the "peace" overtures of Soviet bosses. He said: "It is a dangerous basis for Western policy to conclude that the Soviet Union is no longer imperialistic, but dedicated to peaceful maintenance of the status quo. . . there is no reason to think they have put aside their belief in world revolution."

Dr. Hermimo Portell-Vila, Cuban historian and one of Luis Manrara's compatriots, reports: The Soviets are developing Cuba into a major naval operating base. "Cienfuegos—the Russian submarine base in the Caribbean—is merely the tip of the Soviet iceberg in the Western hemisphere," he says. He says that a nuclear plant now is operating in Cuba "capable of producing military quality fissionable (H-bomb) material."

Monday Night Merrymakers show Peters Fuel 42-14 Garrett National Bank series of 2141 and First National Bank high game of 856, Pat Filsinger series of 486, Nancy Hardesty 473 and Madeline Sluss, 466; Wanda Ripley high game of 183, Pat Filsinger, 182 and Esta Selby, 178.

Monday Night Late Mixed League is led by the Highlanders with a 38-14 record. High series was bowled by Barb Spetcher, 505 and Porter Welch, 534, high game for women was Barb Spetcher 188 and for men, Fred Colaw and Paul DeWitt, 202.

Early Bird League shows the Roadrunners 30½ - 17½; Robins series of 2179 and Doves, 773; Jackie Uphold series of 611 and games of 232 and 213; Diane King series of 508; Gerry Arnold, 498 and Marion Andrews game of 208.

Woodmen Choppers are 38-14; Larks had high game of 908 and Big Tee, series of 2649 on Mt. Top Men's League. John Halsey had game of 207; Ken Ridder, 206; Carroll Miller, 204 and series of 597, Ira Burns, a series of 578 and Ken Sisler, 570.

Legion Bine is 36-16 on Pin Busters League. Naylors had high series of 3022 and high game of 1084. George Grimm series of 603 and game of 221; Bud Glotfelty, series of 567; Jim Cogley series of 556 and game of 232 and Tom Coppett game of 234.

Observe 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Murray Robey, Sr. of White Plains, Md., recently observed their 50th wedding anniversary. Married October 20, 1923, they are parents of four: Mrs. Harvey C. Flemister, Jr., Mrs. David E. Klingaman, Silver Spring; Mrs. James L. Betsill, Jr., Jamestown, N. C.; and Major John M. Robey, Jr., White Plains. There are ten grandchildren.

Mr. Robey was educated at Charlotte Hall and Western Maryland, which honored him with a Mid-Century Award in Journalism for his career as a Journalist, first with Pathfinder Magazine, then with the Office of Inter American Affairs, and subsequently with the United States Information Agency, his combined positions representing an exacting career of forty one years.

He retired several years ago to their property in his native Charles county, after having lived in Washington for over thirty years. Mrs. Robey was the former Eleanor Glotfelty (Nellie), daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Glotfelty Sr., of Oakland. She was educated at Western Maryland college and Maryland University, an honor student at both. Her family, home and teaching have filled her life, with accent on the problem of learning of the brain damaged, handicapped and emotionally disturbed children. She taught Selbysport school before graduation from the University in 1924. The couple was honored with a family dinner at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Flemister.

Miss Susan C. Hullinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hullinger, Reading, Pa., became the bride of James J. A reception followed at the Holiday Inn.

The bride's mother is the former Virginia Killus, native of Mt. Lake Park, and the bride is a niece of Mrs. Orpha Killus Roy, of Oakland, who attended the wedding.

Mrs. Hinz is a 1973 graduate of Penn State university, majoring in Art Education. She was vice president of Zeta Tau Alpha social sorority. Her husband is majoring in Mining Engineering at Penn State university and will graduate in June. He is a member of Phi Kappa Tau social fraternity.

Mr. and Mrs. Hinz are residing at State College.

Newly-elected officers for the Sunday school at St. John's Lutheran church, Red House, are Mrs. Helen Roth, superintendent, Mrs. Elaine Roth, assistant superintendent; Mrs. Pat Rolf, adult department superintendent, Eugene Hauser, assistant; Terri Winters, secretary, Gary Beckman, asst. secretary.

Officers were elected Sunday, December 2.

Use Of Cars By Students Limited

On November 28 the Maryland State Board of Education resolved that the parents of students who drive to school should be urged to instruct their children to use school buses for travel to and from school. Furthermore the Board resolved that local school systems take steps to ban, wherever possible, the use of private automobiles by students to drive to and from school.

These steps, along with other measures yet to be acted upon, are being taken to further conserve fuel during the energy crisis. Other measures which possibly may be acted upon in the future may involve the reduction or elimination of activity buses, the reduction or elimination of field trips, and the increasing of walking requirements to pick-up points and to schools.

Eleven Are Killed On State Highways

Eleven persons lost their lives on Maryland highways last week, according to 1st. Sgt. James E. Harvey of the State Police. Seven of those killed were drivers, two were passengers and two were pedestrians. At least four of the deaths may have been prevented had seat belts been in use.

Alcohol was not a known contributing factor in any of the traffic fatalities this week, speed was involved in four and "driver error" in nine.

Persons killed through December 2 totaled 769 in comparison to 749 for the same period a year ago.

Sermonette By Area Ministers

by Rev Donald R. Thomas

Text: Jeremiah 7:1ff "The Word that came to Jeremiah from the Lord: 'Stand in the gate of the Lord's house, and proclaim there this word, and say, Hear the word of the Lord, all you men of Judah who enter these gates to worship the Lord. Thus says the Lord of hosts, the God of Israel, Amend your ways and your doings, and I will let you dwell in this place. Do not trust in these deceptive words: 'This is the temple of the Lord, the temple of the Lord, the temple of the Lord.'"

With all the problems that surround us and our society and especially with the new problems created by the energy crisis we increasingly hear the voices of the prophets of doom. These prophets tell us of a whole range of doom from the energy crisis being the end of this society to the ultimate end being very close at hand. It is of the utmost importance that we understand some very basic ideas concerning prophesy in the Old Testament and especially prophesy of doom. Contrary to what might seem the purpose of prophesy, upon first reading, that is unavoidable destruction, the real purpose is one of hope for the future.

Let us look at the words of the prophet Jeremiah. Notice that the words are not spoken as something that is inevitable: ". . . Amend your ways and your doings, and I will let you dwell in this place." Certainly doom is coming to the people of Israel if they do not amend their ways, but the prophesy is really just that, a call to amend. The doom only comes if they are unwilling to make those amends. The idea of doom then is the way that the prophet, as spokesman for God, points up the need to turn back to the true worship of God. To avoid the doom they need only to hear and respond.

The whole purpose for the prophet to speak his message, or for any prophet to speak of doom, is to give the people hope that they can still turn to the Lord. The prophets of the Old Testament never speak of doom strictly for its own sake but always with the ray of hope. Even when the prophet is relatively sure that the words he speaks will not be heard he persistently holds to that ray of hope.

As we hear the prophets of today we must listen for that ray of hope if they are to be heard at all. A prophet who speaks only the word of doom is very much out of line with prophetic tradition. The Word of God is never spoken just for the purpose of alarming and scare value, but is spoken in God's constant effort to reestablish His people in faith.

We will hear many prophets in the future, let us take heart, and as Saint Paul tells us "test the spirits."

Capitol Comment

All Around Maryland

Anne Arundel County and the City of Annapolis have been formally designated as "Bicentennial Communities" by the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission.

They are the first communities in Maryland to be so named. Nationally, 204 communities have received the "Bicentennial Community" designation, which recognizes that they have formally begun planning for the 1976 bicentennial observance.

It is my hope that other Maryland communities will follow Anne Arundel and Annapolis and apply through the Maryland Bicentennial Commission for this recognition.

A number of federal grants have been awarded to Maryland communities for interesting and worthwhile programs. Among the grants that have come through my office recently are:

• $107,021 to Prince George's County for the operation of a foster grandparent program that will use the services of 75 volunteers.

• $75,000 in the Maryland Community Development Administration to help plan for economic growth in the Patuxent area in the wake of scheduled cutbacks in activities at the Naval Training Center there.

• $315,398 and an additional loan of $1.7 million to the Anne Arundel County Housing Authority to develop 170 family public housing units south of Glen Burnie.

I am pleased that the Frederick Historic District has been added to the National Register of Historic Places. This action recognizes that the Frederick area has been associated with events that have made a significant contribution to the broad patterns of American history.

As an entry in the National Register, the Frederick Historic District will be protected from destruction, alteration and the introduction of elements that are considered out of character with the area.

As a Marylander, and a member of the Transportation Subcommittee of the Senate Appropriations Committee, which has jurisdiction over the Coast Guard budget, I was able to doubly appreciate the capabilities of the Coast Guard Yard at Curtis Bay.

The Yard will begin construction next year of two new buoy tenders. This will result in a modest increase in the Yard's current 1175-man work force and will add $1.6 million to the Yard's annual budget.

Garrett College Is Winner Saturday

Fort Detrick of Frederick replaced Ocean City Community college as the opening opponent for Garrett Community college last Saturday night and the Lakers won easily 95 to 66 at Mellenry.

Shooting at a 52.8 percent clip the Lakers made 46 of 82 shots and had four cagers in double figures. John Raseka had nine goals for 18 points. Dave Curtis finished with 14 while Steve Van Ausdale and Tom Bosley shared 24 tallies.

The invaders had the game's top member with Richard Brown tossing in a dozen goals and 14 of 19 free throws for 38 points.

Garrett, its previously announced opener with Ocean City CC having been forfeited, led 48 to 36 at halftime. All 12 of the Lakers hit the scoring column and they included Hall, Gibson, Slifk, Budinsky, Shoemaker, Davis, Ravenscroft and Yoder.

The lakers also have scheduled home games this Friday and Saturday. On Friday night at 8 o'clock the college team will play Chesapeake Community college, and on Saturday evening at 8 they will play Cecil Community college.

Checks on the Energy Crisis

Maryland, with the rest of the Nation, appears to be in for some hard times during the energy crisis that is upon us. I know that the citizens of our state will respond with their usual good sense and good humor in taking steps to conserve fuel and otherwise reduce the drain on our energy resources.

There is another step, however, that we in the Congress must take to insure that the national energy control program does not lose sight of one of our most basic national values—open accessibility to the government's decision-making process that will so vitally affect all of us in the months to come.

Central to the preservation of this value is the application of twin principles basic to the fair administration of the energy program. These are accountability for actions taken or not taken, and due process for all. These principles are the cornerstones of our government.

Like the national wage-price control program already in effect, the legislation establishing the energy control program grants wide authority to the Executive Branch. Bureaucrats will be making many decisions with little fundamental guidance. These decisions will affect whole regions of the country, entire industries and the jobs and daily living habits of many Americans.

To put a check on the actions of the Executive Branch to assure that they are consistent with our constitutional values, I proposed, and the Senate adopted an amendment to the energy bill.

It requires adequate notice and opportunity for comment before rules are adopted; the widest possible dissemination of information; publication of findings in support of decisions; more public hearings; and access to all material used in the decision-making process by the Energy Council, which will administer the energy control program.

I intend to introduce legislation that will apply the same rules to the Cost of Living Council, which directs the wage-price control program. Both these Councils are institutions for economic regulation that pose a threat to openness and accessibility, and to the constitutional values that we treasure.

No program will long retain or deserve popular support if its decisions are not arrived at by a process that appears open, fair, consistent, thorough, rational, enforceable and necessary. The preservation of these values is more important today than ever.

Summons To Greatness

"Summons to Greatness" is a collection of inspirational thoughts and practical ideas from the messages and addresses of Richard M. Nixon, president of the United States.

Here is the final message:

"Each moment in history is a fleeting time, precious and unique. But some stand out as moments of beginning in which courses are set that shape decades or centuries.

"Forces now are converging that make possible, for the first time, the hope that many of man's deepest aspirations can at last be realized. The spiraling pace of change allows us to contemplate, within our own lifetime, advances that once would have taken centuries.

"In throwing wide the horizons of space we have discovered new horizons on earth.

"For the first time, because the people of the world want peace, and the leaders of the world are afraid of war, the times are on the side of peace.

"Four years from now, America will celebrate its 200th anniversary as a nation. [illegible] lifetime of [illegible]

Court Rules Coal Cost Hike Legal

District Court Judge Robert R. Merhige, Richmond, Va., has denied a Virginia Electric and Power Co. request that Island Creek Coal company be prohibited from raising its prices to VEPCO.

Merhige ruled Monday that Island Creek could charge VEPCO $11 per ton of coal, $1.81 more than VEPCO says its contract with the coal firm stipulates.

Merhige set February 15 for a trial on the case after ruling the price increase would cause no irreparable harm to the power company, and said VEPCO could sue to recover the higher price if it won the main suit.

The operations involve the Mt. Storm Power station and the two local supplying mines, North Branch and Alpine, both owned by Island Creek Coal Company.

This program is open to the public with a registration fee of $2.00 for a single session or $5.00 for the entire program. The program will recess for the holidays on December 18th and will begin again on Tuesday, January 15, with the topics to be announced at a later date.

The driver of the car was not injured. Haggerty was taken by members of the Southern Rescue Squad to Garrett County Memorial Hospital for initial treatment.

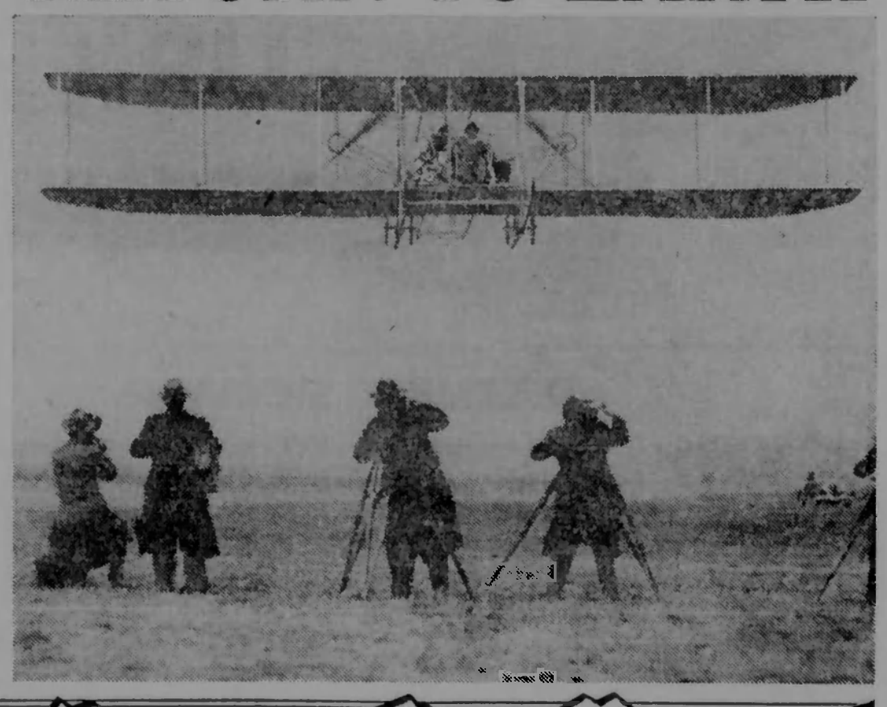
RETURN TO EARTH



December 1903—the law of gravity was questioned when the heavier-than-air machine left ground. Man was no longer chained to the earth.

It's a long way from Kitty Hawk to "jumbo jets." Although we can fly farther, faster today, one fact remains: sooner or later, we must return to terra firma, for earth—not sky—is our home.

Yet our house is not in good order. Pollution, war, hatred, misery mar this world. It shouldn't be like this—and it wouldn't . . . if we would let the Church help us transform Christ's example into human action.

ON TELLING AND SHOWING

Lesson for December 9, 1973

Background Scripture: John 1:29-51; 10:22-39.

"If you are the Christ," said the crowd to Jesus, "tell us plainly" (John 10:24). Has it ever occurred to you in reading the gospels how frequently Jesus seemed to resist all attempts to make him define himself by the use of the popular title of Messiah (Christ)?

Rev. ARhouse

Although he didn't absolutely reject the titles that men gave him, neither did he seem anxious to claim them. In fact, there were numerous occasions when he steadfastly refused to discuss the matter. He seemed to have a definite aversion to telling people "plainly" who or what he was.

The problem with names

One reason for his reticence was that certain religious factions had different expectations concerning these titles. For many, the designation Messiah meant a political or military leader sent by God to restore the Hebrew nation. Although Jesus seemed to see himself as the fulfillment of the messianic expectation, he obviously had no intention of assuming either political or military leadership. He believed he was annointed (what Messiah means) by God, but his understanding of his role and purpose was considerably different than what many people expected. He was there- fore hesitant to use a title that aroused the wrong expectations in people.

Another reason for his avoidance of titles was that he did not want to be bogged down in theological dispute. A good example of how this could happen is found in John 10 where we find him referring to God as "My Father . . . " (10:29). Immediately his critics pounce on his words, saying: "We stone you . . . for blasphemy; because you, being a man, make yourself God" (10:33). It is the word "Father" and the implication that Jesus is his "son" that is at the heart of their contention with him. Jesus attempts to show them in the scriptures that his use of the term is not blasphemy, but they are too immersed in their theology and doctrine to see his point.

Let me show you

Usually we find that Jesus refused to "tell" people who he was. Instead, he preferred to "show" them. For example, in response to their challenge to 'tell us plainly," he says: "The works that I do in my Father's name, they bear witness to me" (10:25). Later, when they attack him, he says: "I have shown you many good works from the Father: for which of these do you stone me?" (10:32).

Jesus preferred not to get involved in theological and doctrinal dispute, but instead wished to let his works speak for themselves. So, once again, Jesus is emphasizing the fruits of his ministry instead of doctrinal words: "If I am not doing the works of my Father, then do not believe me, believe the works, that you may know and understand that the Father is in me and I am in the 'Father" (10:38).

Like Jesus, we would probably be more effective in our discipleship if we did less telling and more showing.

CHRYSLER

VW Beetle
$2625.00

Plymouth Duster
$2511.00

Think again.

The VW Beetle is bigger than our Duster in one important category—price.

As you can see, the '74 Duster's manufacturer's suggested retail price is $114 dollars less than the '74 VW. Destination charges, state and local taxes not included.

That's something to think about.

Especially when you consider that Plymouth Duster seats five. The VW—only four. Duster offers three times as much trunk space.

Duster's engine develops about twice the horsepower and has an Electronic Ignition System that helps eliminate tune-ups. And Duster is heavier, wider and has a longer wheelbase than VW—for a better ride.

And finally, Duster still looks and acts like a compact. With easy handling and parking, good gas mileage and low upkeep. And with the money you save on Duster, you can put it toward extras like wheel covers, chrome bumper guards and whitewall tires as shown on the above Duster.

No wonder Chrysler Corporation sells more compacts than anyone else. And no wonder Duster is Chrysler Corporation's best selling compact.

That's something worth thinking about.

Hail To Holly

As you arrange your bouquet of holly you are using a custom of ancient Rome and the Teutonic tribes. Long ago they hung from their ceilings holly and evergreens, in the hope that spirits of the forests would find refuge among them during the winter. In Rutland County, England, it is commonly considered unlucky to bring holly into the house before Christmas Eve, but this does not seem to be true in America, where it is a standard beauty in green and white.

Ilex aquifolium is the real English holly, the only species surviving in Europe, and the type grown in Oregon to be sold for Christmas. Tho not so hardy in growth, its shiny leaves and yellow or red berries are more effective for beauty than American species, about nineteen of them. Japanese and Chinese hollies are smaller leaved and may be spineless.

Black alder or winterberry is the holly native to Garrett County. Its foliage gets black and sheds, with only red berries remaining. Usually found in swamplands, it can also adapt to woods soils. Inkberry is another common American wild holly.

Care must be taken to shield a holly from high winds, as its outer covering is a sensitive coating of growth, not a real bark. It is friendly to slightly acid soil. English holly needs a shield from strong morning sun.

Pollen travels by air from a male to a female tree before berries will be produced. Fortunately, the best time for trimming is December or later, so go now to your female tree and trim it with a pruning tool, leaving a new bud behind your cut for twig growth. You will need to enjoy it later, for the words of the old carol are true, 'Of all the trees within the wood, the holly bears the crown."

Under and by virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Garrett County, Maryland, passed on November 2, 1973, in the proceedings in No. 5834 Equity in said Court, wherein Arnold Savage and others are plaintiffs, and Glenn Savage and others are defendants, the undersigned being authorized and directed to sell the property hereinafter described, do hereby give notice that on

FIRST: Beginning for the first piece or parcel of land hereby intended to be conveyed at a stone pile at the end of the line of said tract which runs north 38 degrees West, 45 perches, and runing thence with original lines of the said tract, north 59 degrees west 38 perches, north 30 degrees west 54 perches, north 26 perches, south 36 degrees west 88 perches, South 89 degrees East 35 perches, South 66 degrees East 63 perches, thence by a straight line of the beginning, containing 18 acres, more or less.

Reserving, however, two rights of way over the land above described, the purpose of the two rights of way, hereby reserved and excepted, being to give a permanent and convenient outlet for the land lying on the south and east to the state road and the same to be of sufficient width that vehicles having occasion to use the roads could easily and conveniently pass each other on the said roads and to be an appurtenanct to the land belonging to the said Troy C. Friend to the south and east.

SECOND: Also all that other part of the tract called High Water Resurveyed and a small part of the tract called Generals Wish, the same lying along the State Road leading from Friendsville to Route No. 219 along Bear Creek and on the north side of said stream and begins at a point on the north side of Bear Creek where the 37th line of High Water Resurveyed crosses the said stream, and runs with the said 37th line to a point on the north side of Bear Creek; thence up said stream and on the north side thereof to the place of beginning, and contains one and one-half acres, more or less.

Being the same as conveyed by Troy C. Friend, to Erwin Savage and Gean Savage by deed dated December 17, 1943 and recorded in Liber A.G.R. No. 134, folio 398, one of the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland.

The above described two tracts of land ajoin the hard surfaced county highway leading from United States Route No. 219 to the Town of Friendsville. It is covered by young timber with Bear Creek meandering through part of the same. This would be a good investment property.

AUDITOR'S STATEMENT

We have examined the statements of receipts collected and expenses dishursed and related cash account of the Garrett County Board of Education for the year ended June 30, 1973. We converted the accounts from a cash basis to an accrual basis for statement purposes. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and accordingly included such tests of the accounting records and such other audiling procedures as we considered necessary under the circumstances.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements and exhibits fairly present the Garrett County Board of Education's position as June 30, 1973, and income collected and expenses disbursed by the Board of Education for the year then ended on an accrual basis.

Respectfully suhmitted,
(Sgd.) George McLaughlin
Certified Public Accountant

Gerald R. Ford Becomes 40th Vice President

Gerald R. Ford was sworn in as the nation's 40th vice president on Thursday night, becoming the first man to take office under the Constitution's 25th amendment.

With President Nixon at Ford's side and with Mrs. Ford holding the bible, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger administered the 71-word oath in the House chamber.

In a brief speech stressing the hope for national unity that had been his theme since his nomination, Ford said he saw neither Republicans nor Democrats in his chamber. "At this moment of visible and living unity," Ford said, "I see only Americans."

Ford was sworn in just over an hour after the House, by a 387 to 35 vote, completed Congress' confirmation of his nomination as vice-president.

Ford who has been House Republican leader, had served in the same chamber for 25 years.

The vice presidency had been vacant for just over two months following Spiro T. Agnew's resignation before he pleaded no contest October 10 to a federal tax evasion charge.

Ford was the first man to become vice president under the 25th amendment's machinery calling for nomination by the president and confirmation by both the House and Senate. Ford was elected to the House in 1948 and unseated Republican leader Charles A. Halleck in 1965 with the help of a reform group of young Republicans. He led Republican opposition to the late Lyndon B. Johnson's Great Society programs and then herded all but a few of President Nixon's programs through the House. Ford generally supported the President's programs not only because he was House Republican leader but because he said, the two men shared about the same beliefs and philosophies.

Ford consistently voted for a strong U. S. defense and generally opposed high federal spending and federal programs to force rapid social change in the country.

Ford said his major job as vice president would be to become "a calm communicator and ready conciliator" to reduce friction and bring cooperation between the White House and Congress. He is sixty years old. The Fords have three sons and a daughter.

Public Hearing Set In Oakland

The Water Resources Administration, Maryland Department of Natural Resources, will hold public hearings in Oakland on Wednesday, January 2, at 9:30 a.m. on applications by two coal companies for permits to discharge strip mine waste and run-off waters into streams of Western Maryland.

Buffalo Coal Company is seeking a permit for two of its Garrett County operations. One would discharge an average flow of 30,000 gallons of waste water per day into an unnamed tributary of South Prong, Lostland Run, southeast of Deer Park. While the other operation will discharge no contaminated water, a permit is required on storm water management. The nearest stream to the second mine is Glade Run.

The hearings, to be held at the County Courthouse, will also consider the application of the G & S Coal Company for a permit covering effluent discharge from a sediment basin collecting strip mine run-off into Elklick Run, southwest of Bloomington. Average flow into the stream would be 3,000 gallons per day.

The waters involved are classified for water contact recreation, for propagation of trout, other aquatic life and wildlife.

The Department requires assurance that impact on water quality will be minimized.

Information on the applications may be inspected at the Administration's office at Highland Estates, Naves Crossroads, Cumberland, and those wishing to comment are invited to submit a statement to the Director, Water Resources Administration no later than five days preceding the hearing. Oral statements may also be made at the hearing.

State Files Appeal In Mining Case

The State of Maryland has filed a notice of appeal of a Garrett County Circuit Court opinion issued last month declaring the state out of order by banning strip mining for coal on state grounds without just compensation.

Through attorneys Warren K. Rich and Henry R. Lord the State Department of Natural Resources filed notice of appeal to the state Court of Special Appeals of Judge Stuart F. Hamill's November 28 decision in favor of the Georges Creek Land and Coal Company and the Buffalo Coal Company.

The suit, heard in the Garrett court room on October 26 and 27, challenged the state's right to condemn strip mining for coal on state-owned grounds, specifically the Savage River State forest, while not providing for compensation of the lost mineral rights.

The coal companies named as defendants Harry B. Buckley, director of the Bureau of Mines, and James B. Coulter, secretary of DNR.

Since Judge Hamill's decision the Buffalo firm, which had been exercising Georges Creek's rights to the coal, has been continuing to perform only that general cleanup and reclamation work permitted by the judge in a preliminary judgment last summer.

A Buffalo spokesman said that attorneys for both parties would be meeting soon to iron out legal technicalities which could result in some resumption of mining pending the outcome of DNR's appeal.

One Critically Burned Tues. In Explosion, Fire

Thomas Whiteman Was Loading Shells With Gunpowder

A 26-year-old man was critically burned in a gunpowder explosion that gutted one apartment of the Grover Stemple home on Alder street in the ensuing fire Tuesday afternoon about 4:30.

In critical condition in the burn center of Mercy hospital in Pittsburgh, is Thomas Whiteman, a supervisor for the Bausch and Lomb lens manufacturing plant east of Mt. Lake Park, who was engaged in loading shotgun shells for skeet shooting when a short in a tape player being plugged in set off the explosion.

His wife was slightly burned when she attempted to extinguish the flames. Mr. Whiteman suffered third degree burns over about 40 percent of his body. Both were taken to Garrett County Memorial hospital by the Southern Rescue squad. He was later taken to the burn center and his wife accompanied him to be at his side.

Meanwhile the Oakland Fire Department was called and upon arriving found the entire apartment in flames. They immediately put in a call for Deer Park firemen to assist. The fire trucks stopped briefly on Alder street, because of an insufficient address as to the location of the fire.

Trouble ensued for both the Oakland and Deer Park fire trucks, with their traps to the fire. A Deer Park pumper truck had an oil line leak which ruined the engine, and when the Oakland pumpers arrived, it was found that one had a weak pumping system. However firemen said there was no difficulty in getting plenty of water on the fire, although one hose was ruined.

Firemen estimated the loss on the building at $5,000 and on the contents, $2,500. Damage to the apartment of the Paul Overdorffs was confined to smoke and water damage, although firemen said the explosion ripped one hole into the living room.

Mr. Whiteman was in the kitchen of his apartment at the time of the explosion. He and three other men operate a skeet range. The range was closed for the season and all equipment had been brought to Whiteman's home and he was loading shells for future skeet shooting when he plugged in the tape player.

Whiteman has been employed at Bausch and Lomb since April, 1971.

Oakland firemen who were called around 4:30 answered with two pumpers, a water truck and 27 men. Deer Park provided a pumper truck and an equipment truck. Oakland firemen were not dismissed until 9 p.m.

There had been reports that two five gallon cans of gasoline in the shed in back of the kitchen had also exploded, but firemen said the cans were still intact.

The house is still owned by Mrs. Grover Stemple, who now resides near the home.

The grandfather retired as assistant postmaster at the Oakland post office about two years ago. His maternal grandfather, John Koczak took part in the ceremony.

John joined troop 132 as a Tenderfoot in February, 1971, became second class July 13, a first class on January 25, 1972. Six months later he won the Star status and by February 26, 1973, had earned his Life badge. He was accepted as an Eagle on October 17. He is the first member of his troop to attain that rank.

He served in various offices of his troop which includes 47 members at present.

Thieves Enter Center St. School Twice Thursday

Thieves apparently chose the wrong door when they broke into Center Street School sometime last Thursday night.

After breaking a window and entering the side door on the library side leading to the basement cafeteria they found that the door leading to the hall and stairway was locked.

Apparently they then went to the upper side of the building, broke a window and entered there. Evidently several teachers desks and the principal's office had been searched, but to date nothing was listed as missing.

Oakland town policemen are continuing their investigations, according to Chief Percy Lawton.

Assessment

three year period as required by legislation enacted during the 1973 session of the General Assembly, as well as rigid regulations established for protesting assessments.

Under state law, any assessment increasing more than 36 percent over a three year period will have any excess above 36 percent "phased in" during the next three years. For example, Mr. Shoemaker said, if an assessment should increase from $10,000 to $14,200, the increase is 42 percent, or six percent above the limit. The new law requires that the increase be 33 percent, 39 percent and 42 percent for tax bills issued in 1974, 1975, and 1976. In this instance property owners would have the tax bill from in 1974 based on assessment of $13,800, in 1975 on $14,000, and the final bill on $14,200.

If a property owner wishes to protest an assessment he must follow a set procedure.

An assessment is the only tax-oriented charge that may be challenged by the owner before it becomes official. Mr. Shoemaker pointed out but many owners ignore this notice and then attempt to challenge it when bills are issued in July. Mr. Shoemaker said. By law, this is too late to affect the current billing.

Each owner is entitled to an explanation of his assessment and he may carry any protest from the local assessor to the newly appointed Property Tax Appeal board, then to the Maryland Tax court, and finally to the Maryland Court of Appeals.

The notice received by the property owner is specific and clear. Any protest made must be in writing forwarded to the local assessment office within 20 days to be registered as a formal and legal protest.

Normally Mr. Shoemaker said, about five percent of new assessments draw protests.

An assessment is a statistical and precise means of apportioning the expense of government; the largest part of which goes to education. Each owner may study the assessment roll to determine that he has been assessed just like comparable properties. The assessment of any individual or firm is a matter of public record and may be determined by any interested property owner who wishes to see them at the local assessment office.

Every property in the state of Maryland is to be assessed according to the same methods and judgment considerations which are not subject to the decision of local governments. The local government, however, uses the total of these assessments to determine the tax rate for the coming year; since it is the total expense of government, such as education, police, welfare, libraries, public works, etc., that finally determines the actual tax dollars to be collected from each property owner.

It is the obligation of the local assessors to uniformly determine an assessment for each property.

Presently, the law as well as the policy of the Department of Assessments and Taxation, requires that property be physically reviewed every three years, but a recent Court ruling has led to a system that will continue the three year physical review system while the rest of the properties are reviewed by a system of statistical analysis. This will mean that every assessment is subject to change each year.

Mr. Shoemaker said any questions regarding specific properties should be directed to the local assessment office, but any question on the general policy, method or theory of assessments may be directed to him, route 8, Box 191-A, Frederick, Md.

Mr. Shoemaker is endeavoring to create better understanding of the assessment process by the public.

Proudfoot-Kahl Nuptials Held

Miss Louise Kahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Kahl, Cumberland, became the bride of Michael Proudfoot, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Proudfoot, Oakland, on August 12. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Fred Illick, at an outdoor service at Zion Lutheran church. Accident. Organist, Mrs. Fred Illick, accompanied Mrs. John Kahl, vocalist, sister-in-law of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a full length gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta, and featured an empress waistline. The bodice had a transparent yoke, mandarin collar and Bishop sleeves. Sequins enhanced the front of the bodice. The skirt of Chantilly lace had a straight panel in the front with tiers of scalloped lace cascading down the sides and back into a chapel train. A double tiered veil of bridal illusion fell from a profile headpiece of Chantilly petals edged with pearls. The bride's only jewelry was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a cascade bouquet of white mums and roses.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Esther Bittinger, Oakland. Bridesmaids were Miss Grace Johnson, Morgantown, W. Va.; Miss Carol Lewis, Cumberland and Miss Marie Proudfoot, sister of the groom, Harrisonburg, Va. Nieces of the bride, Miss Debra Thomas and Miss Brenda Thomas, Latrobe, Pa., were junior bridesmaids. Flower girl was Miss Michelle Proudfoot, niece of the groom, Oakland.

Best man was Gary Shaffer, Oakland. Ushers were Doug Bittinger, Oakland; James Crabtree, Oakland, and George Kahl, brother of the bride, Cumberland. Master Dale Bittinger, of Oakland, nephew of the bride, served as ringbearer.

A reception followed in the church fellowship hall. Mrs. Marie Coddington, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Donna Kahl, sister-in-law of the bride, served cake. Mrs. Phyllis Stemple, aunt of the groom, and Mrs. Linda Proudfoot, sister-in-law of the groom, served punch. Mrs. Kathy Walizer registered guests while Miss Susan Landini, Miss Jon Malady, Miss Sherry Malady and Miss Cindy Hanks, assisted with gifts.

For a trip to southern West Virginia the bride wore a yellow pants suit outfit with navy blue accessories.

The bride is employed as a staff nurse in the intensive care unit at West Virginia university medical center. She is a graduate of Fort Hill High school, Cumberland, and received her associate degree in nursing from Allegany Community college, Cumberland.

A graduate of Southern High school the groom is presently employed at Central TV and Appliance Repair, Westover, W. Va., and is attending West Virginia university. The couple resides at route 10, LaMesa Trailer court, Morgantown.

The bride was guest of honor at showers given by Mrs. Sandy Kanfer and Miss Grace Johnson. A rehearsal barbecue was given by the groom's parents at the groom's home.

Introduces Bill To Hike Oil Supply

Legislation increasing the domestic supply of oil by opening the Naval Petroleum Reserve in Elk Hills, Cal., has been co-sponsored by Rep Goodloe Byron.

Byron indicated the facility would provide 180,000 barrels of oil per day for the Naval Fleet, reducing U. S. military demands on domestic oil sources by a like amount.

Prior to the Arab embargo, the Armed Services were processing 350,000 barrels per day of foreign oil and 350,000 barrels per day of domestic oil. Today, all but a small amount must come from domestic supplies.

"It goes without saying that our fleet must be supplied its fuel needs in the national interest," Byron said, "but this bill also satisfies a double need by increasing the availability of petroleum for necessary domestic uses."

The Denver mint stamps out 17.5 million pennies daily.

Two Are Sought on Holdup Charge

Warrants were issued last Thursday for two men in connection with a holdup recently at the First National Bank in Garrett, Pa., in which more than $8,000 was taken.

Pennsylvania State Police said those named in the warrants are William Alexander Thompson, 19, of Meyersdale, Pa., and Donald Warren Durst, 24, route 1 Grantsville.

Thompson has been listed as absent without leave from the Army according to police. Durst was listed as five feet, eight inches tall, weighing 130 pounds with long brown hair and blue eyes.

The warrants charge the two with robbery, theft and receiving stolen goods. Police said the men were armed and considered dangerous.

They fled from the scene of the holdup in a 1968 Chevrolet station wagon, and police believed them to be traveling in a 1964 red and white Oldsmobile.

A spokesman for the bank said the two men entered the building Monday afternoon, masked and armed with a sawed-off shotgun and a pistol. The men scooped up money from three of the five cash drawers at the bank. Several patrons and employes of the bank were ordered to lie down on the floor during the holdup.

After the men left the bank the husband of one of the bank patrons said he saw them get into a station wagon and head north on route 6.3.

The two men are still at large, according to Pennsylvania police.

By a very nice coincidence, one of the best times of the year to do the pruning on holly trees is just before Christmas. Pruning helps rather than hurts, if it is done right.

When pruning American holly for Christmas, the pruning should be distributed over the entire tree. Keep in mind the typical cone-shaped form of the tree and try to maintain it. If a twig is cut back to a branch or a branch is cut back to the trunk, no new twig or branch will start at that point, but if you cut back to a bud or if a stub is left, new growth will develop. Tree paint isn't necessary for small wounds.

Use sharp tools for pruning holly. Never break off a branch. The direction in which holly buds point is the direction in which new shoots will grow. By pruning back to the proper bud, the direction of the branch can be controlled and unsightly gaps can be filled in.

Holly should be cut the day before it is used and the stems should stand in fresh water as long as possible, because the dry air in the room causes the leaves to slowly lose color and drop. It should look good for several days or under the best condition for several weeks.

Nixon and Unions

Wherein does the AFL-CIO have a right to complain and ask for the impeachment of the President? The President has done much to help this country and its people. The unions have done much to harm this country and its people.

The unions, unfortunately, have gone too far with their never-ending, excessive demands for more money, etc. This is one of the biggest problems the President has in this country - - due to the inflation caused by the constant demands of the unions for higher wages, thereby driving prices up and creating a vicious circle.

Wouldn't it be better if we could in some way impeach some of the unions, or presidents of unions?

Several Minor Accidents Occur During Past Week

Several relatively minor accidents occurred during the past week in the southerly part of the county. There were no apparent personal injuries. One yesterday morning involved a rig near the bottom of Bloomington Mountain.

Donald Ray Shreve, California, Md., was headed east down hill on State Route 135 in a tractor-trailer about 1:30 yesterday morning. Shreve stated the vehicle jumped out of low gear and he was unable to shift to another. The operator then went to the left, crossed to the westbound side of the road and hit a ditch. This caused the trailer to turn over and rest against the embaukment. Trooper Dale K. Wilhams investigated the accident.

Frances Ann Botyard, Crellin, was headed west on the Crellin road late Monday evening. A car operated by Lash Rocky Larue Lloyd, Kitzmiller, driving east, crossed the center of the road and hit the left front of the Bolyard car. Tfc. Ronald Lewis charged Lloyd with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Cecil W. Knotts, Crellin, was driving west on the Crellin road near the Old Crellin road Sunday evening when he hit an icy patch in the road. The car crossed to the left side of the road, struck a utility pole, a wire fence and came to rest headed east on the left side of the road. Tfc. Lewis made no charges.

Two cars sideswiped about one o'clock Sunday morning on U.S. Route 50, near Gorman, due to snow-covered road conditions. Walter R. Skeweris, RD 1, Gormania, was headed east on Route 50. Micky C. Wolfe, Alder Street, Oakland, was passing a tractor-trailer and started to slide and came in contact with the Skeweris car. Trooper Williams made no charges.

Another accident about a half hour later occurred on U.S. Rt. 219, near Lake Shore drive. Sandra L. Stewart, RD 1, Oakland, was traveling north when a vehicle proceeding south, crossed the center line of the road and headed for her car. Sandra Stewart hit her brakes, skidded, overturned and came to rest against an embankment. Trooper Williams investigated.

Gerald W. Mayhew, Westernport, was driving east on the Savage River road early last Saturday morning when a deer came from the right. Mayhew went to the left but was unable to avoid hitting the animal with the right front of his car. Tpr. Williams investigated this mishap also.

Resolution On Emergency Service Signed Monday

Gov. Marvin Mandel was in Cumberland Monday to sign a joint Allegany-Garrett Co. resolution implementing Region 5 of the State Emergency Medical Service (EMS).

He told his audience of about 200 persons that he had become determined to set up a statewide emergency medical service after an auto accident nearly took the life of one of his closest friends.

The EMS has been set up to coordinate activities of rescue squads, hospitals, and State Police helicopters and to help provide additional equipment necessary to give first-class medical care to anyone injured anywhere in the state.

The joint resolution between counties is an affirmation of the counties' willingness to cooperate and pay the local share of costs for anything else needed to make comprehensive EMS a reality here. Items needed include radio and EKG units.

Also present at the meeting was Dr. R. Adam Cowley, of the University of Maryland Shock Trauma Center, who was appointed by the governor to implement the statewide program of EMS.

Col. J. Haig Jackson, president of the Health Planning Council for Appalachian Maryland, was master of ceremonies. Other speakers were Wayne Hamilton, president of the Garrett County Commissioners; Burton Smith, president of the Allegany commissioners, and Harry Teter, director of the Appalachian Regional Commission. Earl Opel and Bernard Guy, Garrett's other commissioners, attended.

The resolution signed Monday by the governor and approved by the Allegany and Garrett counties recognizes the Appalachian EMS coordinating committee program, which will have 15 representatives from each county.

Garrett and Allegany counties form Region 5. Other regions are Washington and Frederick counties, metropolitan Baltimore area; metropolitan Washington area, and the Eastern Shore.

In a statement by Col. Jackson, the Garrett County Rescue Squads are second only to the Baltimore region in what the squads are equipped to do.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

A man who knows little, suspects much. I know little, thus I suspect much. Our large world has become small through mass media, but our communication seems to have broken down.

How is it possible for the average layman to arrive at a reasonable deduction concerning the affairs of our nation, and world? Shall we believe the tight lipped conservatives, or the Utopian liberals? Is there a middle of the roader who can gain our confidence? It is very discouraging and depressing when a great segment of our politicians in all parties fail to communicate with us in straight forward talk. I am not being facetious nor do I intend sacrilege when I arrange a little bit of Scripture, and say, "We were strangers and they took us in."

College To End Semester Friday

Frostburg State College begins to wind down the first semester of its 1973-71 academic year this week as students complete final examinations and the College prepares to close for the holiday season.

Students will write final examinations through Friday, December 14. Residence halls close at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday, December 15 and will reopen at 2 p.m. on Sunday, January 6. Final registration and orientation for the second semester will be held on January 7 and 8, and classes for the new term begin January 9.

The extended vacation period results from accumulated holidays which were not observed by Frostburg State College employees plus two additional closing days ordered by Governor Marvin Mandel to conserve energy.

December 24 and December 31 have been declared holidays by the Governor, while December 26, 27, 28 and January 2 will be observed at the College for Defender's Day, Columbus Day, Veterans' Day and Maryland Day, respectively.

No Final Payment Date To Wheat Growers Needed

As a result of the rise in wheat prices since August, no final payments to producers will be required under the 1972 set-aside program for wheat, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced today.

This represents a savings in farm payments of around $380 million over 1972 payments to wheat farmers.

The Department also announced that no refund will be required from an estimated $175,696,000 in preliminary payments to wheat farmers, made shortly after July 1, which were larger than the final face value of wheat certificates.

The preliminary wheat payments were made in compliance with provisions of the Agricultural Act of 1970. On July 1, based on current market and future prices, it was estimated that the total 1973 domestic wheat certificate value would be 90 cents per bushel. All participating wheat farmers received 1973 preliminary payments of 68 cents per bushel in accordance with legislation that specifies preliminary payments for wheat of 75 percent of the estimated value of certificates.

The final wheat payment normally would be the difference between the final face value of the domestic certificate and the preliminary payment. Final face value is the difference between 100 percent of parity on July 1 and the national average wheat price farmers received for the 5-month period, July through November.

The evening's program included a film strip on parliamentary procedure, and a movie on "Motorcycle Safety." Debbie Fike was named as club reporter. A pizza party concluded the evening's events.

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THREE COMMON FAILINGS

Lesson for December 16, 1973

Background Scripture: John 3:16-21; 5:30-47; 12:37-50.

"What do you find in that old book?" someone once asked me of the Bible. My reply surprised him: "Oh, a lot of stories about people today!"

What I meant, of course, was that many of the Biblical characters are quite like people today in terms of their problems and concerns. What the Bible tells us about these characters is often very helpful in understanding people and life in our own time.

Rev. Althouse

For example in John 12 we find Jesus encountering three types of people who are not strangers to our contemporary religious scene.

"Yet they did not believe . . ."

The first of these is the person who is determined not to believe regardless of what man or God does to convince him. The late educator and philosopher Claude Duease noted that in many people the "will to disbelieve" is one of the controlling factors of life. As blindly as some people cling to superstition, these people, perhaps irrationally, cling to their disbelief.

Jesus acknowledged this kind of person in his parable of "Dives" and "Lazarus." Noting that Dives wanted Labarus to return from the dead to warn his brothers against disbelief, Jesus observed that some people would not believe even if they saw a man rising from the dead. Thus, too, John tells us: "Though he had done so many signs before them, yet they did not believe in him . . ." (12:37).

No matter how many dramatic works Jesus might perform, some people are determined to remain unconvinced. Many of us come into contact with that type of person every day. In them, disbelief is nothing less than an act of will.

"They loved the praise of men . . ."

A second contemporary type is the person who believes in Christ but does not acknowledge it except privately. John tells us of this type of person: ". . . many even of the authorities believe in him, but for fear of the Pharisees they did not confess it . . ." Why? The answer: ". . . lest they should be put out of the synagogue" (12:42).

It is often amazing to me what people will do to persuade you that, although they have a religious affiliation, they do not take it seriously. Nothing seems to unnerve them so much than that someone will think they are serious about their faith. John knew the reason: "For they loved the praise of men more than the praise of God" (12:43). That's not so ancient an emotion, is it?

The third type of person is probably even more common: the person who acknowledges his faith, but fails to put it into practice. Jesus warns those people: "If any one hears my sayings and does not keep them . . ." (12:47). The consequence, Jesus says, is not that Jesus will judge that person, but that the person will deny himself of the most precious of all God's gifts: "He who believes in the Son has eternal life . . ." (3:36).

Plenty of cheap land for hardy pioneer families. Would you like to be among the first to stake out a claim? Free transportation in the fastest, most modern vehicle an added inducement. Bring your own air and water.

Not interested! That's just as well—we're talking about the moon.

Far more, we need earnest men and women eager to explore the earth's spiritual frontiers . . . people who will seek courageously for Christian answers to the complicated problems progress has created . . . families trying to enrich their homes and their world with faith and love.

The Church is the homestead of such pioneers. Its grasp encompasses heaven and earth . . . from the throne of God to the depths of a little child's soul.

It cannot fathom the mysteries of outer space. But it will reveal to any man the Center of this universe.

Feature On Don Bender Open House In Magazine

The annual Christmas Open House of the Don Benders in Kitzmiller is not being held this year due to unusual circumstances, but the color and spirit of the event will be sustained this year in the Maryland magazine which is featuring the event in the winter edition. Color photographs portray the festive atmosphere of the Bender home in past years.

Another story of local interest in the current issue is entitled "Keeping Locomotives on the Go," telling of the Chessie System's Cumberland locomotive education center trains the men who keep the engines running.

Subscriptions to the quarterly publication of the Department of Economic and Community Development are $4 per year, $7 for two. Single copies at $1 each are available at newsstands and book stores, or may be ordered by writing to the magazine at 2525 Riva Road Annapolis.

Shopping Tips For Holiday Time

Holiday time can completely upset a family budget. There are many ways you can help keep the budget down.

Plan menus for all holiday entertaining, including those for desserts, as well as full meals. Write it all down! Post the menus where they'll be a constant reminder.

Go over all recipes carefully and list necessary ingredients. Be sure to add the exact amounts to avoid over-buying. Check your food supply on hand before making out a complete shopping list for items you will need.

Whenever possible, purchase lesser-grade foods for salads, casseroles, etc., where appearance is not all important. Lesser-grade turkeys with minor defects are especially good for creamed dishes or sandwiches.

Plan ahead of time for using appetizing dishes made from left-overs for family meals. Many such foods may be frozen ahead of time. Be sure to store any frozen foods in moisture-vapor-proof containers and wrappings.

Read the weekend food ads in newspapers of food specials. Have your shopping list flexible enough so that you might take advantage of individual store specials. Don't buy more than you can use or properly store until used.

A good tip anytime is to properly handle fresh produce so as not to bruise and cause early deterioration.

Delegate DeCorsey Bolden, Oakland prepared for introduction House Bill 131 to prohibit casting of rays of artificial light on any woods fields orchards, livestock, wild animals or birds dwellings or buildings.

The bill states that it does not apply to normal use of headlights of a vehicle traveling on any public road in a normal manner, or to any police, emergency or utility company vehicle using spotlights during work or to a farmer or landowner checking his land, livestock or poultry.

Among other bills readied for introduction is one that would mandate the death sentence for some first degree murders.

The measure would automatically mean capital punishment for any person convicted of the following crimes.

Murder while in the perpetration of or attempt of committing rape, sodomy, armed robbery, kidnapping, discharging a destructive device of bomb or unlawful seizure of an aircraft.

Murder of an elected or appointed federal, state or local official.

Any other first degree murder would automatically mean a life sentence. Another proposed bill seeks to outlaw the use of pellet guns in the state.

The cost of living took its biggest jump in the last 12 months than in the last two decades.

THE REPUBLICAN

VOLUME 97 | OAKLAND, GARRETT COUNTY, MD. DECEMBER 20, 1973 | PER COPY 15c | NUMBER 43

Christmas, 1973 . . .

"What better time than Christmas for every American to reaffirm his faith in God and emulate the great builders of our nation—God-fearing men—who turned to prayer for guidance and inspiration. Only through prayer and faith can we assure the continuance of freedom without fear—tolerance without tyranny—democracy and lasting world peace.

"Without the worship of God, life is stark. On this Christmas day let us humbly pay homage to Christ who bauibled himself for mankind. Let us resolve, through Christian fellowship, to do our part to maintain the rich heritage of our country and to help those less fortunate peoples of the world." —From The Sunshine magazine, December, 1973, published by Sunshine Press, Litchfield, Ill.

Construction Well Underway For Two Mt. Lake Stores

ROOM TO EXPAND—Manor Builders Supply is looking forward to the day when it can set up shop in this new 100 by 240-foot building. Robert Shaffer plans to add additional items in his housewares, hardware, budding supplies and furniture lines. located near the Mt. Lake Post Office. Owner

Mt. Lake Park will be the home for two more new businesses next spring, a hardware store and a restaurant.

Manor Builders Supply is in the process of constructing a 100 by 240-foot building to house their hardware and housewares business.

The new building just east of the Mt. Lake Post Office, is being constructed by Robert Shaffer, owner, on land sold to him by H. M. Weeks.

Construction by Mr. Shaffer's construction company began in October. Opening date for the new store has been set for March 15.

Insufficient parking space within the Oakland limits is being remedied by the ab-space lot at the new site. The new building also offers expansion room, so that Manor Builders can offer a greater line in all departments.

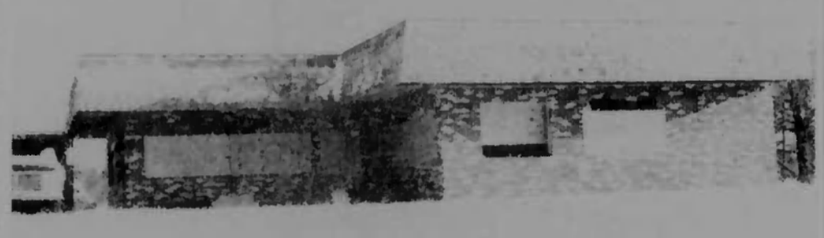
After opening the new store, the staff will increase to 20. There are 15 employes at the present location, and five others in training.

The other new building will house a new business venture for Graham Weeks. His building, located just east of Southern States' new Cooperative, will hold both a restaurant and a gift shop.

These two operations are being combined in one brick building. The main dining room will specialize in hoagies, sandwiches, salads, desserts and delicatessen foods. This room, along with the cooking area, will cover 2,300 square feet.

Another dining room, for short order foods such as roast beef sandwiches, will cover 768 square feet.

The gift shop, also covering 768 square feet, will display and offer for sale all types of local crafts, sold on a commission basis.



NEW RESTAURANT AND GIFT SHOP will be housed in this brick structure beginning in April or May. Graham Weeks is having the structure put up to house a gift shop featuring local crafts on one side, and a restaurant with two dining rooms, built along the order of the McDonald's, Roy Rogers and Winkies style, on the other.

The building is being constructed by Dale C. Harvey Construction Company. Mr. Weeks plans to employ as many as ten persons, and may have the restaurant open 24 hours a day.

Mr. Weeks hopes to have both restaurant and gift shop open by April or May. Construction began in early October.

Just a few steps away, still another building is under construction. Possible future plans here are to house a shoe store and a men's clothing store on one side and a quick-service grocery on the other.

No name has yet been chosen for the restaurant-gift shop or for the clothing center.

Mr. Weeks hopes that a mini-shopping center will have its nucleus in his shops, and will eventually include stores for women's and infants' clothing.

Reminder!

Another reminder for the issue of The Republican for Thursday, December 27. There is a need for some shifting in time since Christmas Eve and Christmas Day will fall on Monday evening and Tuesday, December 24 and 25.

In order to insure their appearance on Thursday, December 27, all advertisements for that week must be in the office by noon on Monday, December 24. It would also be preferable if correspondents would endeavor to get their material into the office at least one day early. The newspaper office will be closed on Christmas day but will endeavor to go to press at the usual time. The cooperation of all is anticipated.

This will be the usual New Year's issue.

Second Storm Blankets Area

Schools Remain In Session With Roads Open

Garrett County and the balance of the tri-state area found themselves blanketed by the second major snowstorm of the season, for the second week in a row.

Last week nearly ten inches of snow was recorded with traffic remaining at near normal proportions.

This week's storm began Sunday evening with the snow emergency plan going into effect at 9:15 p.m. on the Mountain Top as well as Allegany County. Most of the heavy fall came early Monday with flurries continuing through the day. The storm tapered off Monday afternoon when the wind kicked up causing some drifting.

Even though the roads remained open, school was dismissed at noon Monday. Classes were in session Tuesday in the county, however while schools in neighboring counties were closed.

This week's storm affected the entire Atlantic seaboard, from the Carolinas to northern New England, snarling traffic and public transportation service for millions of people.

Washington and Philadelphia had their deepest snow in nearly two years and Baltimore the deepest in three years. State offices closed in Harrisburg, Pa. Power blackouts hit several areas.

Activities continued in Garrett County with a minimum of interruption. State and county roads remained open and there was little delay in the traffic pattern. The only difficulty was some blowing snow Monday when the wind picked up, according to a County Roads spokesman.

It was all caused by two rapidly moving low pressure systems going up the Atlantic coast with a front of cold Canadian air to the west.

Fire Destroys Corbin Home At Table Rock

Family Routed By Smoke Loses All Belongings In 3-Alarmer Tuesday

Fire completely consumed the four-story home of Mr. and Mrs. Cleadus Corbin, near Table Rock, Tuesday afternoon.

The three-alarm blaze, about 1:30, left only the chimneys standing after vain attempts by Gorman and Oakland Volunteer fire departments to drown the flames. Both home and possessions were in ashes by the time the last sparks were out.

Gorman firemen were first on the scene, responding with 15 men and two trucks. Oakland arrived with 28 men and two trucks before the second Gorman truck had arrived.

Bayard firemen also brought two trucks to the scene, but didn't help fight the blaze since the house was almost complete ly destroyed by that time.

Mrs. Nellie Bepetsky, Corbin, her son Doug, and two daughters, Jane, 16, and Diane, 18, were home at the time of the blaze. An older son, Carl Bayard, had just stopped by and his mother asked him to check upstairs since she thought she smelled something burning.

When the door to the stairway was opened, it was seen that already smoke was too thick to allow anyone upstairs.

Carl took the family to the home of Mrs. Corbin's nephew, Walter Skewcris, who lives near the end of the Corbin lane. Thirteen year-old Doug was hurried from the building so fast he didn't have time to get his shoes on.

Cause of the blaze has not yet been determined, but it was thought to have started in the area of the second floor flue by Oakland firemen.

Exploding ammunition and the intense heat from the blaze kep

Daylight Time Is Effective January 6

President Nixon on Saturday signed into law a bill that will temporarily place the United States on Daylight Saving time, starting Sunday morning, January 6. He said the action could save the equivalent of 150,000 barrels of oil a day.

The House passed and sent to the Senate last Friday legislation on the daylight time. The bill required that clocks be set ahead one hour on the fourth Sunday after it was signed into law.

The year-round DST was one of the measures requested by the President to help save fuel during the energy crisis.

Northern Rescue Squad Receives Sizable Donation

November 13 was a banner day for the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad, as Harbison-Walker Refractories, division of Dresser Industries, Inc., New Savage Works presented a check for $1,750.00 to be used toward the purchase of a rescue truck. This vehicle will be used on most all accident cases as it will be equipped with porta-powers, lighting equipment, air chisels, cutting saws for use on both metal and wood, and much more to be used in all types of extrication, be it plant or auto.

During the past year of operation of the squad, a vehicle so equipped could have been used on a number of auto accidents. This will be the first and only unit of this type in the immediate area and is planned that it would be available to any emergency unit and Fire Departments.

The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad started operation in November 1972 with 30 volunteers who became certified.

A Deer Park area man landed in jail after having given a state trooper a 100-mile-per-hour-plus chase early Wednesday morning along State Route 135.

Robert Daniel Kemp, Deer Park, (Johnstown, Pa.), is being held in Garrett County jail on bond totaling $600 on four charges.

Education Board Appeals Decision

After much discussion of the Virginia J. Halsey vs. Garrett County Board of Education decision of the Maryland State Board of Education, the Garrett County Board of Education decided to appeal the decision to the Circuit Court, it was learned from Dr. William Buser, County Superintendent of schools. Mrs. Virginia J. Halsey was a probationary teacher at the Green Street School. Her contract was not renewed at the end of the probationary teaching period. Mrs. Halsey appealed the decision of the superintendent and the local Board of Education to the State Board who heard the case earlier this year, it was explained.

Dr. Buser said the Board feels the decision of the State Board of Education, as they interpret it is illegal and needs to be challenged in court.

Dana is a senior student at Southern High school in Oakland. He is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Jack Liller, who reside in Mt. Lake Park.

FLAMES DESTROYED all of the Cleadus Corbin home Tuesday afternoon, despite efforts of the Gorman and Oakland Volunteer Fire Departments. This photo was taken just seconds before the front wall of the 21-room house collapsed into rubble. The Corbins lost all their clothing and possessions to the fire, which began on the second floor. Only the chimneys remained after the fire.

Adults And Children Welcome Games

Games make great gifts for children but they can do double duty for adults, too.

You can give your friends anything that will give them pleasure, be the use of something they don't like or possess something they can't enjoy. There are whims, card toss and games that are equally suitable for fun-loving big and little folks. We suggest such things as hexablocks, jigsaw puzzles, a book on anti of magic, kaleidoscopes and shuffle books — to name just a few of the many things on the market today.

Tree Farming Big American Venture

The Christmas tree crop on tree plantations take up an estimated 450,000 acres of farmland in the United States. From planting to harvest, the tree farmer's crop receives the same careful attention that other farmers give their cash crops. Trees are set out as small seedlings only a year or two old. For the next few years, about seven or twelve, they were fed, pruned, sheared and weeded..

Christmas Cookery; Old, New Traditions in Baking

The first Christmas trees, which originated in Germany, were decorated with apples, symbolizing Adam's fall, and round wafers, representing the Sacred Host, which signified redemption.

Later, the apples and wafers were replaced by Christmas cookies, which became more and more elaborate through the years.

Fancy Christmas cookies were introduced to America in the 18th century by the early German settlers, who counted their old cookie molds, made of clay, tin or wood, among their most treasured heirlooms.

Industrious Pennsylvania Dutch housewives baked them by the wastebasketfull in such varying shapes as fish, rabbits, men smoking pipes, horseback riders, hatchet-bearing Indians, stars, dolls, and of course all the characters and animals associated with the nativity scene. There were even some reindeer which were over a foot long.

Until the early part of this century, Pennsylvania Dutch Christmas trees were decorated almost entirely with these edible ornaments and it was part of the celebration to eat from the tree all through the Christmas season, so that it was practically bare by Twelfth Night. This custom is still followed in Europe.

Outstanding cookie specimens were proudly displayed and used to decorate the windows. Cookies were tucked into Christmas baskets for the poor and it was customary to include several dozen cookies when returning molds that had been borrowed.

Many cookies were handed out to the Belsnickles, those costumed visitors, like mummers, who went from house to house, checking up on the children's behavior during the year. It is said that some of the Belsnickles were so terrifying that children were known to confess to hitherto unsuspected misdoings.

After World War I, as American women began to emerge from the kitchen to go out in the business world and follow more modern pursuits, the practice of making elaborate cookies and breads was largely abandoned.

However, a few years ago, the Museum of Contemporary Crafts in New York City put on an exhibit called "The Baker's Art," which traveled to many cities throughout the country. This apparently helped set off a nationwide revival of interest in decorative baking.

Some of the most exciting pieces in this exhibition were submitted by Mae Gerhard, a teacher at the Russian School of Art in Philadelphia.

Miss Gerhard, who learned this traditional art from her Pennsylvania Dutch mother, created a beautiful gingerbread creche of more than two dozen pieces from five to six inches tall, all decorated in brilliant Byzantine colors. She has also made large and elaborate working puppets based on Christmas subjects, using a firmer but inedible dough.

How To Use Demonic Powers To Improve Your Sex Life

This is a cover story on a lewd magazine found on your newsstands. In the same publication there is an article assuring its unwitty clientele that smut does not harm John Q. Public. It goes on to say that anti-smut laws are a violation of his constitutional rights. Some people (who make considerable profit selling stacks of smut) also propose that it "doesn't hurt anybody."

A Detroit Police Inspector, speaking of tortures, sex perversions, and murders, said:

"There has not been a sex murder in the history of our department in which the killer was not an avid reader of lewd magazines." There are similar reports all over the nation.

But sex crimes are only the visible part of the iceberg. This filth helps to weaken the moral fiber that makes our community and our nation stand. The paperbacks too, are helping to further compromise the morals of our contemporary society, giving rise to all manner of crime, corrupted youth, fatherless children, and V. D.

Look for yourself, and do not judge a paperback by its cover. You have every right to confront the proprietor of the store. He is responsible for every article sold in his store.

Do not be intimidated by his excuses. Nations and societies pass away, but Jesus Christ's words shall not pass away.

Matt. 18:6-10, Matt. 5:28-32, I Tim. 6:10.

Four Injured In Recent Mishaps

Four persons received minor injuries in mishaps on the highways in the southern part of the county last week.

Gordon F. Weaver, Rowlesburg, W. Va., was slightly injured when his pick-up went out of control as he was traveling west on U. S. Route 50 just west of Table Rock road last Thursday evening. The pick-up went off the right side of the road and hit the guard rail. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater investigated.

Mary Rodeheaver, 17, Mt. Lake Park, a passenger in the pick-up driven by Edward J. Henn, Jr., Deer Park, was slightly injured in a mishap on the Oakland-Deer Park road last Friday afternoon. Danny M. Benson, Mt. Lake Park, also slightly injured, was traveling west on the road. Henn, going east noticed the Benson truck, applied his brakes, lost control and skidded into the Benson truck. Tfc. Ronald Friend charged Henn with failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Edward K. Harvey, Jr., 20, of Bloomington, was slightly injured in an accident late last Thursday on Route 135 near the Allegany County line. Harvey was traveling west when Samuel J. Glotfelty, Star Route 2, Oakland, was driving east. Glotfelty crossed the center of the road and hit the left front of the Harvey car. Tpr. Dale K. Williams charged Glotfelty on two counts: operating while intoxicated and failing to keep to the right side of the road.

Three other minor accidents occurred. Joyce L. Compton, of Independence, W. Va., was traveling east on U. S. Route 50 at the intersection with U. S. Route 219 last Wednesday evening. Douglas E. Fitzwater, Swanton, in a tank truck, had pulled from a 'stop' sign on Route 219 headed south and failing to see the Compton car, hit it. Tfc. G. D. Broadwater charged Fitzwater with failing to stop at a stop sign.

Allen A. Richter, Addison, Pa., was driving north on Route 219 just north of Oakland last Wednesday afternoon and was overtaking three vehicles at one time. He failed to note the lead vehicle driven by Kenneth A. Groncki, Baltimore, was making a left turn and hit it. Tpr. Broadwater charged Richter with improper passing.

Some Notes About Christmas Etiquette

It is necessary to send a thank-you note to someone who has given you a present. Appreciation notes should be handwritten and sent within a week of receiving the gift. If someone gives you a present and you have nothing to give in return, you should not feel obligated. A thank-you note is sufficient.

You do not have to send a Christmas card to every person who sends you one. Some people enjoy sending many cards during the holidays, and they do not expect cards in return from everyone.

Cash gifts, with the exception of gift certificates, usually are given only to members of the immediate family or to people who perform special services for you during the year. Christmas cards or money envelopes can be used for holding the cash or check.

Curious History Of The Carols

Christmas, with its message of peace and joy, is the most songful holiday of the year.

Families gather 'round pianos and organs, cheerfully or reverantly raising their voices with the same old songs. The origins of some of those carols and hymns are lost to many holiday celebrants.

For example, did you know, that without a batch of hungry mice making a meal of the bellows of an organ, we probably wouldn't have "Silent Night, Holy Night"? The munching mice did more than help lead to the last-minute composition known as "Silent Night."

The report on "Silent Night": Christmas Eve, 1818, was a disenchanted time for Father Mohr, pastor of the church in Obendorf, Austria. With the organ on the blink from nibbling mice, a new hymn had to be created immediately for midnight mass. It had to be something that could be sung with the accompaniment of the only other instrument at the ready, a guitar.

Walking through the snow, Father Mohr came up with the words to "Silent Night." Church organist Franz Gruber composed the music. They sang the song together to the accompaniment of the guitar.

"From Heaven Above' was created by Marlin Luther for his son Paul. This was on Christmas Eve, 1534, accompanying himself on the lute.

One of the most prolific carol writers gave us "Hark The Herald Angels Sing." It was written in 1739, set to Mendelssohn's "Festgesang."

America's true carols are Negro Spirituals.

Tri-County Council Wants No Bigger Staff

Board members of the Tri-County Council for Western Maryland indicated yesterday they still want the council to coordinate programs and services for area senior citizens but not if it means adding more employes to the staff.

At the November meeting the TCC voted to take on the responsibility for overseeing the senior citizen programs under amendments to the Older Americans Act. By doing so the TCC was told that the three western counties could expect to receive more federal money for their senior citizens. The group balked yesterday when it came to voting to hire a director and secretary for the program, at a total cost of just under $15,000.

Fire Destroys

firemen at a safe distance from the building. There were no injuries to either the family or firemen.

Mr. Corbin is employed at Alpine division of Island Creek Coal Company. He had been back to work only about a year after an injury nearly three years ago. An appeal for clothing and household goods is being made, with donations received by the Gorman Ladies Auxiliary to the fire department.

Anyone having items in the following sizes, women's size 50; misses' 10 or 12; men's medium and large size shirts; size 40 and 48 jackets; and pants size 42-32; or household goods may contact Auxiliary president Mrs. Marshall Neel, Bayard; or Mrs. Dale Brown, Gormania.

Fellow workers of Mr. Corbin have taken up a donation for the family, to help provide clothing and other urgent needs. After spending the evening with the Walter Skeweris family, the Corbins are residing with their son Carl at Bayard.

The house, which had been the Corbin home since July 1917, was previously a Garrett County landmark. Known as the Conneway House, it was a famous hotel and dining spot for many years.

Built on the site of a previous Conneway hotel, it was constructed in 1901 to the order of Joseph and Emma Conneway, whose foods skill was widely known.

Almost as well known as the house was its nearby tower, which commanded a sweeping view in nearly all directions. Route 50 used to pass in front of the house, where a field is currently located. Thomas Lincoln, brother of Abe, spent the last years of his life at the House, and at his request, was buried nearby.

Composed of four stories, the house had 21 large rooms. All ceilings and walls were of chestnut lumber. The living room alone was said to have been as large as a dance floor. Before a partition was removed by Mr. Corbin, the house had 22 rooms.

One fireman, Gary Skeweris, hurrying to the fire, lost control of his new Blazer and crashed head-on into a telephone pole near Gorman. He jumped out of his vehicle, flagged down a passerby and arrived at Corbins to help light the fire. A tow truck later removed the Blazer, and Skeweris first saw how much damage had been done after he left the scene and was taken to Oakland.

morial hospital following the explosion of gun powder, and subsequent fire.

Mr. Whiteman, a supervisor at the Bausch and Lomb lens manufacturing plant, was engaged in loading shotgun shells for skeet shooting when a short in a tape player being plugged in set off the explosion. His wife was slightly burned when she attempted to extinguish the flames.

The fire which followed gutted the Whiteman apartment in the home of Mrs. Grover Stemple, Fifth and Alder streets, with the loss estimated by firemen at $5,000 on the building, and $2,500 on the furnishings.

A report from the hospital was to the effect that although he was still listed as critical and still in intensive care, it was believed he might be able to be taken from intensive care by the end of the week and that he might have visitors.

WASHINGTON REPORT

FROM SENATOR J. GLENN BEALL, JR.

Rebuilding The Railroads

Thirteen railroads are presently serving the northeastern region of the United States. Seven of them, including the mammoth Penn Central system, are in bankruptcy.

In Maryland, there are approximately 1,150 miles of railroad lines, and some 40 per cent of it belongs to bankrupt carriers.

We live in one of the most highly industrialized areas of the nation, and adequate rail service is essential to the economic well-being of this region and the entire country.

Without railroads, our factories and the shipping industry around Baltimore would surely suffer. So would our farmers and food processors on the Eastern Shore, who depend on rail service to bring in feed grains and fertilizer, and to carry their products to markets.

Unless this archaic rail network was restructured, it most surely would collapse. Faced with that possibility, Congress has made its reorganization one of the highest priority items in 1973.

The Senate has just completed action on this important legislation. Hopefully, it will enable us to get the bill to the White House to be signed into law by the end of the year.

The reorganization plan, which I helped to draft as a member of the Senate Commerce Committee, would set up a consolidated Northeast rail system in two steps.

First, it would establish a non-profit association to plan and finance the acquisition, rehabilitation and modernization of a basic rail network or core system. A special office will be created within the Interstate Commerce Commission to help identify this essential rail service.

While the core network is being planned, the existing rail system will continue operating, with government support where necessary.

Once the new system is developed, it will be turned over to be run on a for-profit basis by a new United Rail Corporation.

The most essential part of the reorganization will be plant restructuring. This is a diplomatic way of saying that excess track and other facilities will have to be eliminated.

However, there will be provisions for rail service subsidies and local purchase agreements to protect areas which might otherwise lose a railroad line.

The consolidation plan will be reviewed by the ICC and then submitted to the Congress. This plan could be approved by Congress or sent back for further modification.

Once a final plan is determined, Congress must also provide a funding authority to carry out the plan. When this is done, the new United Rail Corporation will come into being.

The new corporation will acquire the assets of the railroads and begin implementing the plan of consolidation, modernization and profitable operation.

Most of this involves railroad freight service, but passenger trains also are provided for in the legislation. There is particular emphasis on high-speed passenger service along the Washington-Boston corridor.

One of the side effects of this reorganization will be the loss of railroad jobs as we proceed with the consolidation plan. To protect the displaced workers, the bill includes a generous formula of reimbursement to furloughed rail employees.

This legislation puts us on a two-year timetable for revitalizing the overbuilt and obsolete rail system of the Northeast, and I believe its importance cannot be overstated.

To Present Program

A Christmas program will be presented by the Rosedale United Pentecostal church on Sunday evening, December 23, at 7:30. Recitations will be given by the beginning and primary classes, a Christmas story by the junior department, five portraits by the young people's department, and a play "The Gift and the Giver," by the young adults.

19 is an independent age.

That's when high school ends. College begins. New careers are started.

And that's also when health care protection ends for most dependents covered under their parents' Blue Cross and Blue Shield programs.

So if you have a 19-year-old, check your coverage, be it Group or Non-Group.

We've made it easy for 19-year-olds to get their own Blue Cross and Blue Shield protection. If they're in school, they can apply for our special low-cost Student Program. If they're working, they can check with their employer about Group coverage. And if their employer doesn't offer Group coverage, they can enroll in one of our Non-Group programs.

Lengthen Holiday For Co. Students

Governor Marvin Mandel's executive order closing schools three additional days on January 2, 3, and 4, 1974, caused the Garrett County Board of Education, at its meeting on December 13, to act closing their central office on Friday, January 4. As a result of the Governor's action, only one day remains in the school calendar to cover snow days.

Dr. William H. Buser, Superintendent of Schools, also recommended to the Board the inclusion of cafeteria employees in the State Retirement System. The recommendation was unanimously approved, upon the motion of Robert Diehl and the seconding of Herbert Harman.

In other action, Mr. Harman moved, Mrs. Diane Thayer seconded, and the Board approved the hiring of middle and high school principals for additional schools one year in advance of the opening of the school. This would enable the Board to select a principal for new Southern Middle School one year prior to its opening.

Lewis Domenick, chief board negotiator and Dr. Buser discussed the progress of negotiations with the School Board during the meeting.

What Should We Say About Santa Claus?

Parents wondering what to tell children about Santa Claus get conflicting reports from the experts.

One psychoanalyst says that a child should not be told too early the facts about Santa Claus because it might force the child to view Christmas in a rational way all his life or even cause the child to fantasize about less benign myths. Another view is that a child should be told from the beginning that Santa is a make believe person or it might create an early credibility gap between parent and child.

Then too, there are a large number of phychologists and psychiatrists who believe children should be told the truth only when they ask, "Is Santa Claus real"

Christmas Decorations Around The World

"Deck the halls with boughs of holly" is a traditional refrain in English and American homes, but in Spain and Italy, householders decorate with flowers instead of evergreens at Christmas time. The Christmas tree, popular throughout the United States and Northern Europe, the creche, or manger scene usually replaces it. In Sicily, many families use Christmas trees, but they decorate them with apples and oranges instead of tinsel. This carries out an old tradition that all the trees bore fruit when Christ was born.

Getting Together Is Holiday Tradition

This is the season that no one needs an excuse to give a party. If you're not giving a party, or thinking of giving a party, likely it's because you're too busy going to parties.

What kind you give depends only upon your mood, your facilities, the number of your friends — and your pocketbook.

A dinner party? afternoon open house? cocktail party? or what about a cocktail supper?

If you're looking for ways to entertain a small group for an evening, think about a tree-trimming or a carol singing party.

The traditional type hospitality for the holiday season is the eggnog where people can drop in and stay for one sip or several.

Capitol Comment

By Charles McC Mathias
U.S. Senator

Energy Crisis: Trucks and Trains

Thirteen independent truckers from various parts of Maryland visited my office recently to complain that they were being gouged by high diesel fuel prices as a result of the national energy crisis.

I was pleased to greet these truckers and hear their experiences, because, by coming to my office, they were demonstrating that there is a way to make their grievances known other than by blocking bridges and highways.

I told the truckers that I would ask the Cost of Living Council to investigate their complaints. As it turned out, federal investigators found numerous instances of price gouging across the country. The protest by the truckers brought results, as their diesel fuel suppliers were brought to check.

The truckers also had other complaints about speed limits, for example, and the adequacy of diesel fuel supplies — that also bear attention. It is my intention to pursue these matters.

The energy crisis is likely to produce many situations that will require redressing. Another that developed recently involved trains. AMTRAK decided to prohibit Baltimore-Washington commuters from two of its crack East Coast trains that travel between these two cities during rush hours.

This seemed to me to be a particularly unwise decision, because it contradicted precisely one of the things we are trying to do to save fuel — get drivers off the roads and onto public transportation.

I brought this to the attention of AMTRAK, as did other members of the Maryland Congressional delegation. AMTRAK rescinded its decision, and commuters can still ride the rails between Baltimore and Washington.

THE GIFT CERTIFICATE

Everyone has someone on his Christmas gift list, for whom he just can't determine what would be a most appropriate remembrance.

The solution to such gift giving problems need not complicate the shopping problem. The simple solution is the Gift Certificate, available at the stores of your choice.

It gives the recipient an opportunity to choose from an assortment of items. It avoids the need for bothersome returns of wrong size items.

FOOD IS LOVE

The place of food in holiday activities deserves special mention. Food, in every human being's earliest experience, is associated with love: milk equals mother equals comfort and warmth. This association we all carry into adult life. To share food is to share love. So the Christmas feast where everyone eats twice as much as usual, where the preparations are far more elaborate than necessary is in a very real sense a feast of love.

Girl Is Found Neglected In Juvenile Court

A 16-year-old Deer Park female was found to be neglected by Chief Judge Stuart F. Hamill, Jr., in juvenile court Dec. 11th. Two adults had been charged with causing a child to be neglected but the case were dismissed.

The Deer Park female was judged neglected by reason of suffering serious harm from improper home environment and guardianship. Also she was being physically abused by Don Hart and her mother had failed to take disciplinary action to prevent such abuse. The girl was placed in the custody, jurisdiction and control of the Garrett County Department of Social Services to find a foster home for her.

Don Hart and Jean Zickefonse, both of the Deer Park area had been charged with causing a child to be judged neglected by reason stated above. The child had been physically abused by Don Hart causing her to suffer harm and emotional instability. Jean Zickefoose was also charged with permitting Don Hart to extend physical punishment to her child without taking steps to prevent it.

The cases against Don Hart and Jean Zickefoose were dismissed.

Local Educator Receives Award

Mrs. Sally Wilson, Coordinator of Special Education for the Garrett County Board of Education has received an award for her previous work.

The Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Society presented Mrs. Wilson with a plaque "In Appreciation of Commendable Service" for her work with the Keyser Developmental Center. Mrs. Wilson left the three phase project in Keyser, West Virginia, two years ago to work with the Garrett County Board of Education.

The Keyser project began in Mrs. Wilson's home in 1968 and when she left the center, there were three phases with the Mineral County Board of Education continuing the handicapped school. Three former students of the Center nominated Mrs. Wilson for this State Award.

Lunar Phase

Monday at 10:07 a.m. the moon passes directly between the earth and the sun through its New Moon phase. Moonset ranges from 2:02 p.m. today to 7:05 p.m. next Wednesday.

Solar Eclipse

An annular eclipse of the sun occurs on Monday. It is in progress as the sun rises. The eclipse is visible for most of the morning. The midpoint is at 10:07 a.m. It appears as a partial eclipse for Garrett County viewers.

Forty percent of the injuries to eyes that occurred during the March, 1970 solar eclipse occurred to people who used some type of protective device such as sunglasses or welding shields as they looked directly at the sun. Do Not Look Directly At The Sun, Even Through A Protective Device!

The best method of observing the eclipse is to make a 1/16 inch hole in an index card and with your back to the sun view the projected image on a second card held 2 or 3 feet away in a shadow of the first card.

Lunar Apogee

Tuesday at 5:00 p.m. the moon reaches its greatest distance from the earth for December. It will be 406,400 kilometers 252,600 miles from earth. This is the reason the solar eclipse is an annular one. The moon is so far from earth that its disk appears smaller than that of the sun, which may be seen as a circle of light around the black disk of the moon by observers in the moon's shadow.

Ursid Meteors

Saturday at 3:00 p.m. the Ursid Meteor Shower is at its maximum. About twice as many meteors as are normally seen by an observer may be observed. Look for them on Saturday morning and on Sunday morning.

Solstice

The earth passes the point in its orbit at which the sun appears overhead at the tropic of Capricorn at 7:08 p.m. today. From this time on each day will have more daylight as winter passes.

Comet Kohoutek

Approaching the sun at increasing speed, the comet is becoming increasingly difficult to see in the predawn twilight. Look for it just to the right of the place on the horizon at which the sun rises.

Visible Planets

Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn are visible this week. Venus sets about three hours after the sun. Jupiter and Venus are moving closer together in the early evening sky. During the last two days of the week the crescent moon moves in to the sky with Jupiter and Venus. Saturn will be in line with the earth and the sun on Sunday at 1:00 a.m. This is called an opposition as Saturn is opposite the sun. The planet is about 1,199 million kilometers 745 million miles from earth, the closest it has been for several years. Mars is visible high in the south among the stars of Aries, setting about 3:00 a.m.

Daylight

The sun rose at 7:51 this morning. It sets nine hours twenty-three minutes later at 4:57 p.m. Wednesday there will be the same number of minutes of daylight as there were today. Sunrise is at 7:37 a.m., and sunset is at 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday.

Cooperation Excellent, Say Local Postmasters

Cooperation is excellent this season between Christmas card and package senders and the local U. S. Post offices according to Postmasters Guy William Hinebaugh, Oakland and Leo Stottlemeyer, Deer Park.

December 10th and 11th were extremely heavy days for both incoming and outgoing mail. Definite count could not be obtained since mail is no longer cancelled locally, but is sent to Cumberland.

People were heeding the Postmaster General's warning to mail early, and in addition, were wrapping packages better than ever before.

They are also becoming excellent post office helpers by keeping the mailing addresses facing one way, placing stamps in the proper corner and using the labels provided by the post office.

Greeks Have Unique Christmas Ceremony

On Christmas Eve children of Greek families go from house to house singing carols to the accompaniment of tiny clay drums and tinkling steel triangles. They are rewarded with gifts of figs, walnuts, almonds and candies.

Afterward there is a Christmas Eve service, to be followed at 4 a.m. and ends shortly before dawn. The family then begins feasting with "Christpsomo," (bread of Christ), a simple cake studded with nuts and "Kourabiedes," small cakes dusted with powdered sugar.

The Christmas dinner must include "cheridon," roast pig. In rural households, these are fattened for the feast from midsummer on. If a family cannot afford to buy a pig, usually relatives or neighbors provide one.

There are no Christmas trees and no Christmas presents. St. Basil's Day or New Year's Day is the time for exchanging gifts. St. Basil, "Hagios Vasilias," one of the four fathers of the Orthodox church, is the Santa Claus of Greek children.

Blessing of the Waters

Since Greece has always been a maritime nation it is not surprising that the blessing of the waters is an impressive part of the Christmas celebration. This takes place on Epiphany Day.

At high noon on that day, the Archbishop or highest ranking priest leads a procession from the church to the waterfront. Dressed in magnificent vestments, he holds high a cross or crucifix of gold or chrome with a silver image of the Savior. Acolytes and other clergy, also clad in rich vestments accompany him, chanting as they march. The congregation follows in their wake.

The procession halts at the water's edge. The Priest intones a prayer and then, after tying a scarf around the cross, hurls it into the water. From the shore and from boats, men and boys dive after it. The one who succeeds in bringing it up receives a special blessing from the priest and usually a gift of money from the onlookers.

In America, this ceremony of blessing the waters is likely to be celebrated wherever there is a sizable Greek settlement. At Tarpan Springs, Florida where many Greeks are engaged in the sponge fishery and at Asbury Park, New Jersey it is an annual event.

The Church of St. Nicholas in New York City has held the ceremony for many years at Battery Park where the swimmers must plunge into the icy waters of New York harbor after the cross.

Gifts Of Magi

"And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures they presented unto him gifts, gold and frankincense, and myrrh. (Matthew 2:11

Of these three gifts only gold is still today a familiar and precious commodity. However, in the time of Christ, both frankincense and myrrh were equally valuable and well-known commodities, used in trade between the Middle East and Mediterranean countries.

Gold, because of its rarity and beauty has been the world's most precious metal since its discovery more than 6000 years ago. Then, as now, it served as a medium of exchange, and was considered a symbol of wealth and power. Because gold is soft and pliable, it was also used for making fine jewelry and artifacts.

Both frankincense and myrrh are gum resins of trees which grow only near the monsoon region of Ethiopia, Somaliland and Southern Arabia.

Frankincense, which comes from a tree of the same name and belonging to the balsam family, is an aromatic gum resin and was an important ingredient of an incense mixture used in Hebrew religious rituals. It was also used as an air purifier and as a remedy for certain physical ailments.

Myrrh is a fragrant, bitter-tasting gum resin exuded from any of several shrubs which grow in the same sections as frankincense. It was used mainly as a base for ancient cosmetics and perfumes. It was also used medically as a painkiller and in mouthwash mixtures. It is used in some mouthwashes today. Myrrh also was used in many religious ceremonies.

Anyone who is curious about these substances may find them at the American Museum of Natural History in New York City. The Museum usually features all three treasures as part of its December special exhibit.

Foodlands Buy King-Size Trash Compactors For Paper

SOME OF THE FIVE TONS OF WASTE—Shown above is some of the five tons of cardboard and paper waste handled weekly by the Browning's Foodland store in Oakland. The paper and cardboard has been put through a paper recycling compactor, which compresses the waste into 700-pound bales. An Elkins trucker picks up the bales produced by all three recycling compactors at Browning's Foodlands in Elkins, Oakland, and Westernport, and carries it to a Coschocton, Ohio recycling plant. The Westernport and Elkins stores are also producing an estimated five tons of waste paper weekly, according to Oakland store manager Sonny Browning.

READY TO OPERATE Browning's Foodland's new "trash smasher" paper recycling compactor at Oakland are, left to right, Sonny Martin, Dennis "Harpo" Rodeheaver, and Paul Nazelrod. Recently, Browning's had purchased a $15,000 pollution-free incinerator for all trash. Now, after investing an additional $20,000 for compactors for all three stores, the incinerator will be used only for wood and styrofoam waste material. The new compactors are semi-automatic.

Charles Defeats Lakers 71 to 70

Unable to capitalize on a 1 and 1 free throw situation with two seconds left in the game, Garrett Community college lost a 71 to 70 JUCO conference basketball game last Saturday night to Charles County Community college at McHenry.

Dan Slifko who had converted his first six free throws, missed on the one and one, and the Lakers suffered their second loss in six starts. It nipped a two-game win streak and left them with a 2-2 JUCO record.

Garrett had led by 33-29 at halftime and the game was close throughout with the lead changing hands several times.

Neither team shot well from the free throw line, the Lakers getting 16 of 27 and Charles getting seven of 17. Charles had a 32-27 edge in field goals.

George Wheeler was the top scorer for both teams with 21 points. John Raszka was Garrett's leading scorer with 20. Steve VanAusdale had 15, Curtis, 11, Dennis Gibson 10, Bosley 6, Slifka 8. For Charles County King had 10, Jansen 9, Russ Savoy 12, Roy Savoy 13, Johnson 4, and Kendrick 2.

The Lakers will be off for nearly a week and will participate in the Kiwanis Christmas tournament at Chesapeake CC December 21-22.

Story Features Peter Milkint

A feature story on a senior citizen of Tucker county, Peter Louis Milkint, appeared in the Parsons Advocate of Dec. 12 and tells how Mr. Milkint's parents inspired him to build the smallest church in forty-eight states, which is located at Silver Lake, just south of the Garrett county line along U. S. 219.

The church, "Our Lady of the Pines," was constructed by Mr. Milkint and his wife as a memorial to his parents.

Mr. Milkint, who was stricken with infantile paralysis at the age of six, left him with one leg two and one half inches shorter than the other but until surgery brought on paralysis last March, was always able to do a good day's work.

Mr. Milkint, at age 80, is well known in the Oakland area. He was born in Lithuania and grew up in the Thomas, W. Va., area. He and his brother Joe were in on the ground floor of the automobile business operating a garage for years. In 1931 he purchased a tract of land and developed what is now known as Silver Lake.

The church is 24 by 12 feet, outside, has six pews and can seat 12 worshippers. All the fixtures are handmade, including the cross above the altar, the tabernacle, candle holders and the 14 stations of the cross. The linen altar cover was woven by Mr. Milkint's mother while she was still in Lithuania.

During the winter the church is closed but during the tourist season thousands sign the guest register. More than 37,000 persons, representing 48 states and 17 foreign countries, visited there during 1972. That year at least five marriages were solemnized at its altar.

To Present Program

The Friendsville United Pentecostal church will present its annual Chirstmas program on Sunday evening, December 23, at 7:30. The program will include selections given by Sunday School departments. A children's choir will be featured. "Out of the Darkness," a three act play, will be given by the adult classes.

Firemen Called

Oakland firemen were called Monday afternoon about 3:45 to the Bracthorn hotel, on G street in Mt. Lake Park, where an occupant had reported an apparent gas leak.

Firemen found a fluttering pilot light in an apartment size gas range, but there was no fire and no damage. The hotel is owned by Charles Tressler.

ADVENT WREATH

A beautiful custom that originated in Austria is the advent Wreath. The wreath is made of vine or holly and has four candles in it. One candle is lighted each of the four sundays preceding Christmas, while one of the children reads a part of the Christmas story from the Bible. All four candles are lighted on Christmas Day.

Craft Lessons Make Fine Gift

It seems everyone is into handcrafts these days, and many who aren't might like to be, if only they had the know-how. Giving instructions in crafts would be a very thoughtful and useful gift.

Avoid giving someone a lot of equipment unless you're sure they're interested. Lessons are a fine way for one to discover if they find enjoyment in a craft.

Self Improvement Gift Sure To Please

There are interesting things on the market today to turn people on to a whole new way of life. For example, gifts to get her body in shape, a gift certificate to a gymn along with leotard or tights. You might add a full length mirror so she can check her progress after using a 10-speed racer, which comes with a book to tell all about it.

Other things to consider, an exercise mat, slant board, professional skipping rope (different than the one you used as a child) or she might like a pedometer to click off the number of miles she walks or jogs.

Who wouldn't like a gift certificate for a day of beauty at a posh salon? Then there are gifts you plug in: hair dryer, facial sauna, makeup mirror, electric comb or hand blower, to name a few.

EGGNOG is a must

The eggnog party is especially traditional for New Year's Day, and a welcome treat all through the winter season. One thing about an eggnog party — you don't have to worry about what to have to drink. Your guests are coming for the eggnog and you can expend all your efforts to making it as lush as your taste dictates. A good eggnog tastes even better when accompanied by sandwiches with a zingy taste.

Eggnog, it has been said, was probably originated by some inspired English physician or housewife as a builder-upper for frail anemic children. It is delicious as well as filling and strengthens, and it is no wonder that it emerged from the nursery into the social scene (with the addition of bourbon and other liquors) as an English holiday drink.

Miss Schoenbeck Weds M. F. Buser

Miss Sally Lucille Schoenbeck of Frostburg, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Richard Schoenbeck Gaithersburg, became the bride of Merle Franklin Buser, of LaVale, son of Dr. and Mrs William Buser, of Swanton, on November 24.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Phillip Gerken in the Lutheran Church of the Cross, Potomac. Mrs. Anne Wolfe organist, accompanied James McClellan, Frostburg, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full-length gown of white silk crepe. The bodice featured a high duchess neckline and long bishop sleeves. Chantilly lace outlined by silk braid and pearls enhanced the empire bodice and was repeated on the sleeves. The chapel train fell in folds from the back waistline. She wore a Juliet cap of lace appliques embellished with satin ribbons and seed pearls, which held a two-tiered, shoulder-length veil of white silk illusion edged with matching lace. She carried a crescent bouquet of baby's breath, stephanotis and white pompons with a touch of pink.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Fred Short, of Buffalo, New York. Bridesmaids were Diane Steiner, Randallstown; Cris Buser, West Friendship, sister of the groom, and Brenda Zimmerman, Lanham. Flower girl was Angela Schoenbeck, Gaithersburg, sister of the bride.

James Hart, of Oakland, was best man. Ushers were J. B. Buser, Swanton, brother of the groom; Donald White, Frostburg; Nicky Thyssens, Hagerstown, and Vincent Schoenbeck, brother of the bride. Ring bearer was Brent Buser, Flintstone, cousin of the groom.

A reception followed at Potomac Valley Country Club.

For her going-away ensemble the bride chose navy blue high-rise pants with navy and white checkered, short waisted blouse.

The bride is attending Frostburg State College where she is majoring in French. She is a member of, and acting secretary, for Pi Delta Phi, national French fraternity, and is employed as a switchboard operator at the college.

A graduate of Frostburg State College with a Bachelor of Science degree in political science, Mr. Buser was a member of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity. He is a department manager at King's Department store in LaVale.

A shower was held at the home of the bride, given by Mrs. J. A. Pontiz, Potomac. A surprise party was given in honor of the couple by the employees of King's Department Store.

Gardening Gifts Suggested

For the "green thumb" persons on your Christmas list, here are some fairly inexpensive gift suggestions from Extension specialists at the University of Maryland in College Park

— seed flats and potting soil in which to start tomato and cabbage plants in late February or March (cabbage) and April (tomatoes);

— miniature watering pots and tiny gardening tools for indoor window plant-growers;

— plant stands, indoor herb gardens or terrariums.

If you have trouble finding these items at this time of year, why not select a book on gardening from among the many which have crowded their way during recent months into book shops and department stores?

Or, for new homeowners who take their landscaping and gardening seriously, you might pick up materials at a stationery supply store from which a homeowners planting record book can be assembled. Total cost of the items will range from about $2.50 to $3.50, depending on the degree of sophistication desired.

Our wish is simple and sincere. May the holiday bring gladness to you all. Thanks to everyone.

To Celebrate 50th Wedding Event

Mr. and Mrs. M. Paul DeWitt, 450 N. Fourth Street, Oakland, will quietly observe their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Wednesday, December 26. Due to the health of Mrs. DeWitt, they are not planning open house, but friends may call at any convenient time.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt were married the 26th of December, 1923 by Rev. Archibald Moore, former pastor of St. Paul's and retired at that time.

Mrs. DeWitt was the former Clara Spoerlein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Spoerlein. Mr. DeWitt was the son of D. O. and Lactitia Friend DeWitt. They have four sons, John, of Cumberland, Eddie and William, Oakland; and Frank Lee, Mansfield, Ohio. They have nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mr. DeWitt retired some five years ago, after being one of the owners of the DeWitt and DeBerry appliance store in Oakland for a number of years.

Speeding Tickets Up?

If you think speeding citations in the county are increasing since the speed limit has been lowered, you're wrong.

According to Cpl. Stephen Russell Maryland State Police, speeding tickets have not increased, and maybe have decreased a little.

Such a trend is obviously caused by the fact that here, with no interstate highways, throughways or freeways, the speed limit has always been a maximum of 50 miles per hour.

Then, too, the high cost of gasoline deters many a would-be speed demon, whose dollars worth may only put two gallons in the tank.

Fort Hill Tops Southern 76-64

Charlie Hare finished with 22 points and Mark Manges added 18, to lift Fort Hill High School of Cumberland to a hard earned 76 to 61 victory over Southern High Rams Tuesday night in Oakland.

Fort Hill built up an early lead that Coach Don Stemple's charges were unable to overcome. Fort Hill led by 10 to 4 at the end of the quarter, and held a 30 to 21 edge at halftime. The third period ended at 50-38.

Fite Rams had 23 baskets from the field compared to 28 for Fort Hill. Randy DiSimone emerged the game's high scorer for Southern with 21 points while Tom Panther had 17. They were the only Rams in double figures but Sharps had 3, Liller 4, Skeweris 9, Tressler 8, and E. Panther 2.

For Fort Hill, Hill had 7, Cooper 2, Hansrote 16, Peek 2, Lattimer 4, Wormack.

In the preliminary game Southern's junior high defeated the Fort Hill Junior high team.

Both varsity quints now own identical 2-1 records. Southern is scheduled to play at Elk Garden on Friday evening.

A puppy for Christmas. A warm little creature that looks up at you with appealing big brown eyes as he teeters on his wobbly legs. That's something few people can resist.

Before Christmas day is over, though, you may have had a qualm or two about this little fellow—when he starts teething on one of Dad's new Christmas slippers or on the living room rug.

Bringing up a puppy is not all pleasure. It is mixed with responsibility—and that's the way it is with most things in life. Pleasure, responsibility, work, play—it all goes to make up a kind of balance.

Going to church is like that. For home and church make up the most important balance in your life, each vital to the other. If you've been neglecting the church side of the scale, then you have been shortchanging yourself. Why not make up for it next Sunday?

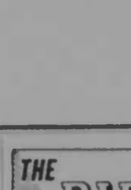
THE BIBLE SPEAKS
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

CHRISTMAS PRESENT

Lesson for December 23, 1973

Background Scripture: John 1:1-5, 14-18.

F. Stanley Jones told a story of a little child, the son of missionaries, who was in school in the United States. A few days before the Christmas recess, the principal had the boy in his office and asked him, "Son, what would you rather have most of all for Christmas?" The boy looked at the picture of his father framed on his desk and said: "I want my father to step out of that frame!"



Rev. Althouse

The Elusive God

The little boy unknowingly expressed one of the deep desires of all men concerning God: the desire for some tangible, concrete image of the Divine. Yet, for centuries it seemed a hopeless dream. Men had visions of God, heard voices and received messages. They felt his presence and listened as others described their encounters with him. Yet, despite all this, he seemed an elusive God.

One religion defined God this way, another described his somewhat differently. The various religions of mankind were like the four blind men grasping different parts of the elephant and describing him accordingly. Still, despite all the theologizing, dreaming, and studying, men were still asking, "What is God really like?"

Did God prefer to remain obscure? Did he not want men to know what he was like? John and other New Testament writers indicate strongly that it was God's will for man to understand his nature. Thus, in the birth of Jesus Christ, he expressed himself so that man's impossible dream might come true: God revealed himself in Jesus Christ.

Different New Testament writers use different words to express this one central thought.

John: "No one has ever seen God: the only Son . . . he has made him known" (1:18).

Paul: "In him all the fullness of God was pleased to dwell" (Colossians 1:19).

Hebrews: "In many and various ways God spoke of old to our fathers by the prophets; but in these last days he has spoken to us by a Son . . . He reflects the glory of God and bears the stamp of his nature" (1:1-3).

The communicative God

But the first chapter of John probably puts it best of all: "And the Word became flesh and dwelt among us . . ." (1:14). As in the story by E. Stanley Jones, man's greatest desire was for that elusive God to step out of his "frame," so to speak, and make himself sufficiently known.

That's what God did in Jesus Christ: in that one single life he told man all that he could know and would ever need to know about God. When the "Word became flesh" and the unknowable became knowable and the obscure became clear and men saw the fullness of God revealed for once and for all, then it was that God gave mankind his greatest of all Christmas presents.

Expense Account System Attacked

An expense account system that allowed aides to Gov. Marvin Mandel to charge the state for thousands of dollars for food, liquor and lodging without any administrative control has been criticized by the state's legislative auditor.

Pierce J. Lambdin auditor, complained in a report that the governor's staff established personal charge accounts to leading restaurants and hotels in Annapolis and had their bills sent directly to the state.

He also complained that during one 11-month stretch Mandel's office had the state comptroller pay all expense invoices without providing any details on what the payments were for or who spent the money.

The audit of the governor's office covered a 14-month period through April 23. An 11-part Associated Press survey last month detailed expense account abuses by the governor's aides. Many of the abuses cited in the article was mentioned in Lambdin's report.

The auditor recommended that the governor's aides be required to certify that the bills are accurate and that the expenses "are necessary for the conducting of state business." A new system is being instituted under which no aide will be able to directly bill the state for expenses.

By
Maryland—Sixth District

This regular column serves as another vehicle to keep in touch with all segments of my constituency. It is an open invitation for you to question me on issues, let me assist you with your problems, request information or comment on whatever happens to be on your mind. Letters should be sent to me, c/o U. S. House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515. While space is obviously limited for printing all replies, I shall make every effort to answer each person who contacts me.

The following questions were typical of the kind asked of me in recent weeks;

Who can I contact if I am unable to obtain fuel for my home this winter?

This question has been asked by many citizens during the past few weeks. Companies or individuals seeking emergency oil or diesel fuel in Maryland are advised to call the State Energy Policy Office for assistance. The office can be reached by dialing the toll-free number 1-800-492-5903 anytime between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

The EPA's list of ratings of gasoline mileage for 1974 model cars - - where can I obtain a copy?

For a free copy of EPA's new up-to-date listing of miles per gallon for 1974 cars, write to Fuel Economy, Office of Public Affairs, Environmental Protection Agency, Washington D. C. 20460.

What are the short and long-term prospects for solar power as an alternative fuel energy source?

The Federal Council for Science and Technology estimates that ten percent of all new buildings constructed in 1985 could utilize solar energy resulting in an estimated national fuel savings of $3.5 billion. This long-term relief, however, depends on the immediate undertaking of research and development projects to test the feasibility of solar energy for heating and cooling homes and offices. In this regard, I specifically refer to legislation before Congress proposing the establishment of just such a comprehensive demonstration project. Installation of solar units in 4,000 public and private buildings is proposed under the measure. In short, there is a critical need to reduce dependence on conventional fuels but solar power can only provide long-term relief and should not be looked on as a panacea for all energy problems.

When is the Federal government planning to release new lands for offshore oil drilling?

The Interior Department informs me that it has asked oil and gas companies to nominate tracts in the Gulf of Mexico off the coast of south Texas they would like to see offered for oil and gas leasing. Departmental spokesmen emphasized that no decision would be made to hold the sale until the completion of appropriate environmental studies and related public hearings next year.

What specific cross-country bicycle trails are being planned by Congress?

Recently I joined with Congressman Ralph Regula of Ohio in co-sponsoring a bipartisan measure which would establish a network of cross-country bike trails. Initial routes under consideration would parallel Route 30 from Atlantic City, New Jersey to the Oregon Coast and Route 1 from Main to Florida.

Boy scouts of Troop 57 are selling Christmas trees at the home of Dan Hutson, Scoutmaster.

A Laurel and Hardy movie will be shown at the community center Saturday, December 29. Admission is free.

Girl Scouts went Christmas caroling December 17 and returned to the community center for refreshments and a gift exchange.

The choir from Otterhein United Methodist church sang Christmas carols at Cuppett-Weeks Nursing Home in Oakland Tuesday evening. The Otterhein church will have its annual Christmas program Sunday evening, December 23, at 7 o'clock.

"Santa Claus" will distribute the community Christmas treat to children on Christmas Eve at 6 o'clock. The tree will be decorated again this year for the birds. People are being asked to bring some suet, popcorn garlands, and cranberry garlands for decorations.

Family Movies On Tap At Library

This Saturday afternoon, December 22, the family movie program at the Ruth Enlow Library will include three films: "Dicken's Christmas Carol" (a musical adaptation), "The Little Drummer Boy" and "The Little Engine That Could." The hour-long program is scheduled at 2:00 p.m. Admission is free and people of all ages are invited.

The library will close at 4:00 p.m. on Christmas Eve and at 5:30 p.m. on New Year's Eve. It will be closed on Christmas Day and New Year's Day.

Families looking for interesting things to do during the long Christmas vacation will find a number of suggestions at the library. Parent's Magazine's "Family Fun Book" and the Reader's Digest "Book of 1000 Family Games" offer a wide choice of activities. A recent book, "The Family Book of Crafts" provides an introduction to a number of crafts. How-to hooks on these crafts and many other crafts and hobbies can be found on the library's shelves.

An easy answer to the "What shall I do now?" question is to put a big jigsaw puzzle in the warmest spot in the house and let the family work on it together. This year the library has a number of donated puzzles which may be borrowed. If a piece or two is missing, that won't spoil the fun.

Slides, filmstrips, cassettes, records and 8mm movies from the library can give a pleasant change from TV watching.

Cool It!...

"I'm asking in the name of reason, in the name of sanity, of justice and enlightenment, in the name of the great God above, for a moment of quiet thought and reflection.

"If we can have just a moment to quiet the hysteria that grips us, we may be able to proceed to the task ahead; to put in order our house of government; to eliminate the incompetent, punish the guilty, and to make sure that what has happened will not happen again—but all this in an orderly, deliberate fashion.

"To the Congress, to the White House, to the Administration, to the press and the news media, to the pulpits and the universities, to each and every one of us, I plead for restraint in this crisis. For us to stay on the road of unreason means stark tragedy.

"Finally, in the words of the street, in God's name, 'cool it!' Give us time to think, and look at the road ahead."

This is the text of remarks made by Senator Barry Goldwater, (Rep.), of Arizona, in a recent speech. It is excellent advice in regards to watergate, the energy crisis, and other emergencies.

6th Snowmobile Races Set For January 5, 6

Deep Creek Firemen To Sponsor Championship Races At McHenry

Members of the Deep Creek Lake Volunteer fire department are sponsoring their sixth annual Maryland State Championship Snowmobile races for Saturday and Sunday, January 5 and 6.

According to fire company officials, classes will include races in stock class, super stock, modified, junior and powder puff classes.

Registration for the races will be held from 8 to 11 Saturday, January 5, and also again from 8 to 11 on Sunday, January 6. Races will begin at 12 o'clock noon on both days.

There will be cash prizes plus trophies for the winners. The races are sanctioned under the Pennsylvania State Snowmobile Association.

Spectator admission will be $2 for adults with children under 12 years of age being admitted free. Races are to be held at the race track on the fair grounds at McHenry.

Sports Scheduling Undergoes Change

Governor Marvin Mandel's executive order, closing schools three additional days on January 2, 3, and 4, will necessitate a change in the athletic schedules at Northern and Southern according to Dick Travis, Supervisor of Physical Education and Athletics in Garrett County.

The basketball game between Southern and Northern scheduled for January 3 at Southern will be played at a later date. Southern was scheduled to travel to Bishop Walsh on January 2 for a basketball game and to Fort Hill on January 3 for a wrestling match, but these contests will be postponed.

Northern's schedule included a basketball game at Allegany on January 2 and a wrestling match at Keyser on January 3 which will also be postponed.

Every effort will be made to reschedule the events for another date.

The snow of the previous week also caused postponement of several games and matches.

Postponed also were the basketball game at Elk Garden for the Southern Rams on the 21st, the basketball game at Accident between Bishop Walsh of Cumberland and Northern Huskies; and the Southern wrestling match against Petersburg on the 20th, at Oakland.

Dana R. Liller Is Appointee To U.S. Naval Academy

Dana, son of Dr. and Mrs. Jack E. Liller, Dennett Road, Oakland, will be a member of the class of 1978 and will enter the Academy in July.

Dana is a senior student at Southern High School, Oakland, where he serves as treasurer of the Student Council, is a member of Quill and Scroll, International honorary society for high school journalists, member of the senior band and stage band, and is listed in "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

The Garrett County Court House experienced an unintentional blackout last Friday morning due to a high voltage power line break at Third and Oak streets in Oakland.

The Court House was without power for about a half an hour.

Other areas of town including the business area experienced only about a 10-minute cutoff.

The resulting blue flash of the breakage was quite brilliant.

New Member Of State Police

TOTAL NUMBER of Maryland State Police Troopers in the state was brought to 1,420 men following the addition of 67 men December 21 at Commencement exercises at Pikesville. Trooper Gary D. Resh, Grantsville, above right, receives congratulations from Lt. Col. Paul J. Randall on his completion of the 1,366-hour training course begun for the 67 recruits last July. Training included courses in traffic and criminal law enforcement, leadership development and practical training in operation of firearms, patrol vehicles, and criminal investigation. Phyysical fitness training included judo exercises, restraint techniques, and general physical development. Thomas H. State's Attorney Lists 64 Cases In Circuit Court

Total Down From '72; District Court Total Also Down

The annual report of States Attorney Fred A. Thayer shows still another decrease in criminal trial cases filed in Garrett County Circuit Court during the past year.

Sixty-four criminal trials were listed, down 21 from last year's total of 85. The average number of cases filed in the last ten years is now 49.

Drug cases and breaking and enterings topped the list, each with 16 cases. Larceny was next with 7; rape, 5; escape 4; alcoholic beverage violations, 3 and conspiracy, 3.

There was one case each of incest, forgery, auto larceny, robbery, receiving stolen goods, destruction of property, mental disorder, burglary, assault and battery, welfare fraud, and non-support.

Last year there were 12 larceny cases, two drug cases, and 11 breaking and entering cases.

A total of 329 criminal cases were filed in District Court during the year, down eight from 1972's total of 337. Of these 329, 169 were disposed by stet or nolle prosequi, reflecting an increase in the number of privately-obtained warrants. Of the 160 cases tried, 116 resulted in guilty verdicts; 36 in not guilty verdicts; one in disonssal, and 13 in "probation without verdict."

Assault and battery was far and away the most-listed crime, with 95 cases in District Court. Second most often-heard case was worthless checks. False pretense, with 59, followed by malicious destruction, 32, and disorderly conduct, intoxication and disturbing the peace, 30.

There were 16 trespass cases; 13 larceny counts, and ten non-support cases. Misuse of the telephone is the same as last year, with 8 cases listed.

Five cases were heard on failure to pay a bill, one for concealed and deadly weapon; one for failing to appear in Court; two for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle; two for tampering with an auto; three for shoplifting, three for welfare fraud; two for receiving stolen goods; four for violation of Health Dept. rules, and seven for breaking and entering.

According to Mr. Thayer's report:

"Successful law enforcement during the past year was the result of the combined efforts of the Maryland State Police and local police departments, the Sheriff's office and the State's Attorney's office. Combined efforts of the Maryland State Police and State's Attorney has resulted in a lengthy undercover investigation into drug use with the resultant number of cases reflected in the statistics.

No Holiday Greetings Solicited This Year

A shortage of newsprint over the past several months has required The Republican to curtail or eliminate many items and advertisements from our pages.

The holiday greetings, which normally appeared in the Christmas Edition were not solicited this year. Although many merchants and businessmen requested greetings, it was generally felt that the newsprint could best be used for regular news and advertising.

Although newsprint continues to be in short supply, new avenues for its procurement are being investigated.

Please Note

Due to the New Year's holiday next Tuesday, we must again request all advertisers to submit their advertisements by noon Monday, December 31, to insure appearance in Thursday's edition of The Republican.

All correspondents and others wishing to have items included in the paper should arrange to send their material in at least one day early, by Wednesday morning.

All cooperation is appreciated.

Happy New Year!

Family Homeless After Fire Near Shaw Saturday

A widow and her five children were left homeless Saturday afternoon after a fire destroyed their home at Netliken on W. Va. Route 46 between Elk Garden and Shaw.

The one-story frame structure of Mrs. Barbara Simmons and children, Danny, 18, Karen, 16, Jimmy, 14; Diane, 12, and Kevin, 6, was engulfed in flames by the time firemen arrived on the scene.

Firemen from Elk Garden took 12 men and three pieces of equipment, after the call at 1:25 p.m., while Kitzmiller Fire Department responded with eight men and two pieces of equipment.

Firemen were hampered by snow-covered roads in getting to the fire, which is believed to have been caused by faulty wiring. Rooms had been added to the structure at various times and it was thought likely that wiring was not updated to stand the added power demand.

A fund is being established by the Elk Garden Fire Department, in charge of Chief Dan Birdock. Donations may be given to him and others of help should be directed to his residence. The children escaped with only clothing they were wearing.

Mrs. Simmons is employed by Integrated Business Methods in Oakland, and was not at home at the time of the fire.

All of the five room structure, and all contents, including the children's Christmas gifts and clothing, were lost. All of the children attend Elk Garden schools, and are presently staying with relatives.

The Elk Garden fire company was recalled to the Simmons home about 5:15 p.m. when the fire erupted again, causing concern for a residence across the road.

Mathias Intends Restrict Donations

Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, Maryland Republican, has announced he will impose voluntary reforms on his reelection campaign, including a $100 limit on individual contributions.

Mathias said the plan is designed "to meet criticism raised by a public which has become distrustful of all politicians and is losing faith in our political system." The senator has sponsored unsuccessful election reform legislation this year.

Mathias said he would require all contributions and expenditures to be made by check in place of the common practice of dispensing cash for "walking around money" on election day; funnel all contributions through a single committee; report all contributions to state as well as federal authorities; restrict his primary expenditures to 10 cents for every person of voting age in the state; restrict general election expenditures to 15 cents per person of voting age in the state.

The spending restrictions would still allow the senator to spend over $525,000 in the primary and general election. He spent $442,700 in the 1968 campaign.

Bolden To Speak At Lake Business Meeting

Delegate DeCorsey Bolden will speak to members of the Deep Creek Lake Business Association at the next meeting of that group January 3 at 8 p.m. at the Village Inn.

Edgar Harman, head of the Garrett County office of Maryland Health Department, presented an illustrated talk before the Association December 12 at Village Inn.

Mr. Harman spoke on the history of conventional septic systems and the advent of the more efficient aerobic sewage treatment system now being tested in Garrett County, including sites in the Deep Creek Lake area.

Donald H. Carstens, president of the Business Association, informed the group that approximately 30 business firms are now members.

THE SPECIAL CHRISTMAS DINNER served to senior citizens at Crellin was well attended last Thursday. Turkey was the main menu item, surrounded by all the trimmings. Meals are served to the elderly county residents in three county locations, Kitzmiller, Jennings and Crellin, three days a week, Tuesday through Thursday. Such dinners also give older folks a chance to hold a social get-together following the meals, not to mention the opportunity to eat at least one hot meal a day. At Jennings, school children and Head Start pupils provided a Christmas program, while in Kitzmiller elementary children gave a special Nativity program. At Crellin, carol singing was featured.

Man Is Held On Breaking, Entering Charge

Raymond R. Spiker, 21 of Mt. Lake Park, is currently being held in the Allegany County jail in lieu of $25,000 bond on charges of breaking and entering and grand larceny in Garrett County.

Spiker was taken before District Court Judge Miller Bowen Monday, December 24, for a bond hearing, at which time the court announced that it would require the full amount of bond to be paid before Spiker's release.

Also at that time, Judge Bowen announced that eight charges of breaking and entering and eight charges of grand larceny were pending. The only charge mentioned in Court Monday was for breaking and entering and Grand Larceny at the Coca-Cola Bottling plant in Oakland in November.

Spiker is being represented by Cumberland attorney John F. Somerville, Jr.

Spiker was arrested by Maryland State Police in the Oakland area on Saturday, December 22. If found guilty on all counts, he could receive a jail sentence of as much as 236 years.

He is a veteran of the Vietnam war, returning to this area about a year and a half ago. His wife and son also reside here.

Three other young men are being sought in the same case.

Spiker was taken to the Allegany county jail because repairs are in process at the Garrett county jail, according to John Browning, sheriff.

1,200 Children Get Treats Saturday

Slightly frostbitten smiles decorated the faces of 1,200 youngsters Saturday afternoon after they received treats from the local Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce.

Temperatures only reached a high of 16 degrees Saturday, and a heavy snowfall helped keep down the number of children. Usual number is 1,500.

Santa Claus was aided in distributing the candies by ten members of local Boy Scout troops, and by three members of the Chamber committee in charge of this, the 24th annual event. Chamber helpers were Charles Briner, William Hesen and Pat Fischetti.

Eight members of the local National Guard unit gave assistance in several ways by bringing needed equipment down, setting up, helping distribute, cleaning up trash and returning the equipment.

A total of $825 was collected to buy treats this year.

Daylight Saving Time will go into effect 2 a.m. January 6.

Potomac Edison Take Over Electric Service Jan. 1st

On January 1 the Potomac Edison Company will take over the electric service in this area. Potomac Edison, with headquarters in Hagerstown, serves most of the Western Maryland and portions of Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Monongahela Power and Potomac Edison are two of the three operating companies of Allegany Power System. Since Monongahela operates primarily in West Virginia, this change is designed to create more efficient service boundaries by adding the Garrett county area to the major portion of Maryland already served by Potomac Edison. The change has been approved by the various state regulatory agencies.

There will be no change in the system of mailing electric bills. Rates at present will be the same, but Potomac Edison filed with the Maryland Public Service commission for higher rates.

Western division offices for the Oakland area are at 700 Fourth street, Cumberland. General offices, company headquarters, are located on Downsville Pike, Hagerstown.

Young Woman Hit By Bullet Monday

Mrs. Sonja D. Skipper, 18, of Foster Road, is in good condition at Garrett Co. Memorial Hospital where she was admitted early Monday morning suffering from a gunshot wound.

Mrs. Skipper was struck in the right thigh by a .22 handgun accidentally discharged by her husband, Glenn David Skipper.

Mr. Skipper reportedly had gone outside about 2:10 a.m. to check on livestock after hearing a noise, taking his gun with him.

He fell on the ice, discharging the weapon through the door where Mrs. Skipper was standing inside the house.

Mrs. Skipper was taken to the hospital by members of the Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad.

Man Receives WRA Pollution Stop Order

A total of 23 orders have been issued between November 29 and December 18 by the Water Resources Administration for corrective action to be taken under the agency's water pollution abatement program.

Under water provisions of the law, George Breman, of this county, was ordered to complete staged removal of dam (a fishyard; impounding water and to apply for a waterway permit.

Landfill Site Sought At Mine

A request to reclaim an abandoned strip mine by filling it with industrial waste was received yesterday by the Garrett County Commissioners.

The request was made by the Upper Potomac River Commission. No action was taken, however, with the commissioners deciding to table the matter for study.

The strip mine is located in Walnut Bottom atop Backbone mountain, and it was operated by the G & S Coal Company. The UPRC is proposing to deposit wood fiber waste material in the mine from the treatment plant at Westvaco's Luke paper mill.

Wayne B. Hamilton, president of the commissioners, said the river commission offered to assume bond for the mine reclamation to assure that the project would be completed. He said the commission indicated to the commissioners that the mine area would be large enough to handle about 10 years' deposit of the wood fiber waste.

The County Commissioners want to study the proposal since it would mark the first time that any agency other than the county operated a landfill project in the county.

The county presently is reclaiming a mine area by using it as a landfill and the county's first landfill under the Health Department's landfill site plan will open in the spring.

Hamilton said the county had turned down offers in the past for landfill projects. The most recent denial came last August when Montgomery county proposed a program for railshipping some of the domestic waste.

Garrett Receives Less Federal Monies In 1973

Garrett was one of five counties in Maryland to receive less federal monies in 1973 than in 1972, according to a report released by the Department of State Planning.

In 1972 Garrett received $32,392,085 compared to $18,912,931 in 1973.

Other counties receiving less were Allegany, Cecil, Howard and Washington. Montgomery County received the most with $1,829 billion.

Functions for which smaller sums were outland include education revenue sharing area and regional development, social and individual services and some natural resources programs, while federal agencies increasing their outlays included those by the Water Resources Commission, the agency for International Development and Office of Economic Development.

Increases were noted in the Small Business Administration, Environmental Protection Agency, the Justice Department and Department of Health, Education and Welfare, among others.

Third Storm Hits Area Friday

Route 40 Blocked, Other Roads 1-Way In Spots

The third storm in less than three weeks dumped about nine more inches of snow on the Mt. Top with winds whipping the snow into drifts, closing U. S. Route 40 for several hours Friday night between Frostburg and Grantsville. Other roads in the area were open to one-way traffic only in spots.

State Police at LaVale barracks and State Highway Administration spokesman said closures or partial blockage resulted from blowing snow causing drifting and poor visibility.

Police said a number of motorists were stranded and there were a number of accidents but no injuries were reported.

Some motorists did get through Route 40, both ways at times, by immediately following the snow plows.

State Route 495 was one-way at spots for a time late Friday and early Saturday, just north of Bittinger. U. S. Route 219 was one-way traffic for a time about a mile south of Gortner, also near Silver Knob road and about a mile south of Red House.

At the height of the storm the SHA had 51 men and 36 pieces of equipment working, including 8 pieces of hired equipment. About 23 pieces of equipment were doing clean-up work Sunday. The snow emergency was lifted around 2:30 p.m. Sunday. It went into effect at 5:05 p.m. Friday.

A snow blower broke down on State Route 495 west of Swanton Sunday afternoon on its way back from cleanup operations on the other end of Route 495. It blew a gasket.

School buses had some difficulty on county roads Friday returning the students home due to the snow covering the cinders originally applied. Some places were temporarily blocked due to shifting winds, until snow plows opened them, from Friday through Saturday. At the height of the storm the County Roads department had 87 men and 43 pieces of equipment at work according to Paul DeWitt, County Roads engineer.

New Policy On Use Student Vehicles In County Schools

As a result of the energy crisis, the Maryland State Board of Education resolved that the parents of students who drive to school be urged to instruct their children, where eligible, to use school busses for travel to and from school. In addition, the Board resolved that local school systems take steps to ban wherever possible the use of private automobiles by students to drive to and from school.

In accordance with this resolution, all vehicles driven to school by students in this county will be banned except (1) those students who work and need transportation, and (2) those students who are engaged in extra-curricular activities and need transportation to return home after the buses have made their evening run. It was announced by Board of Education officials. Students who may fall into either of these exceptional categories will be required to file a permit with the high school principal verifying such an exception. Permits are available from the high school principal's and are to be returned to the principal upon the reopening of schools in January, 1974, it was stated.

Wool Prices To Remain Unchanged

The incentive price of 72 cents a pound for marketings of shorn wool and a support of 802 cents a pound for mohair will continue unchanged in 1974 from 1973 levels, the U. S. Department of Agriculture announced.

These prices are in accordance with the National Wool Act, requiring that support shall be at the above levels for each of the marketing years beginning January 1, 1971 and ending December 31, 1977.

Pulled wool will continue to be supported at a level comparable to the incentive price for shorn wool through payments on unshorn lambs.

As in past years, shorn wool payments will be based on a percentage of each producer's returns from sales.

Lunar Phase

Tuesday, New Year's Day, the moon will once again be 90 degrees to the left of the sun as it passes through the First Quarter Phase.

Visible Planets

Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn are visible. Venus and Jupiter are close together among the stars of Capricornus. Mars is among the stars of Aries. It is high in the south sky at sunset. Saturn is at the feet of Gemini and is low in the east at sunset.

Comet Kohoutek

The comet passes the sun at the closest point on Friday. It will be 21 million kilometers (13 million miles) from the sun.

We will be able to see it very close to the horizon at sunset by Wednesday. The tail may be visible in the evening twilight on the western horizon a few days earlier.

Daylight Increases

Each day will contain a little more daylight than the previous one as the week passes.

File In January For Faster Refunds

The Internal Revenue Service announced that all taxpayers who file their tax returns in January should get their refunds in four to five weeks. After January, it may take six to eight weeks.

William D. Waters, IRS District Director for Maryland and District of Columbia, said that January filers gain about a two-week advantage over those who file later because the 10 IRS service centers can process returns and approve refunds much faster early in the filing season when workloads are not heavy.

"Taxpayers who file early avoid making the thoughtless errors that often occur in their rush to meet the April 15 deadline," said Mr. Waters. "Those who wait until the last few weeks to file often fail to read instructions carefully, neglect to sign the return, or forget to attach all schedules and W-2 forms. These mistakes can delay a refund for as long as four additional weeks."

State Workers May Get 6.8 Percent Pay Increase

The state can afford to grant state employees a 6.8 percent wage increase and boost welfare benefits by 13 percent without raising taxes according to Gov. Marvin Mandel's next budget.

The governor's task force last week recommended the pay boost for 60,000 state employees to cost $21.5 million.

The 6.8 percent increase equals the cost of living increase in the Baltimore metropolitan area for the 18 months ending this past June.

Mandel apparently will not include two other task force recommendations in his budget proposal. These were annual cost of living increases for state workers and for the state to pay a larger share of health insurance for state workers.

State employes last received a pay raise in 1972 which cost $21.3 million. They also received an $18 millinn increase in pension and retirement benefits.

Bill To Add Cumberland To C & O Park Introduced

A bill to extend the C & O Canal National Historical Park from North Branch into Cumberland was introduced last week by Senators J. Glenn Beall, Jr., and Charles McC. Mathias, Jr., Maryland.

The legislation also authorizes the Department of Interior to establish, operate and maintain a visitors center located at or near the western terminus of the canal.

Cumberland was the historical terminus of the 185-mile 19th century waterway. The extension from North Branch to Cumberland would add the final eight miles not now in the canal park.

Comet Kohoutek has twice as long a tail as predicted.

RANDY RAHM

We're proud to announce the recent promotion of Randy Rahm to front end manager of our Oakland store. Randy has been employed by our company for two years. His first duties were in the front end department and later he was promoted to the night stocking crew. In March of 1973 Randy accepted the challenge of managing the night crew in our new store in Elkins, W. Va. His dedicated service in that position was helpful in making our Elkins opening a complete success.

Some of Randy's duties include supervision and scheduling of over forty employees. He also makes sure that customers' orders are correctly handled. In order to do this he keeps a constant eye on the front end and holds periodic meetings with his employees. They work closely together finding new and better ways to serve the customer.

Randy is the type of person who is easy to get to know. His outstanding personality has gained many friendships. Another asset of Randy's is his appearance. he's one of the style setters around the store.

Randy is one of our company's most eligible bachelors. His spare time is divided between hunting, fishing and girls. He seems to be quite successful at all. He resides on Alder St. with Mrs. Cheston Browning, Sr., one of the founders of our company. He helps Mrs. Browning by running errands and keeping plenty of coal on the fire. We hope you'll soon stop in to Foodland and get acquainted with Randy — our front end manager.

A June wedding is being planned.

Earlier Storm Responsible For Series Of Wrecks

The snowstorm of earlier last week was responsible for a series of accidents around the county. Personal injuries were few and minor.

Thelma E. Dyer, a passenger in the car driven by Robert C. Dyer, Sr., both of Cumberland, was slightly injured in a two-car accident the afternoon of December 15, as they were headed east on Route 40 in Grantsville. Phillip A. Dice, RD 1, Mellenry, headed west on Route 40, attempted to make a right turn onto State Route 495 and hit the front of the Dyer car.

The Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad responded to a call following an accident on Route 40 the evening of December 15 but Kenneth J. Zimmerman, operator of the car, was apparently not injured. His car slid on an icy spot, went out of control and hit a guard rail on the north shoulder. He was charged on two counts: operating while license is suspended, cancelled or revoked and failing to display registration plates.

Thomas P. Smith, Cumberland, traveling south on the State Park road the morning of December 16 noticed Michael T. Grither, LaVale, approaching in a skid. Smith pulled to a right hand ditch and stopped but Grither skidded into the left front of the Smith car.

Norma Jean Dilgard, RD 2, Oakland, was traveling north on State Route 560 near the Bethlehem road the afternoon of December 16 and hit an icy spot in the road. The car ran off the right side of the road, struck an embankment, recrossed to the other side of the road and turned over.

Cynthia Sue Grady, Osceola, Iowa, had stopped suddenly for an unidentified vehicle in front of her on Route 40 east of the Green Lantern road the evening of December 17. Richard J. Harvey, of Frostburg, following could not stop and hit the Grady car. The original stoppage was due to blinding snow blowing across the road.

Harold A. Bland was driving a Garrett County truck plowing snow eastward on the Sang Run road the afternoon of December 18. Eugene N. Kiral, of Morgantown, W. Va., in a pick-up applied his brakes when he saw the snowplow but they locked and he skidded into it.

State Police investigated these accidents.

Storm Causes Rash Of Accidents

Last Friday's snow storm was the apparent cause of a rash of motor vehicle accidents. Blinding snow and slippery spots seemed to be the main reasons. There were a few minor injuries but apparently none serious.

James Allen Oester, RD 1, of Grantsville, was slightly injured on the Accident-Bittinger road last Friday afternoon when his pick-up slid on the snowy road and struck a Strochman Bros. truck while both were rounding a curve.

William S. Stoyer, Perry, O., was slightly injured when his car slid off State Route 560, and hit some guard rails near the White Church road late Friday evening.

Donald E. Bridges and his passenger, Anna Mae Bridges, both of Corriganville, were slightly injured when their car and a pick-up of Robert J. Mecure, Grafton, W. Va., collided on U. S. 40 just west of Green Lantern road. Visibility was zero due to wind-blown snow.

Several other 'fender-binders' occurred during the storm.

The car driven by Richard W. Dodgt, Crook Street, Oakland, skidded on Anderson Street into the parked car of John C. Bittinger when he tried to avoid a car driven by James R. Ford which had just pulled from Second Street in Loch Lynn Sunday morning.

Robert Lee Merrill, Fairmont, W. Va., traveling east on Route 40 just east of Keyser Ridge early Saturday morning, collided with the small truck of Arden Dale Snyder of Lt. Mead, due to blinding snow.

Thomas E. Baumgartner, of Bethel Park, Pa., driving west on Route 40 just east of Green Lantern road Friday morning was unable to see the stopped car of Cecil D. Earwodd, Winchester, Va., headed east, due to zero visibility from gusting snow and collided with it.

David E. Throop, of Silver Spring, in a pick-up was traveling east on Route 40, also near Green Lantern road, 1 a.m. Sunday. His truck hit a patch of snow blown on the road which pulled it into a snowbank and fence and then turned it on its side.

Harry B. Buckley, Second st., Oakland, was traveling east on State Route 135 about a mile west of Savage River road last Friday morning at about 30 m.p.h. on the icy road. The car slid on the ice, crossed the road and turned on its side.

All accidents were investigated by various members of the Maryland State Police. Some operators were charged on various counts.

The complete story of the approaching wedding may be found on page seven of today's issue.

CRELLIN

Mrs. Burton Ashby read the scripture, which was followed by a prayer by Mrs. Anna Upole. Several poems were read in keeping with Christmas. Secret sisters were revealed and gifts were exchanged, and new names were drawn for the year of 1974. Present were Marie Hinebaugh, Mary Teets, Anna Upole, Kathleen Ashby, Ada Shaffer, Ruby Hebb, Gertrude Kitzmiller, and Beatrice Holler.

Third Storm

Mr. DeWitt added that yesterday, the department was busy replenishing their supply of salt and cinders.

At times last Friday, motorists heading for Western Maryland were being turned back as far east as Frederick because of hazardous conditions.

The winds late last Friday kicked up velocities of 35 miles per hour with temperatures in the teens

The snowstorm followed a wet, rainy day Thursday as a cold front moved in dropping the mercury to below the freezing mark.

Friday morning the snow had begun to fall in earnest and continued throughout the day with the wind picking up in the afternoon causing the drifting and poor visibility. Temperatures had dropped Friday night to and remained in, the 10 to 20 degree range into Sunday morning. Clouds parted for a while Saturday afternoon and there was a little sunshine. Skies had then became cloudy with 88 inches of rain falling yesterday, washing away most of the snow. During that time the mercury rose above freezing, getting up into the 50's last night. The clouds began to break about sunset yesterday with skies partly clear into this morning.

Snowfall so far this month has totaled 23.1 inches or about 10 inches above the normal.

Winter officially began last Friday at 7:08 p.m. The days will now begin to get longer.

into Garrett.

Under Montgomery's proposal, the domestic waste would have been heavily compressed into large cubes and then put on a train for delivery here

Mr. Hamilton said the commissioners turned down the proposal because the cubes in time would have generated methane gas which would have been explosive.

Another landfill is operated jointly by Garrett, Allegany and Mineral counties in the Bloomington area.

Mr. Hamilton said the approval for the UPRC request from the county commissioners would be needed before the Health Department would issue a permit for the project. Should the request be approved the county would levy a charge against the UPRC, Hamilton said.

State's Attorney

ination of game violations resulted in a tri-department effort during deer season with the Sheriff's office, Department of Natural Resources and Maryland State Police combined with efforts of Assistant State's Attorney, Ralph M. Burnett, in the enforcement of game laws resulted in a substantial increase in game law violation cases, which statistics are not reflected above.

"My membership in the Maryland State's Attorneys' Association Board of Directors and as Secretary of the group have kept this department current with statewide functions and the able assistance of Mr. Burnett has permitted the department to operate efficiently at the local level."

Man Fined $200 For Fleeing A Police Officer

A $200 fine was levied on a man for fleeing or attempting to elude a police officer at a trial in District Court last week by Judge Lewis R. Jones.

Lakers Win In Kiwanis Tourney

John Faszka hit on his first seven shots of the second half to bring Garrett Community college back from a seven point halftime deficit as the Lakers clobbered Cecil C. C. 77 to 60 last Saturday night for the championship of the Kiwanis invitational tournament at Elkton

For leading the second half comeback in which the Lakers outscored Cecil 52 to 28 the 6-4 freshman was named the tourney's most valuable player, winding up with 23 points.

Cecil, which had lost to Garrett 63-52 earlier in the season, stymied the Lakers in the first half with stall-ball tactics in building up the 32-25 lead at intermission.

But Laker coach Dennis Fearnow employed an attack and press defense at the start of the second half to force numerous turnovers.

The Lakers gained the finals with a 90-66 walloping of St. Mary's Friday. Garrett shot 58 percent from the floor, hitting on 31 of 58 attempts

Tom Bosley, sophomore of the Lakers, matched his Friday performance with a dozen assists in racking up 24 for the two tournament games.

Steve VanAusdale added 16 for the Lakers with Dennis Gibson getting 14. Slifko got 5, Curtis 3, Hall 6 and Davis 2 to complete the Laker scoring.

Cecil's high scorer was held to 16 points, and Terry Waytko led the losers with 20. Steve Harrington had 12

The victory upped the Lakers' record 6-2. Garrett is idle until January 5 when they will host Montgomery.

Moyer Explains Assessment Hike

A detailed explanation of the reassessment increases in the county was made during the week by Jerome Moyer, supervisor of assessments for this county, pointing out why some 10,000 property owners had received new figures.

The notices had been sent over a period of months and not in one lump mailing, as was the case in Allegany county.

Mr. Moyer said all of Maryland's subdivisions had received pressure to bring assessments up closer to the 60 percent level which the state wants to enforce.

For years assessments in this county have been lower than what the state wanted, he said. As a result the county nearly found itself losing about $111,000 of public school money several years ago. A check by state auditors at that time found that the county's assessments were too low. The state then threatened to cut off some of the money parceled off to the county for its school program, unless assessments were brought in line.

County officials succeeded in getting a two-year freeze on the fund cutoff, and subsequently the assessors made sure to bring assessments more in line with what the state wanted.

He said assessments in the county at the time were running about 10 to 15 percent of full property value before the state acted. Even today, he admitted, the 60 percent level has still not quite been attained.

This year's reassessments in the county which began last March and April, mainly affected the northern section of the county, from Finzel to Grantsville. In that section, Mr. Moyer said, no physical review of property had been done for some time, largely because of an inadequate staff size at the assessment office.

Besides mailing out notices piecemeal the office also took pains to forewarn farmers what their new assessments might be. The county assessors met with the Farm Bureau and discussed various factors such as soil types and terrain.

Mr. Moyer cited inflation for much of the spiraling assessments and also cited the increased development around Deep Creek Lake and a better industrial picture with the addition of the Bausch and Lomb company. He noted that a two-story frame house in Oakland may have sold for $9,650 four or five years ago, but today it would be as much as $11,000 or $12,000.

A number of appeals in this county have been heard already by the newly created Tax Assessment Board which replaced the county commissioners in hearing protests over assessments.

Mr. Moyer said the tax appeal board members are paid $60 for a day's work. That may change, however. The state is moving to mandate that the board hear a maximum of four to six hearings a day to collect the full $60, and the state also is eyeing ways of handling over more work to the board. Besides conducting appeals the board now also signs abatements

Wayne Wilt Is League Speaker

Wayne Wilt, Juvenile Counselor for the Garrett County Department of Juvenile Services, was the speaker at the December Unit Meetings of the League of Women Voters. The subject was Corrections: Juveniles.

One of the points noted was that while, in the state of Maryland, 4% of the children released from institutions return to the same, in Garrett County only 5% of Juvenile offenders are repeaters.

It was also pointed out that a new law on Juvenile Delinquency goes into effect on Jan. 1. This law says that after 1969 all juvenile offenders will not be considered delinquents — some may be listed as Children In Need of Supervision. If the juvenile offense is not also an adult offense — such as having liquor in possession, the child will be considered in need of supervision rather than a delinquent. This law goes into effect legally on Jan. 1, but Garrett County has already made a start on this program. To date there are 3 foster homes for these children and more are being sought.

Lucile Grant and Mary Stover were the League members in charge of the program.

When You're Done, Stack Her With the Rest

Here is another illustrated cover story from your local news stand. The protests of many concerned citizens have not been heeded.

Last June, the Supreme Court gave us the weapon we need to remove obscenity from our news stand, so now we, the people of Oakland, "can make and enforce laws against pornography that will be interpreted in the light of the moral standards of our own community." (Reader's Digest, January 1974, Green Light to Combat Smut).

"Works may be banned if taken as a whole they appeal to the prurient [lustful] interest in sex" if "they do not have serious literary, artistic, political or scientific value;" if, to the local community, they "portray sexual conduct in a patently offensive way."

A committee is now being formed to determine which publications meet these qualifications. If you are interested in being a member, call 334-9337. Further information will be on WFRB 560 AM and 103.5 FM at 12:15 Sunday.

Wants Tax Assessments Frozen Until Dec. 1975

A House of Delegates member from Prince George's county, Charles Blumenthal, recently called on members of the general assembly to join him in passing legislation to freeze property tax assessments until December 31 1975. In a written appeal to the 141 other delegates Blumenthal pointed out that he would pre-file a bill which would prohibit the piling on of increased taxes on overburdened home owners through the "subterfuge of increased assessments or an out and out property tax increase."

"Under terms of the bill, if local authorities want to spend more money they will have to go to the taxpayers to ask for a rate increase, open and above board, instead of hiding behind misleading statements to conceal high spending programs," the delegate concluded.

New Year's Events Set At Deer Park

Starting Saturday at 7:30 p.m. a team from the Teen Challenge Farm at Rebrersburg, Pa. will be present to show their latest film "The Road to Armageddon" featuring David Wilkerson, author of the best selling book, "The Cross and the Switchblade."

Rev. Ken Kashner, a staff member of Teen Challenge, will be ministering Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service. Rev. W. H. Leaker pastor will speak at the 7:00 p.m. Sunday service.

Monday evening, Watchnight service will begin a 8 o'clock. A Christian film entitled "Question 7" will be shown during the evening. This 107 minute film has been rated as one of the best Christian films of all times and has won 22 International awards. The public is invited.

Examination Set For Licensed Tree Experts

An examination for Licensed Tree Experts will be held at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, January 9 by the Forest Service of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources at its offices here.

A $15 examination fee should accompany the application form which can be obtained from the Service, Taxes State Office Building, B-2 Annapolis. Those who have previously taken the examination pay a $5 fee for re-examination.

According to A. R. Bond, Forest Service Director, the licensing procedure assures better care of trees and shrubs for Maryland property owners "who recognize the environmental value of these natural resources."

Warner Clothing Now The Vogue At Garrett College

GCC students, faculty and staff at McHenry, now wear more and warmer clothing, according to an announcement by Dr. Luther Shaw, President. GCC has lowered temperatures to 68 degrees or lower in all classrooms and offices, and revised other activities and procedures to cope with fuel shortages. Dr. Shaw further stated that during the holidays and between semester "break" the Learning Center will be closed down at minimum temperatures, requiring that faculty, as well as staff, office work be performed in the administration building.

Fall semester final exam schedule was compressed within a shorter time period so that could be curtailed at the earliest practicable date. The scheduling and use of college vehicles has been revised so that business visitations to out-of-county agencies will be limited to those absolutely essential and take place, Dr. Shaw said. Where feasible, telephone and correspondence communications will be used in place of off-campus face-to-face meetings, he added. Approximately half of the outdoor lights are not used. Other save-fuel measures are also being considered providing they do not impair the efficiency of college operation, he concluded.

LIVING WATER

Lesson for December 30, 1973

Background Scripture: John 4:1-42.

The encounter between Jesus and the woman of Samaria at Jacob's well ought never to have taken place — according to the customs of that day!

For one thing, Jesus was breaking customary practice by even being in Samaria. The Jews and the Samaritans were neighbors who "did not speak." Their mutual distrust and enmity had existed for many centuries and seemed likely to continue indefinitely without any change. The Jews so despised the Samaritans that, on a journey to Jerusalem, instead of taking the direct route through Samaria, they took a detour through the Jordan Valley.

Rev. Althouse

How is it...?

Furthermore, it was not customary for a man and woman to address each other in a public place. Although this may seem to us a strange custom today, it was strictly observed in Jesus' time. Yet, apparently, Jesus believed there was something more important than observing this time-honored custom.

As the conversation progressed, it became evident that Jesus had broken an even more important custom: he was speaking to a woman who was acknowledged as a sinner in her own town, for she had had five husbands and was now living with a man out of wedlock. A pious Jew would, under no circumstances, allow himself to have anything at all to do with a woman like this.

Thus, we can understand her surprise when, receiving his simple request for some well water, she replies: "How is it that you, a Jew, ask a drink of me, a woman of Samaria?" (4:9). The woman knew that Jesus had crossed some significant barriers to make of her his simple but startling request.

"If you knew the gift of God . . ."

Then, this surprising man gave her an even more surprising answer: "If you knew the gift of God, and who it is that is saying to you, 'Give me a drink,' you would have asked him, and he would have given you living water" (4:10).

The reply is open to two interpretations by the woman: (1) Jesus has fresh running water even better than the well water, or (2) he is offering her spiritual refreshment. Her reply is cautious: "Sir, you have nothing to draw with, and the well is deep; where do you get that living water?" (4:11). One gets the impression that she may only be pretending not to understand the meaning of his words. Perhaps she is stalling for time.

The woman at the well is like many of us today: we are cautious in responding to Christ's invitations and challenges. In order that we may not make any mistakes, we are hesitant to commit ourselves. Spiritual refreshment is often so close at hand, but we deliberate while we ought to be accepting what Christ can give us. Thus, many of us miss the "living water" of eternal life through Jesus Christ.

When he stops being cute

Sunday John 1:1-14	Monday Matthew 1:18-25	Tuesday Luke 2:1-7
Wednesday Luke 2:8-20	Thursday Matthew 2:1-12
Friday Matthew 2:13-23	Saturday Hosea 14:1-9

This is his very first New Year. He's celebrating it in his own talented fashion, just being cute.

Last year thousands of boys and girls were arrested. They had all been cute—once!

But did they have the priceless example of active Christian parents? Were they given moral and spiritual training in the Church? Did they grow up in a Christian atmosphere?

This young fellow can't be absolutely sure that the New Year is worth celebrating. His future is in the hands of his parents. But he's smiling because of his confidence in them.

During this New Year their faith in God, and the sincerity of their relationship with the Church will begin to determine just what their son is going to be when he stops being cute.

Wants Old Postmarks

A collector in Maryland is endeavoring to perform a public service with his hobby. He collects entire envelopes or postcards with Maryland small town postmarks. When the collection of postmarks for towns in this county is reasonably complete he plans to mount them in an album and donate it to the county's Historical Society for display and archives.

Any person having any, or knowing of anyone who may have any old entire envelopes and postcards (no cutouts) with postmarks of small Maryland towns contact Win Hurley, 709 Murdock Road, Baltimore, 21212. He will buy them or trade something for them.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:

Just a few lines to say how much I appreciate the articles by Andy Coshy. In a time when so many of our youth have been taken over by the evil influences of our day. Here is a young man that not only stands for something but, at his own expense, is trying to awaken others to one of the most evil influences of our time - - PORNOGRAPHY.

May the decent people of our community arise as one to support his efforts and drive the merchants of filth back into the rat holes from which they came.

Sincerely,
